PREFACE.

I am always glad of the opportunity which this annual Preface gives me to express my sense of obligation to those who have so kindly enabled me to preserve the twofold character of THE GENEALOGIST. The ably written articles by Mr. Cokayne, the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher, Mr. Keith W. Murray, Mr. Renshaw, K.C., Mrs. Suckling, and Colonel Welby, together with Mr. Henry Wagner's always welcome Huguenot pedigrees, illustrate what may be termed the literary side of our work, while the transcript of the Marriages at Fort St. George, which has in this volume been brought to a satisfactory conclusion, may be taken as a good example of our labours in printing records of genealogical interest which cannot easily find an appropriate home elsewhere. A new departure has been taken in the publication of Mr. Gerald Fothergill's "Licences to pass from England beyond the Seas," and it is hoped that these will prove a special attraction to our American subscribers. I am glad also to be able to announce that in the next volume of the Magazine will be commenced a transcript by the Rev. Edmund Nevill of the "Marriage Licences of Salisbury," which are all the more valuable as they relate to more than one county. At the request of several subscribers, it has been

I am always glad of the opportunity which this annual Preface gives me to express my sense of obligation to those who have so kindly enabled me to preserve the twofold character of THE GENEALOGIST. The able written articles by Mr. Colquhoun, the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher, Mr. Keith W. Murray, Mr. Henshaw, K.C., Mrs. Bucking, and Colonel Welby, together with Mr. Henry Wagner's always welcome Hugenot pedigrees, illustrate what may be termed the literary side of our work, while the transcript of the Manuscripts at Fort St. George, which has in this volume been brought to a satisfactory conclusion, may be taken as a good example of our labours in printing records of genealogical interest which cannot easily find an appropriate home elsewhere. A new departure has been taken in the publication of Mr. Gerald Rothert's "Licences to pass from England beyond the Seas", and it is hoped that these will prove a special attraction to our American subscribers. I am glad also to be able to announce that in the next volume of the Magazine will be commenced a transcript by the Rev. Edmund Nevill of the "Manuscript Licences of Salisbury", which are all the more valuable as they relate to more than one country. At the request of several subscribers it has been decided shortly to resume the publication of the "Inquisitions Post Mortem, Henry VIII—Charles I," which have for unavoidable reasons, been for some time suspended.

Our frontispiece this year is a charter by Theobald de Verdon, Constable of Ireland, now in the possession of His Grace the Duke of Norfolk, by whose kind permission it has been reproduced. Theobald de Verdon, the grantor, was the third, but the eldest son that left issue, of John de Verdon, by Margery daughter of Gilbert de Lacy (see Mr. G. W. Watson's learned paper on "The Families of Lacy, Geneva, Joinville and La Marche," GENEALOGIST, New Series, vol. xxi, pp. 2, 3). By this charter he conveyed to his son Theobald and the heirs of his body, for their homage, the manors of Stoke and Wyuelesford (Wilsford), co. Wilts, to be held of the grantor and his heirs by the service of one-fourth of a knight's fee.

The Genealogist.

THE BYNES OF ROWDELL IN WASHINGTON, CO. SUSSEX.

The house and estate of Rowdell are situate in the parish of Washington, co. Sussex, the house lying some little distance to the west of the Church. The family of Bynde or Byne was connected with this property for many generations. About 1225 Wilkelin de Byne, son of James de Byne, with the consent of his mother Matilda, granted certain lands at Strete, in Shipley, co. Sussex, forming part of the dower of Matilda, to his sister Amy, in consideration of which, Matilda released to Wilkelin the whole court of Rudelle, which she held in dower, except the granary on the north side with free access thereto.¹ From the record of two fines levied 25 Henry III (1241) it appears that William de Bine was then entitled, subject to the estate in dower of his mother Matilda in one-third thereof, to lands in Ruedell and elsewhere.² In the documents connected with the dispute as to titles between the Prior of Sele and the Abbey of Fécamp in 1285, mention is made of the demesne lands of James de Byne at Roudelle.³ Although many references to members of the family occur in various records of later date, shewing their holdings of land in Washington and its neighbourhood, no further express mention of Rowdell itself has been found till temp. Henry VIII.

THOMAS BYNDE, OR BYNE, by his will "geven at Rowdell the xii day of July in y^e vi yere of y^e reigne of Kyng Henry y^e viiith" (1514), and proved by his widow and executrix Joan, in the Consistory Court of Chichester, 15 September, 1519 (vols. i, fol. 9 and ii, fol. 4), among other dispositions thus devised "I wyll that the rent issues and profittes of my place and landes called Rowdell be taken and resyved by the space of vij yere nex after my dethe and that my executrice shal resyve y^e to pay my dettys and fynd a prieste one yere and then all the same landes to returne to my son Wylliam and the heys of hys body Provyded all weye and also I wyll y^e Jone my wyff hau y^e said landes and tenementes called Rowdell duryng hyr life so y^e she and other persons seased to hyr use release and geve as moche landes in value as Rowdell vs now being parcell of hyr joyntur unto Wylliam my son and to hys heys of hys body." Besides his son William, who was stated to be under age, the testator named in his will his daughters Elizabeth and Mary, the latter of whom appears from the will of her brother, William, to have been married to one Williams. From the arms carved on the monument to John Byne (A) hereinafter mentioned it seems that Joan, the wife of Thomas Byne, was a Threle, of Loxwood.

WILLIAM BYNE, who was of Rowdell and Ardingly, co. Sussex, married with Alice, third daughter of Richard Culpeper of Wakehurst, in Ardingly, by Joan, daughter of Richard Naylor, Alderman of London, and Elizabeth, his wife. William Byne, in his will, dated 8 October 1558 and proved 25 February 1559 by his widow and executrix Alice Byne, in P.C.C. (45 Welles), in which he is described as of "Erduyngleigh," esquire, named his four daughters, Katharine, Emme, Cecyle, and Marye, and his younger sons, Edward, Thomas, and James, and thereby as concerning all his manors and lands "in the Shire of Sussex that I may lawfully wyll, I wyll that Alice Byne my wyf (whom I make myn executrix to execute thys my testamente) receive the revenues and then to be to my eldeste sonne accordyng to the ryghte coorse of inheritance hys mothers joynture excepted and my coopehold lands which I cannot bequethe." The widow, Alice Byne, by her nuncupative will, dated 5 June 1578, in which she is described as of Washington, gave her lease in lands called Monthes to her youngest son James Byne, and legacies to her daughters, "Emme and Sicilye," and appointed her eldest son John Byne executor, who proved such will 22 June 1578, in the Consistory Court of Chichester (vol. xii, fol. 47).

The children of William Byne were four sons and four daughters :—

- I. JOHN BYNE (A), of whom subsequently.
- II. EDWARD BYNE, who died a bachelor and was buried at Camberwell, 4 January, 1597.
- III. THOMAS BYNE, who died a bachelor and was buried at Camberwell, 29 October 1613, having by his will, dated 1 February 1600, in which he is described as of Camberwell, gent., directed that he should be buried in the chancel of the Church there, near to his sister, the Lady Bowyer, and made bequests to Sir John Byne and his children, to his nieces, Mrs. Harden, the Lady Albenye, and the Lady Congquest,⁴ to his cousin, Catherine Byne, her sister and her brother,⁵ and to his nephews William Byne, James Byne and Edward Byne,⁶ and bequeathed the rest of his goods at London and Camberwell to his brother James Byne, and his sister, Emme Bowyer, whom he appointed executors, and who proved the will 9 November 1613 in P.C.C. (105 Capell).
- IV. JAMES BYNE married 21 February 1580 at Camberwell, with Sanctia, or Sence, daughter of John Fromonde, of Carshalton. She was baptized at Carshalton, 16 January 1567, and through her, as one of the three sisters and coheiresses of John Fromonde of Carshalton, who was buried there 12 April 1597, James Byne became entitled to the inappropriate rectory and an estate at Carshalton. James Byne was buried there 5 January 1623, and his widow, Sence, was buried there, 2 Oct. 1629. Their children were:—

- (1). Katharine, married at Carshalton, 27 Nov. 1610, to Robert Raunce, of Wycombe, co. Bucks, and buried at Carshalton, 30 May 1623, leaving issue.
- (2). Emma, baptized at Camberwell, 21 January 1593, who died early a spinster.
- (3). EDMUND BYNE, baptized at Carshalton, 22 January 1597, and buried there, 21 March 1598.
- (4). Elizabeth, baptized at Carshalton, 17 June 1602, and married to Thomas Thompson of Streatham, Rouge Dragon Pursuivant of Arms, by whom she had issue.
- (5). HENRY BYNE, baptized at Carshalton, 15 February 1603, who married with Anne, daughter of Owen Bray, of Chobham, and was buried at Carshalton, 23 September 1654, leaving a will dated 19 September and proved 10 November 1654 (P.C.C. 226 Alehin). Henry Byne had fourteen children, and his descendants remained in possession of the Carshalton property until early in the nineteenth century. They are now represented by the Rev. Mordaunt Henry Martin Byne, clerk, M.A., of Satterleigh, co. Devon, who was born 20 September 1862, and married, 29 April 1903, with Constance Balfour Bethune.

V. Katharine was married at Camberwell, 25 May 1573, to Edmond Bowyer, of Camberwell, who was Sheriff of Surrey and Sussex, 24 Nov. 1600 to 2 December 1601, M.P. for Surrey 1603, and was knighted 11 May 1603. She died without issue and was buried at Camberwell, 12 July 1609. Sir Edmond Bowyer died 18 February 1627.

VI. Emme was married twice, first at Camberwell, 17 May 1580, to Edward Snow, of Alfarthing Manor in Wandsworth, and Checksands, co. Beds., who died in 1587, and secondly, also at Camberwell, 2 July 1588, to John Bowyer, of Camberwell, where she was buried 26 December 1624.

VII. Cicely, who died a spinster and was buried at Washington, 27 September 1590.

VIII. Mary, who apparently predeceased her mother.

and through her, as one of the three sisters and co-heiresses of John Remondé of Charleston, who was buried there 12 April 1587. James Ryan became entitled to the inheritance and an estate in Charleston. James Ryan was buried there 2 January 1827, and his widow, Anne, was buried there 2 Oct. 1839. Their children were:—

(1) Katherine, married at Cambridge 27 Nov. 1810 to Robert Haines of Weymouth, co. Dorset, having issue, buried at Charleston, 30 May 1827, leaving issue.

(2) Anne, baptised at Cambridge 21 January 1587, who died early a spinster.

(3) Edmund Ryan, baptised at Charleston, 22 January 1587, and buried there, 21 March 1597.

(4) Katherine, baptised at Charleston, 17 June 1602, and married to Thomas Thompson of Charleston, leaving issue, buried at Charleston, 17 June 1602, and had issue.

(5) Henry Ryan, baptised at Charleston, 16 February 1602, who married with Anne, daughter of Owen Ryan of Charleston, and was buried at Charleston, 23 September 1654, leaving a will dated 19 September and proved 10 November 1654 (P.C.C. 229). Henry Ryan had fourteen children, and his descendants remained in possession of the Charleston property until early in the nineteenth century. They are now represented by the Rev. Norman Henry Martin Ryan, clerk, M.A., of Rastebury, co. Devon, who was born 20 September 1863, and married, 28 April 1903, with Constance Bellon Bellon.

VI. Katherine was married at Cambridge, 25 May 1673 to Edmund Bowyer of Cambridge, who was Sheriff of Surrey and Essex, 21 Nov. 1690 to 2 December 1801, M.A. for Surrey 1693, and was knighted 11 May 1693. She died without issue and was buried at Cambridge, 12 July 1693. Sir Edmund Bowyer died 18 February 1627.

VII. Anne was married twice first at Cambridge, 17 May 1580 to Edward Knowlton of Alfordham Manor in Wiltshire, and secondly, who died in 1587, and secondly, also at Cambridge, 2 July 1588, to John Bowyer of Cambridge, where she was buried 25 December 1627.

VIII. Anne, who died a spinster and was buried at Washington, 27 September 1590.

VIII. Mary, who apparently predeceased her mother.

JOHN BYNE (A) was of Rowdell and was born 1537. He married 25 May 1573 at Camberwell with Elizabeth, born 10 June 1553, daughter of John Bowyer, of Lincoln's Inn and Camberwell, by his second wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Robert Draper, of Camberwell. He was buried at Washington, 24 July 1600. A monument to his memory was erected against the south wall of the chancel of Washington church, but it has now been relegated to an obscure situation under the tower. It bears this inscription: "Hic jacet corpus Johannis Byne armig: qui uxorem duxit Elizabetham Bowyer filiam Johannis Bowyer de Camerwell armig: et suscepit ex eâ filios quinque filiasque duas et obiit vicesimo primo die Julii 1600 anno ætatis suæ 63," and also four shields of arms. In the centre over the entablature are the Arms of Byne:—Argent two bars Gules, each charged with three martlets Or—and in a row below them are firstly, Byne, impaling Paly of ten for Threele; secondly, Byne, impaling a bend engrailed Gules for Culpeper; and thirdly the arms of Bowyer, impaling those of Draper. No will of or letters of administration to John Byne (A) can be discovered, but his Inq. post mortem was taken at Horsham, 16 December 1600, and thereby it was found that he was seised of the manors of Byne and Coodham, alias Storrington, and of one capital messuage, one windmill, one dovehouse and 120 acres of land in Washington, and so seised died 22 (sic) July 1600, and that John Byne, gentleman, was his son and heir, and at the time of his father's death was aged 23 years and was married.⁷ In 1604 on the 24th of some month, being, or later than, June, but which is blank in the Register, his widow, Elizabeth, was re-married at Pulborough to Richard Stanley, of Fittleworth, who died 24 February 1623. She left a nuncupative will, dated 28 April 1629, and administration of her effects, with such will annexed, was 6 February 1633 granted to her stepson, John Stanley, out of the Consistory Court of Chichester (vol. xvii, fol. 247).

The children⁸ of John Byne (A) were:—

- I. SIR JOHN BYNE, of whom subsequently.
- II. WILLIAM BYNE, who died a bachelor and was buried at Camberwell, 30 July 1625.
- III. JAMES BYNE, who, 24 April 1622, married at Camberwell with Elizabeth Temple, gentlewoman.
- IV. EDWARD BYNE, who, 2 May 1618, married at St. Dunstan's, Stepney, with Joyce, daughter of one Edney, of London, and widow successively of one Mayhew, of John Cownden, of Southwark, and of Benjamin Bowyer.⁹ Edward Byne died before February 1623, and Joyce, his widow, died in 1643, having by her will, dated 17 May 1643, and proved at Oxford, 14 August 1643 by the executor, Richard Kilvert

(P.C.C., filed, not registered), in which she is described as of St. Martin's in the Fields, widow, disposed of property in the parish of Newington, co. Surrey, in favour of her son, Edward Byne, and of property in Southwark in favour of her son, John Byne. Edward Byne had two children:—

(1). EDWARD BYNE, baptized at Washington, 8 October 1618, who appears to be the Edward Bine buried at St. Alban's Abbey, 17 October 1664, and

(2). JOHN BYNE (B), who by his will, dated 15 May 1689, directed his body to be buried in the church of St. Magnus, by London Bridge, and among numerous bequests gave three score pounds, to buy two silver flagons to be used at the Communion in the church of Camberwell, and appointed Richard Parr, D.D., vicar of Camberwell, and his kinsman, Anthony Bowyer, Esq., his executors. The will makes no reference to the testator's brother, Edward, or to any issue of his. Richard Parr having died 2 October 1691, this will was proved by Anthony Bowyer,¹⁰ 22 September 1692 in P.C.C. (162 Fane). The two flagons are still at the parish church of Camberwell, and bear the hall mark of 1691, and the inscription, "The Gift of John Byne Gent. to the Church of Camerwell A.D. 1691," with the crest and arms of Byne.

V. EDMUND BYNE, who appears to have married with Frances, daughter of Gregory Bowyer, a brother of the wife of John Byne (A).

VI. Elizabeth married, 3 June 1599, at Washington, to Thomas Norton, afterwards Sir Thomas Norton, Knight, and

VII. Another daughter.

SIR JOHN BYNE, born about 1576, was of Rowdell. He was admitted of Lincoln's Inn, 1 August 1597. He probably rebuilt the house of Rowdell, which was of the style of James I.¹¹ He married with Audrey, daughter of Richard Weaver, of Lingfield, co. Surrey,¹² He was knighted, 23 July 1603. By his will, dated 25 January 163^g, he directed that his body should be buried in the chancel of the church of Washington, appointed his eldest son and heir Edmund Byne sole executor, and mentioned his grandson, Edmund Muschamp, whose wardship had been committed to him by the Master of the Court of Wards, and who was then being educated at Oxford, his grandchild Mary Muschamp, his daughter Elizabeth Byne, his son John Byne to whom he bequeathed "the seale gold ring which I weare," and the wife and children of his son John Byne, and gave the residue of his goods to his son Edmund Byne, and nominated Dr. Pay, Archdeacon of Chichester, Henry Goring, Esq., Henry Bridger, gent., and William Skinner, yeoman, to be overseers. Sir John Byne was buried at Washington, 28 January 164^g, and his will was proved by his son Edmund Byne, 8 February 164^g, in P.C.C. (13 Evelyn). His widow Dame Audrey Byne was buried at Washington, 14 March 164^g. By her will, dated 24 December 1641, and proved by her son, John Byne, 4 March 164^g in P.C.C. (54 Cambell), she bequeathed to her son Edmund's wife her rope of pearl and her purple velvet peticoat, to her god-daughter and grandchild Adria Byne her border of pearl, and made bequests to the children of her son John Byne, to her daughter Elizabeth, and her grandchild Henry Byne, and gave the residue of her estate and her lands in Surrey to her son John Byne.

¹⁰ Anthony Bowyer, who was Treasurer of the Inner Temple, 1697, and M.P. for Southwark, 1685—1698, was son of Sir Edmund Bowyer, Knight, a son of Joyce Byne, by Benjamin Bowyer.

¹¹ There are a view and description of it in "Gent. Mag." vol. ci, pt. i, p. 305.

¹² This is shewn by the pleadings in Byne v. Glover (Chancery Proceedings, B and A, James I, B. 24, No. 49), and by the will of Lady Byne's brother, Richard Weaver, of Hexted, in Lingfield, dated 11 June 1599, and proved 5 Nov. 1599 by his sister, Joane Weaver, and 12 February 1602, by Audry, Lady Byne (P.C.C., 81 Kidd).

The children of Sir John Byne were :—

- I. EDMUND BYNE, of whom subsequently.
- II. JOHN BYNE, (C) of whom also subsequently.
- III. Jane, baptized at Washington, 21 October 1604, married at Camberwell, 7 January 161^g, to Francis Muschamp, and buried there, 2 January 162^g, leaving issue.
- IV. Catherine, baptized at Washington, 25 October 1607, and buried there, 23 September 1614.
- V. Elizabeth, baptized at Camberwell, 4 January 162^g, who died a spinster and was buried at Billingshurst, 15 September 1671.

EDMUND BYNE, also of Rowdell, was baptized at Ardingly, 2 September 1602, and matriculated at Oxford, as of Christ Church, 19 November 1621. He married at Washington, 26 October 1631, with Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Goring, of Highden in Washington, by his wife, Mary, daughter of Sir Thomas Eversfield. Edmund Byne was buried at Washington, 22 October 1646. By his will, dated 3 December 1645, he gave to Elizabeth his wife his best bason and ewer, certain furniture, his coach and best coach horses, his black and chestnut mare, and so many rooms in his mansion house as should be fit for her occupation during her widowhood, and to his daughter, Frances, £1,000, and made bequests to his brother Byne, his god-daughter Jane Byne, daughter of his said brother, and to his niece Mary Muschamp, and he devised to his son Henry Byne and his heirs all his lands and tenements in Ashurst and Shipley, and bequeathed the residue of his effects to his son John Byne (D), and ordained his father-in-law Henry Goring, of Highden, Esq., and Henry Goring, son of the latter, and Elizabeth, his own wife, to be executors, and appointed John Byne, of Thakeham, gent., Edward Goring, of Cobden, Henry Goring, his son, and Edmund Muschamp, Esq., his brother-in-law, to be overseers. This will was proved 2 March 1617 by Elizabeth Byne, the widow, in P.C.C. (84 Fines). His widow was remarried, 8 September 1663, at St. Vedast's, London, to Robert Leeves, clerk, M.A., Canon of Chichester, and Rector of Warminghurst, where he was buried in the chancel, 15 March 1693, having by his will, dated 30 July 1692, in which he is described as of Rowdell (P.C.C. 39 Coker), directed that he should be buried there "without pomp or a funeral sermon."

The children of Edmund Byne were :—

I. Adria, who died young.

II. JOHN BYNE (D), of whom subsequently.

III. HENRY BYNE, baptized at Washington, 8 February 163 $\frac{3}{4}$, who died a bachelor and was buried there, 9 August 1662. By his will, dated 13 March 166 $\frac{1}{2}$, in which he is described as of Rowdell, gent., he gave legacies for rings to his mother Mrs. Elizabeth Byne, to his sister-in-law Susanna Byne, and to Robert Leeves, and devised his messuages and lands in Sussex then in possession, and his lands and tenements in Surrey in possession or reversion, to his sister Frances, whom he appointed executrix. This will was not proved till 8 July 1676 when it was proved by John Godolphin, as the representative of his late wife Frances, in P.C.C. (56 Bence).

IV. Frances, baptized at Washington, 21 September 1641, who in September 1663 was married to John Godolphin, of St. Martin's in the Fields, afterwards Sir John Godolphin, Knight, and died before July 1676.

JOHN BYNE (D), who was also of Rowdell, was baptized at Washington, 8 October 1635. He married, 14 January 165 $\frac{7}{8}$, with Susanna, born 20 June 1631, third daughter of Goldsmith Hodgson, of Framfield, by Elizabeth, daughter of Ninian Borde, of Lindfield. By deed dated 14 May 1657, and made between John Byne (D), therein described as of Rowdell, of the one part, and Robert Leeves, clerk, of the other part, John Byne (D) conveyed his messuage called Rowdell and all his lands in Washington and Sullington to Robert Leeves, to the intent that a common recovery might be had and the property remain to John Byne (D) in fee.¹³ He was M.P. for Bramber in the Parliaments summoned to meet ¹³ Close Rolls, 3943, No. 27.

27 January 1653 and 8 May 1661, and a Commissioner of Subsidy for Sussex in 1660. He died intestate and was buried at Washington, 31 December 1661. Letters of administration of his effects are indexed in P.C.C. as having been granted in January 1663 for which period the books are lost. His widow, Susanna, was, 2 February 1663, remarried at Warminghurst to Francis Guybon, afterwards Sir Francis Guybon, Knight, of Thursford, co. Norfolk, and she died within a year or two of such remarriage.

The children of John Byne (D) were :—

- I. Mary, baptized at Washington 16 December 1657, and buried there 13 January 1658.
- II. Susanna, baptized at Washington, 17 April 1659, and married there 13 June 1677 to Sir George Walker, Knight, and afterwards Bart., of Bushey Hall, co. Herts, by whom she had issue.
- III. Frances, baptized at Washington, 16 September 1660, and married twice, first, in 1681 (the license for which in the Faculty Office is dated 17 May 1681) to Robert Heath, of Piddinghoe and Lewes, by whom she had one son; and secondly, 18 December 1683, at All Saints, Lewes, to Henry Pelham, by whom she had a numerous family. She was buried at St. Michael's, Lewes, 17 April 1704, and Henry Pelham died 1 April 1721, and was buried at St. Anne's, Westminster. Her grandson, by Henry Pelham, became, in 1768, Baron Pelham, and in 1801 was created Earl of Chichester.
- IV. Mary, baptized at Warminghurst 25 June 1661, who died early, a spinster,

The surviving daughters of John Byne (D) sold Rowdell in the last decade of the seventeenth century.

JOHN BYNE (C), the younger son of Sir John Byne, was baptized at Washington, 2 October 1603, and matriculated at Oxford, as of Christ Church, 19 Nov. 1621. He married, 10 July 1634, at Ashurst, co. Sussex, with Elizabeth, baptized at Warminghurst, 22 May 1616, eldest daughter of Henry Bridger, of Peppers in Ashurst, by Jane (Ravenscroft), his wife. He seems to have resided in Ashurst until about 1642 and then to have removed to Thakeham, co. Sussex, and in that year a fine was levied of lands in Thakeham in which he was plaintiff, and William Shortred was deforciant.¹⁴ By his will, dated 26 March 1658, in which he is described as of Thakeham, gent., he made bequests to his sons, Edmund, John and William, and his daughters, Jane, Elizabeth and Adrea, and ordained John Byne (D), of Washington, Esq.,

¹⁴ Feet of Fines, Sussex, Mich. 17, Car. 1.

Edmund Muschamp, of Sullington, Esq., Richard Bridger, of Ashurst, gent., and John Bridger, of Billingshurst, Esq., to be executors thereof, and gave them power to sell his two manors in the parish of Harbledown or elsewhere in Kent, and his properties in Surrey and in Thakeham for payment of his debts and legacies and directed them to render the overplus to his eldest son Henry Byne, and then added his wife as executrix. John Byne (C) was buried at Thakeham, 3 April 1658, and his will was proved 1 November 1660 by his relict Elizabeth in P.C.C. (203 Nabbs). On 14 February 166 $\frac{7}{8}$ two of the daughters of John Byne (C) filed their bill in Chancery to have their legacies raised, to which it was answered that the lands mentioned in his will had been settled so that Henry Byne, their brother, had become entitled to them as heir in tail to his father and the Lady Adria Byne.¹⁵ Elizabeth Byne, the relict, died in 1682, and by her will, dated 4 October 1682, in which she is described as of Steyning, she gave legacies to her son, Henry Byne, his wife Elizabeth, their daughter Frances, her sons Edmund Byne and John Byne, her daughters Jane Greenwell and Adria Lee widow, to her granddaughter Adria Smalley, and her son William Byne, whom she constituted sole executor, and by whom her will was proved, 14 December 1682 in P.C.C. (145 Cottle).

The children of John Byne (C) were :—

- I. Jane, baptized at Ashurst, 19 May 1635, and married to Stephen Greenwell.
- II. Elizabeth, baptized at Ashurst, 2 August 1636, who died an infant.
- III. Mary, baptized at Ashurst, 6 December 1638, and buried at Thakeham, 4 July 1657.
- IV. Honour, baptized at Ashurst, 25 January 164 $\frac{30}{40}$, who died early.
- V. Frances, baptized at Ashurst, 29 April 1641, and buried at Thakeham, 2 December 1656.
- VI. Elizabeth, baptized at Thakeham, 16 April 1643, and married to one Smalley.
- VII. HENRY BYNE, baptized at Thakeham, 6 September 1646, of whom subsequently.
- VIII. EDMUND BYNE, baptized at Thakeham, 21 September 1647, who died unmarried.
- IX. JOHN BYNE, baptized at Thakeham, 30 June 1649, who also died unmarried.
- X. WILLIAM BYNE, baptized at Thakeham, 28 January 1651, of whom subsequently.

XI. Audrey, or Adria, baptized at Thakeham, 4 Nov. 1655, who was married twice, first to one Lee, and secondly to one Elliott.

HENRY BYNE married with Elizabeth, daughter of William Scrase, of Aunington in Botolphs, co. Sussex, by Frances (Valiant) his wife. He resided at one time at Sele, alias Beeding, co. Sussex, as the Visitation Books shew that he was Churchwarden there in 1673 and 9 December 1673 he was ordered by the Archdeaconry Court to exhibit his bill of presentments, for making default in which he was excommunicated, 3 February 1673.¹⁶ He was apparently the Henry Byne who, at the Coronation of James II was one of the Gentlemen Pensioners attending on the Queen.¹⁷ He had an only child, Frances, who was married to Edmund Nugent.¹⁸ He died in September 1688, having by his will, dated 16 September 1688, in which he is described as of St. James, Westminster, Esq., bequeathed to his son-in-law Edmund Nugent and Frances his wife, £10 a piece to buy them mourning, and after making pecuniary bequests to "his sisters Jane Greenwell, wife of Stephen Greenwell, and Adria Elliott, wife of Mr. Elliott," and to his "loveing brother William Byne and Sarah his wife," given the residue of his personal estate to his wife, Elizabeth, who, 1 October 1688, proved such will as executrix in P.C.C. (131 Exton).

WILLIAM BYNE, son of John Byne (C), married with Sarah Pengry, the license from the Vicar General's office being dated 19 January 1673. He bought in 1690 a house called the White Horse, in St. Clement Danes¹⁹ and he carried on the business of a hosier there.²⁰ Other property in the same parish was conveyed to him by deed dated 11 July 1702.²¹ By his will, dated October 1710, in which he is described as of St. Clement Danes, hosier, he devised certain freeholds in that parish to his wife Sarah for life, and subject thereto to his daughter Martha Byne, for life, and after her death to his daughters, Charlotte Byne and Anna Maria Byne and their heirs, charged with an annual payment in favour of his daughter Mary Turner, widow, and he then gave certain property upon trust for the benefit of his daughter Elizabeth, the wife of William Egerton. One of the witnesses to this will was the testator's niece, Frances Nugent, and it was proved 12 December 1710, by the widow Sarah, and the daughter Martha, the executrices, in P.C.C. (263 Smith).

Of these five daughters of William Byne :—

Martha Byne, by her will, dated 2 July 1738, in which she is described as of St. Clement Danes, spinster, gave pecuniary legacies to her sister Elizabeth Egerton, and to her nephew Edward Turner, and bequeathed the residue of her estate to her sister Charlotte Byne, who, as executrix, proved it 8 April 1745 in P.C.C. (104 Seymer).

Charlotte Byne, by her will, dated 29 August 1763, in which she is described as of St. Clement Danes, spinster, directed that she should be buried in the same vault wherein her sister Martha lay in St. Clement Danes, bequeathed to her nieces Sarah Lock and Anna Orpwood, and to her great-nephews William Lens and John Egerton, £30 apiece, and gave her two third shares in a messuage in Shire Lane and Ship Yard in St. Clement Danes, and the residue of her effects to her niece, Ann Lens, who, as executrix, proved such will, 4 September 1764, in P.C.C. (336 Simpson).

SOME NOTES ON BARSHAM JUXTA BECCLES, CO. SUFFOLK.

THE CHURCH.

The present Church of the Holy Trinity is an ancient flint building in the Decorated style, consisting of a chancel, sacristy, and nave, with a reed-thatched roof, round western tower, and south porch.¹

Suckling² surmises that it was "raised on the site of that mentioned in Domesday book," and says that "its oldest discernible feature is a lancet window in the south wall of the chancel, at the lower part of which is a lychnoscope, now plastered over, though the original and massive hinges are visible."³ The other windows are in the style which marks the reign of Edward the Second." Since this was written an early Norman window (much older than the lancet) has been opened out over the north door of the nave. There is a corresponding one over the south door, but not opened.

THE RECTORS.

A list of the Rectors of Barsham is given in Suckling's "Suffolk," and is not therefore repeated here, but it is proposed to give some account of as many of those clerics who have held the living as has been found possible.

¹ Lady Dionysia de Tye, in 1375, desired to be buried before the entrance to Barsham Church, where a porch was to be erected over her burial place. (See ante, vol. xxi, p. 129).

² Vol. i, p. 41.

The first recorded Rector, presented 14 Edw. II (1321) by Robert de Barsham, was John de Redenhale, who was followed in 1342 by William de Wellyngton (1342—1348).

Of the thirteen Rectors who intervened before the Reformation, little is known with the exception of Henry Barneby (1396—1424) and Thomas Wace (1424—1450).

HENRY BARNEBY.

His will, dated at Barsham 28th September, was proved at Norwich, 6th December 1424.¹

"Henricus Barneby, Rector Ecclesie de Barsham juxta Beccles." My soul to God Almighty, the Blessed Virgin Mary and all Saints, and my Body to be buried in the Chancel of my Church aforesaid. To the fabric of the same Church xiijs, iiij^d. To the fabric of Kessinglond xiijs, iiij^d. To the fabric of Schypmedewe xx^d. To the fabric of Ryngysfeld xx^d. To each of my executors 10^s. To each priest at my burial viij^d. Residue to executors to distribute for the souls of all the faithful departed, in masses and other pious deeds, as may be most grateful to God and for the good of my soul. John Cobbe, Rector of Ryngesfeld. Magister Wm. Goselyn, supervisor.

THOMAS WACE.

He was succeeded by Thomas Wace, presented in the second year of Henry VI by Thomas de Echingham. His will was proved at Norwich, 23 September 1450.²

"Thomas Wace, Rector Ecclesie de Barsham." My soul to Almighty God, the B.V.M., and all the Saints, and my body to be buried in the Chancel of Barsham Church. To the altar there a cloth (mappa). To the Gild of St Michael at Becelys for the emending of the same gild xx^d. To the Gild of St Andrew of Iketyshale xx^d. To the repair of the Tower of Ryngesfeld two bushels of corn. To the repair of Shipmedow Church two bushels of corn. To Everard & his wife the bed I lie in & one coverlett, two blanketts, two sheets & one fetherbed. To Everard's wife my best cloak. To Margaret Poynard a short cloak. To John, son of Poynard, a russett cloak. To each of my godechildren 4^d. Executors—Magister Simon Attgrene,³ Rector of Wyrlyngham, and Walter Cappe, of Barsham.

ROBERT HUME, SIXTEENTH RECTOR (1533—1554).

Robert Hume had been chaplain to Sir Edward Echingham, who by his will dated 18 June 1527, left to "Sr Robert Hume my gown lyned with Sarsenet and all the charges of his capacyte vpon condicion that he will be good Su^{nt} vnto my welbeloued wife," and also "all my tolys, as axys, hachette wymbille sawys cheselle and formys." He was preferred to the living by the assignees of Sir

³ Simon Attegreene, appointed Rector of Worlingham Magna by the Prior of Butley (1429—1471).

Edward Echingham in the twenty-fourth year of Henry VIII, and served the Church of Barsham throughout one of the most momentous periods of clerical history. In 1547 the rood lofts were ordered to be taken down, but many in Suffolk remained until the time of Elizabeth, and we have no information as to the date of removal of the crucifix and figures, which the mortises show were once on the rood beam at Barsham. In 1552, visitors were appointed to muster the church plate and furniture in all churches, and to compare the accounts with old inventories in order to see what had been lost or purloined.

The return for Barsham was¹ :—

Chalice one.	waynge xv oz.
Great bells	i.
Sanctus bell	i.

In 1549 the Act was passed to deliver all missals, grails, etc., used in the Church Services, to the Churchwardens for destruction, but there is no record of any books at Barsham at that time. The mandate² for the induction of Hume's successor dated 3rd January 1554, was issued to John Wallham, who was ordered to induct. The patron was John Blennerhassett.

CHRISTOPHER BATTYE, SEVENTEENTH RECTOR (1554—1564).

Appointed in the second year of Queen Mary's unhappy reign, at a time when Suffolk livings were not without their perils, especially in the vicinity of Beccles, in consequence of the Visitation Articles of Bishop Hopton of Norwich, who decreed that "A complaint should be laid against all such as favoured the Gospels and the same was exhibited by the Queen's Council sitting at Beccles on the 18th of May, 1556, by Philip Williams, alias Footman, John Stewart, and Matthew Butler, sworn for that purpose."³

Between the years 1555 and 1558, thirty-six persons in Suffolk alone suffered death by fire.

The register books of Barsham were commenced in the fourth year of Battye's incumbency (1558), and were kept in English, and badly written down to 1615. He was succeeded in the sixth year of Elizabeth by JOHN CHRISTIAN, EIGHTEENTH RECTOR (1564—1568).

Presented by "John blen^hhaissett Esq. de Barsh'm and Marie hys wyffe,"⁴ and inducted on the 3rd of January 1565, he was probably the writer of the entry in the register of the baptism of their son Richard (24th April 1566). He was succeeded in the living of Barsham in 1568 by the Rector of Shipmeadow (inducted there 3rd January 1565).

RICHARD FIRBANCKE, NINETEENTH RECTOR (1568—1617).

Of this cleric, inducted to Barsham October the 9th, 1568, nothing can be found in the University lists, nor does he appear to have been buried at Barsham, or to have left any will. It is possible that he may have been father or grandfather of Richard Firbancke, yeoman, of Shipmeadow, whose will is dated Sept. 12th, 1651,¹ and who is probably identical with the Richard Firbancke of the Ship Money list for Shipmeadow.² Rector Firbancke, who signed the bottom of every page of his registers, badly, but conscientiously, is not himself mentioned therein, although several of his surname occur. He must have buried John Blennerhassett in 1573, and serving the Church throughout the lordship of Thomas Blennerhassett there, buried him on May the 4th, 1599. Afterwards continuing under the Lees until the fourth year of the ownership of Sir John Suckling, he was succeeded, on the latter's presentation, by whose neat writing and scholarly Latin begins a new era for the registers. He was the Rector who did so much for the church, and to whom Suckling ascribes the erection of the Jacobean oak screen, which still divides the Chancel from the Nave. As the Suffolk historian says—“A bold step at a period so shortly subsequent to the Reformation, and one which must have subjected the Rector to the charge of Popery.”³ He also raised the present roof of the Chancel in 1633, as appears by his arms⁴ carved on a corbel.” To him also Suckling attributes the construction of the eastern window, “the most remarkable feature of the edifice, and in all probability has no parallel.” Joseph Fleming, who may have been of kin to the William Fleming, inducted to Endgate by Beeches, 10th June, 1580, was preferred to the Rectory of Ellough⁵ on October 26th in the sixth year of James the First. He was licenced to marry, as Parson of Ellough, at Mutford, on the 14th of July, 1613, Mary Lone of Ellough, single woman.

³ In 1893, while repairing this screen, the original rood beam of pre-Reformation date was discovered, still with the mortises in which once rested the figures of SS. Mary and John on either side of the cross. These were all restored (after the design of Mr. F. C. Eden, of Staple Inn), and placed there to the memory of the Rev. John Yelloly, a former Rector, by his nephew, the Rev. R. A. J. Suckling.

⁴ Vaire, a chief chequy Or and Gules.

His induction to Barsham is dated January the 3rd, 1617. His entries in the register cease in 1627, and after a blank page follows "Joseph Fleming Cler. rector Ecclesie de Barsham was buried the 6th of June 1636."

His will, dated January the 14th, 1635, was proved at Norwich the 25th of June, 1636,¹ by the widow Mary.

Joseph Fleming, Parson of Barsham, co. Suffolk. My Soul to be presented to Almighty God by my advocate Jesus Christ, from whose hands cannot refuse it, and my body to be laid up in the earth till the General Resurrection. To Mary, my well beloved wife, my lands, etc., bought of Mr. Peecke in Beccles, and also in Linstead Parva, Cheston, and Barsham in Suffolk, to her and her heirs for ever. To Joseph Fleming, my nephew and servant, my tenement and appurtenances in Spexhall, Suffolk, and £30. To Anne Fleming, daughter of Samuel Fleming, my niece, my tenement bought of Marjorie Vinior in Beccles. To Samuel Fleming, my nephew, £20, and the £7 which I have of his. To John Fleming, my nephew, son of John Fleming, my brother, £30. To Nathaniel Fleming, my brother, and his children, £50. To Joseph Fleming, my nephew, my double silver salt. To John Fleming, my cozen, of London, draper, the gold ring I wear. To cozen John Dade, a book called "the French Inventorie." To Matthew Trott, a book conteyning all St. Barnard's works. To Elizabeth Irish, my servant, 20s. John Marcon, my servant, 20s. To 20 poor householders in Beccles, 5s. each. To 5 poorest householders in Barsham, 2s. each. To Ringsfeld poor, 2s. 6d., and Shipmeadow poor, 2s. 6d. Residue to my wife Mary, she to be sole executrix. Witnesses—Francis Cuddon and Moses Linaker.²

GEORGE COCKE, TWENTY-FIRST RECTOR (1636—1673).

After the custom of his times he was a great pluralist, and for this reason his identity is sometimes confused. He was eldest son of Alderman George Cocke,³ by his wife Lydia Mower, and was baptised at St. George's, Colegate, the 14th March, 1601. He was admitted Fellow Commoner at Christ's College, Cambridge, July, 1616; B.A., 1619-20; M.A., 1623;⁴ and ordained Priest at Ludham, 18th February, 1626. He was Minister of St. Andrew's, Norwich, 1634-8,⁵ where his wife Anne, daughter of Charles Suckling, Esq., of Woodton, was buried the 6th of June,

² The testator's widow remarried 25th October, 1637, to John Franckling, gent., widower, of Metfield, whose will is dated at Beccles, 1680. The latter's first wife, buried at Metfield in 1636, was daughter of Wm. Blobbold. His son married a daughter of Thomas Lone, of Ellough, and niece of Mary, his second wife.

³ Buried at St. George's, Colegate, 28th May, 1627. His brother, Francis Cocke, Mayor of Norwich, by his wife, Sarah Mower, was father of Charles George Cocke, the Sequestrator.

1636. He was instituted Rector of Barsham 1636, on the death of Joseph Fleming, and on the presentation of Sir John Suckling, the Poet, and kept the registers in a neat and very minute hand, rarely signing the pages during his thirty-seven years' incumbency. In 1640 he contributed £10 towards the buildings of Christ's College, Cambridge. Suckling asserts that the present Rectory of Barsham was erected in the time of James the II (1685—1689),¹ but on the 1st of May, 1872, whilst repairing the roof the date July 1st, 1638, was found on the plaster under the tiles of the west attic.

George Cocke was appointed Assistant Minister of St. Peter's Mancroft, Norwich, in 1657, and Upper Minister, in 1658.² From 1653 to 1661 the Barsham registers are ill-kept and badly written, and signed "John flemme, Curate." Thomas Eachard,³ the father of the historian (baptised there 1671) is said to have officiated for some time at Barsham for George Cocke. He was Rector of Gisleham 1663-1693, and of Kessingland 1664, and was buried at Barsham 26th October, 1693. George Cocke's will, dated 18th October, 1673, was proved at Norwich 31st July, 1674.⁴

George Cocke of the city of Norwich—weake in body. Soul into the hands of my God hoping for salvation through the merits of my Saviour. My body to be interred with decency, but as little outward solemnitie as may be. My worldly estate to be disposed to my son George Cocke & my two daughters Ann Osborne, & Mary Cocke, that is, all my estate whatsoever (except 18 vols. to the Library of the City of Norwich) to my trusty friend Charles George Cocke of the City of Norwich, Esq., & Thomas Baret the elder of the same, merchant, in trust to sell and divide profits into two halves, one half to my son George Cocke & the other half equally between my two daughters Ann Osborne and Mary Cocke. Witnesses, Js. Preston, Ben. Riveley, Lucy Suckling.

BENJAMIN SOLLEY, TWENTY-SECOND RECTOR (1673—1714).

The Rev. Benjamin Solley, appointed Rector by Robert Suckling⁵ on the decease of George Cocke does not appear in the University lists. He was baptised at Debenham in Suffolk on the 12th of April, 1640, as son of Benjamin Solley, gent., and of Rebecca his wife, and came of a well-known Kentish family of Huguenot extraction.⁶

² Blomefield's "Norfolk," vol. i, p. 44.

³ Thomas Eachard was son of John Eachard, Rector of Darsham, Suffolk (1617—1644), and was licensed to marry Sarah Ox, of Aldburgh in 1664. She was buried at Barsham the 13th October, 1696, near the Church door. John Eachard, another son of the above John, died the 2nd July, 1670, aged forty, and left his only brother Thomas aforesaid his heir. Also, Elizabeth, niece to Mr. John Eachard, died the 23rd September, 1728, aged 45. (Davy's MSS., British Museum).

At the time of his institution to Barsham he was Rector of Glemham, and already the father of four sons and a daughter by a deceased wife, Elizabeth, baptised at Glemham, viz., Benjamin 1662, Thomas 1664, Charles 1666, George 1668, Eliza. 1670. The following are extracts from the Barsham registers :—¹

"Note.—Benjamin Solley & Catherine Shelver were married at Marlesford May y^e 20 1671."

"Catherine y^e daughter of Ben. Solley & Catherine his wife was born at Glemham on Friday, St Mark's day, April y^e 25th, and Bap^t May y^e 13 1673."

"Catherine y^e widdowe of R^{vd} Benj. Solley, Re^{ct} of y^e prish, was buried Oct. y^e 5th 1726."

Benjamin Solley's will, dated 1 June 1714, was proved at Norwich, 27th January, 1714-15.²

I, Benjamin Solley, of Barsham, co. Suffolk, Clerk, do with my own hand make & ordain this my last will. My soul I leave to Almighty God my Creator & my body to the earth in the hope of a joyful Resurrection. To Catherine Solley, my dearly loved wife, two houses with yards & gardens in Beccles, & my estate, houses, lands, &c., in Barsham for the term of her natural life & all my plate & linen. She to have so much of my household goods as may seem needful & convenient for her, during her life. To my daughter Elizabeth, wife of W^m Staffe, & to William her husband my estate in Shipmeadow for their lives. To my grandchildren, John Clarke, Benjamin Clarke, William

LICENCES TO PASS FROM ENGLAND BEYOND THE SEAS.

(Contributed by GERALD FOTHERGILL.)

Little introduction is required to these licences to pass beyond the Seas, as the use and value of them are apparent. It is hoped they will give many a clue to the disappearance of names in a pedigree, and help to fix the ancestry of emigrants.

Some of the early settlers in New England first dwelt for a time in Holland, and then went on to America; the reason for this may have been that leave was given easier to visit Europe.

As only a very few years of these Licences are extant, the value of those remaining is enhanced.

In 1874 John Camden Hotten printed the licences of all those bound straight for America; this contribution will contain those names left out by Hotten as being settlers in Europe.

These licences are obtained from the records of the Exchequer, King's Remembrancer, No. 16.

WILLS OF COLONEL BLOOD AND HIS SONS.

The Wills printed below are from abstracts made by Lieut.-Colonel Henry W. Pook, and have not before appeared in print.

The notorious Colonel Blood is best remembered on account of his attempt to steal the crown of Charles II from the Tower of London. His career of daring villainy is a matter of history, and it is surprising to find that a man so utterly unprincipled should have belonged to a very respectable family of Irish gentry, and should have married a daughter of one of the oldest gentle families of Lancashire.

According to a pedigree drawn up about 1790 by Mr. Blood, of Dunboyne, Colonel Thomas Blood was the son of Mr. Thomas Blood, a landowner in the County Clare, who was a younger brother of Neptune Blood, Dean of Kilfenora, and the Dean and Thomas Blood the elder were sons of Edmond Blood, of Bohersallagh, co. Clare, who sat as M.P. for Ennis in 1613.

Colonel Blood married at Newchurch, in the parish of Winwick, co. Lancaster, 1st June 1650, Mary, daughter of John Holcroft, of Holcroft, in the same parish, Esquire, a Lieut.-Colonel in the Army of the Parliament. He died at his house in the Bowling Alley, Westminster, 24th August, and was buried in Tothill Fields, 26th August 1680. He had issue :—

(1). Thomas Blood, baptised at Newchurch, 30th March, 1651; married Frances Delafaye (Delahaye ?), and was the father of Captain Edmond Blood, of Albany, in North America.

(2). William Blood, Steward of H.M. ship "Jersey," in 1679. Administration of his effects was granted out of the P.C.C. in November, 1688, to his sister, Elizabeth, wife of Edward Everard. He was then late of the ship "The Mary," and died at "Guynoa."

(3). Holcroft Blood, born in or about 1657, a distinguished military officer, who, after commanding the artillery at the Battle of Blenheim, under the Duke of Marlborough, rose to the rank of Major-General (1st January 1707), and died at Brussels, 30th August, 1707, aged 50, having married a wife whose christian name was Elizabeth.

(4). Edmond Blood, whose will is printed below.

(5). Charles Blood, living 1680.

(6). Mary, wife of Corbett.

(7). Elizabeth, wife of Edward Everard.

Any additions to the above notes will be very acceptable.

¹ She seems to have fled from Paris shortly after receiving a domiciliary visit, in which books forbidden under Article XXI of the Edict of Nantes were seized (vide Haug's "La France Protestante," ix. 449).

² The Kensington Burial Registers give "1701, 7 May, Margaret wife of Peter Devarain, Bookseller, from La Fevre's, Little Chelsey." Their marriage allegation describes him as being aged in 1692 about 26, and Margaret Le Blanc as about 18.

⁴ She leaves her pearl necklace to her grand-daughter, Catherine Blaquiere, and "a cheling apiece for all my relations that have any pretensions."

THE ANCESTRY AND POSTERITY OF JOHN LEA, 1503-1906. By James Henry Lea and George Henry Lea. Philadelphia and New York (Lea Brothers and Co.).

The title of this work suggests a family history of interest only to descendants of a certain John Lea, of Christian Malford, in Wiltshire, who emigrated to Pennsylvania in or about 1699, but an examination of its contents is sufficient to dispel such an illusion. A large portion of its 600 odd pages is devoted to a collection made in England of the authors' surname and its variants by Mr. J. Henry Lea, a well known contributor to genealogical literature, his very valuable Abstracts of Wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury (Register Soame) being one of his most recent productions. For many years Mr. Lea has been searching in records for evidence concerning his pedigree, but although successful in finding proof for some two or three generations, a satisfactory result so far has not been obtained, owing to gaps in Parish Registers and to lack of information usually afforded by testators. He has, however, compiled a tentative pedigree from a John Lygh, of Chippenham, "possibly" a son of Robert Lygh, of Corsley, M.P. for Chippenham in 1467, who bore for his Arms: argent goutée de sang a lion rampant gules. If this theory of a descent from Lygh, of Corsley, and the tentative pedigree be some day capable of proof, then the only evidence of an armorial nature of the author's family which has hitherto been unearthed, namely two circular seals on testamentary documents, one of date 1625, the other 1682, both showing a lion rampant, will have been of great service as an heraldic clue. It is unfortunate that such an extended search should have been so poorly rewarded, but we can at all events congratulate not only Mr. Lea on his excellent work, but the genealogical world for having so much useful material brought together. Anyone interested in the families of Legh, Leigh, Aley, Lye, Lygh, etc., will do well to consult the matter here printed. To Mr. George Henry Lea we are indebted for the introduction to the volume, and for the American section which gives the descendants of a common ancestor an opportunity of possessing information which otherwise would probably have been laid aside and ultimately lost.

THE NORFOLK ANTIQUARIAN MISCELLANY. (Second Series). Part I. Edited by Walter Rye. Norwich (Gibbs and Waller).

We cordially welcome the revival of the Norfolk Antiquarian Miscellany, under the auspices of its able and energetic editor, Mr. Walter Rye, who is responsible for no less than seven of the articles contained in Part I. Of these, three will greatly interest genealogists, namely the papers on the families of Norris, Spelman, and Wodehouse, the last named being especially worthy of careful consideration. Mr. Rye's article in the third volume of the original series of The Genealogist on the pedigree of Wodehouse of Kimberley and its exposure of the myths surrounding the early history of that family, will be familiar to our readers. He now not only emphasizes the improbability that John Wodehouse, "the King's esquire," fought at Agincourt, but also endeavours to prove that this John sprang from a family of London citizens, who are believed to have come originally from Yorkshire or from Peckham, near London. Though Mr. Rye argues this question with his accustomed vigour, it cannot be said that the evidence of this descent is at present conclusive, but it will perhaps form the groundwork of fresh discoveries.

Mr. R. Howlett, F.S.A., contributes a most interesting paper on Villeinage in Norfolk, illustrated by a memoir of Sir Robert de Salle, "bondsman and King's knight," who lost his life in the rebellion of John the Litester. Mr. Seymour Lucas, R.A., describes some recently discovered wood carvings and old glass, and Prince Frederick Duleep Singh has annotated a manuscript of Anthony Norris, on arms found in Norwich houses.

ALLEGATIONS FOR MARRIAGE LICENCES ISSUED BY THE COMMISSARY COURT OF SURREY BETWEEN 1673 AND 1770. Transcribed from the original records, and edited by Alfred Ridley Bax, F.S.A. Part I. Norwich (Goose and Son).

Everyone who attempts to compile a pedigree of some generations finds the marriages his crucial difficulty, and for this reason the publication of Marriage Allegations should always receive support from the public. The proximity of the County of Surrey to the Metropolis, and the fact that the important London parishes lying in Southwark come within its borders, render these licences especially valuable. They are, we are glad to say, complete and not mere selections, being no less than 9,800 in number. The great labour involved in transcribing them has been most adequately undertaken by Mr. A. Ridley Bax, a frequent contributor to the proceedings of the Surrey Archaeological Society, and to him genealogists owe a debt of gratitude for their publication. The earlier portion of these Allegations, that is those issued 1674-1692, are taken from a bound volume preserved in the Faculty Office. Between 1692 and 1724, with the exception of one entry in 1709, there is a gap; after 1724 down to 1770 the Editor has had to examine the original records. Part I ends with the year 1748. It is satisfactory to observe that copious indexes are promised, and will be issued with the concluding Part.

THE SPURGEON FAMILY, BEING AN ACCOUNT OF THE DESCENT AND FAMILY OF CHARLES HADDON SPURGEON, WITH NOTES ON THE FAMILY IN GENERAL, PARTICULARLY THE ESSEX BRANCH, FROM 1465-1905. By W. Miller Higgs. London (Elliot Stock).

Believers in heredity will be delighted to find on perusal of this carefully written work that not only were the father and grandfather of the well known preacher Charles Haddon Spurgeon dissenting ministers, but their forefathers for many generations were Non-conformists. Mr. Spurgeon counted among his ancestors "not many mighty, not many noble," but he was justly proud that they were god-fearing men, though the belief that they were Dutch refugees has, it appears, no foundation in fact. Mr. Higgs has traced the pedigree with such strong probability to a John Spurgeon or Spurgen, buried at Halstead in Essex in 1570, that the dotted lines in his tabular chart might, perhaps, have been omitted. He has also supplied much useful information which will be of assistance to others interested in the surname of Spurgeon, with its variant forms of Spurgen, Spurgin, Spirgon, Spirjon, etc.

Notes and Queries.

TRAPAUD PEDIGREE (ante, vol. xxii, p. 259).—Colonel John Adlercron commanded the 39th Regiment, the first British regiment to go to India; but he was not at any time Commander-in-Chief in the East Indies. He and his regiment arrived at Fort St. George in 1754. At that time the local Governors at Fort St. George, Fort William in the Bay, and Bombay, were not only the civil governors, but also the Commanders-in-Chief of all the forces in their several jurisdictions. There was ill-feeling between the senior officers of the regiment and the Governor; and disputes arose which resulted in the recall of the regiment in 1757 (see "The Church in Madras," p. 316).

DESCENDANTS OF SIR GEOFFREY POLE.—Anne Pole, the eleventh child of Sir Geoffrey Pole, married about 1560, Thomas Hildersham, of Cambridge. On the death of Thomas Hildersham, she married, as her second husband, a Mr. Ward, of Burton-on-Trent. I have been endeavouring for several years to trace this second marriage, but so far without success. Can any reader of The Genealogist assist me? Neither the old Ward wills at Lichfield, nor the Registers of Burton-on-Trent, afford any but indirect evidence of the alliance. I should be grateful for any suggestions.

FRANK WARD.

BRIDGER.—The ancient family name of Bridger has been established both in Sussex and Hampshire for a great number of years. Can any reader give the origin of this surname and say where the family was first seated. I should also be glad to know what lands were held by Nicholas Bridger of Lyss, Hants, about the year 1650.

FRANÇOIS.

REDFERN AND REDFEARNE.—I shall be obliged for any information as to the origin of this surname.

SOME NOTES ON BARSHAM JUXTA BECCLES, CO. SUFFOLK.

THE REV. MAURICE SUCKLING, S.T.P., TWENTY-THIRD RECTOR
(1714-1730).

Of all the Rectors of Barsham, Maurice Suckling is, perhaps, the best known at the present time, as the maternal grandfather of Horatio Viscount Nelson, whose mother, Catherine Suckling, was born in the Rectory house and baptised in the Church there, on May the 9th and 27th, 1725. Maurice, who was third son of Robert Suckling,¹ junior, and of Sarah Shelton, his wife, was both born and bred up at Barsham Hall, during the residence there of his parents in the long occupancy of his grandfather, Robert, the old Squire of Woodton (son and heir of Charles Suckling of the Shipmoney List). Baptised May the 15th, 1676, he was of Trinity College, Cambridge, B.A., 1695, M.A., 1699. Appointed Rector of Woodton in 1701 by his father, and of Barsham in 1714 by his brother (Robert), by the direction of their father's will, proved April 18th, 1709, which desired the testator's executor to give "the next presentation of my living of Barsham to my son Maurice if he outlives the present incumbent."

On the death of the Rev. Benjamin Solley, December 9th, 1714, the Parish Register records:—"Maurice Suckling, Rector, was instituted January ye 3rd and inducted January ye 7th, 1714." He was made a Prebendary of Westminster in 1728. By his wife, Anne, daughter of Sir Charles Turner, Bart., he had one daughter and five sons, born and baptised at Barsham, and thus entered in the Registers:—

² Named Catherine after Catherine Shorter, first wife of Sir Robert Walpole, K.G.

³ His godfather was his great uncle, Capt. Galfridus Walpole, R.N.

1728.—February ye 18th, John son of Maurice and Anne Suckling.

1730.—Maurice Suckling, Rector of this parish, was buried ye 23rd of September 1730.

His will, dated the 13th of November, 1727, and proved, P.C.C., 23rd November, 1730, appointed Anne, his dearly beloved wife, sole executrix, and directed all his "temporal things" to be equally divided after her decease among his surviving children.

On the death of her husband, Mrs. Suckling, with her daughter Catherine, and sons Maurice and William (a baby in arms), removed to Beccles, and there resided until her daughter Catherine was married in Beccles Church on May the 11th, 1749, by the Rev. Thomas Page, Rector, to his quondam Curate, the Rev. Edmund Nelson, at that time Rector of Hilborough in Norfolk. In November 1755, Mrs. Suckling's uncle, Lord Walpole, presented Mr. Nelson to the living of Burnham Thorpe, Norfolk, and leased a house in that village to his niece, where she died on January the 5th, 1768, ten days after her daughter, Mrs. Nelson, who expired at the Parsonage the 26th, and was buried on the 30th December, 1767.

In pursuance of the directions in Mrs. Suckling's will, dated at Burnhamthorpe on the 20th of December, 1767, her remains were conveyed to Barsham for interment in the chancel there beside her husband, where the following inscription is still to be seen on a flat slate inside the altar rails:—

Quæ hoc posuit Marmor.

Maurice, second son of Rector Maurice, who early joined the Navy and rose to be its Comptroller, died in London and was interred in Barsham chancel in 1778, with no record of his burial, save the entry in the registers, until 1893, when the large bell, of pre-Reformation date (sold in the eighteenth century to pay for the repairs of the nave) was replaced by one cast by Messrs. Stainbank, of London and Harleston, Norfolk, and hung in the tower on the 24th of August of that year, and thus inscribed:—

"A. M. D. G. et In Memoriam Maurice Suckling, Capt. R.N., maternal uncle and early patron of Admiral Lord Nelson. Buried in this Church, July 27th, 1778. R.I.P.

D.D. { Nelson, 3rd Earl.
R. A. J. Suckling, Priest.
Thomas Suckling, Capt. R.N."

William, fifth son of Rector Maurice, died Comptroller of Customs, and was buried in Barsham chancel, where there is the following inscription to him:—

“Sacred to the memory of William Suckling, late of Kentish town, who departed this life the 15 of December, 1798, aged 68.”

THE REV. MATHIAS EARBURY, TWENTY-FOURTH RECTOR (1730—1735).

Little is known of Maurice Suckling's successor, Mathias Earbury, beyond the fact that he graduated B.A. at St. John's College, Cambridge, in 1710, and was of the same names as a Mathias Earbury, a non-juror, author of many political works, who died October 3rd, 1740; also of a Mathias Earbury, Vicar of Hofton (Hoveton), Norfolk, 1687-1731, B.A., 1619, at Trinity College, Cambridge; a Rev. Mathias Earbury, who married in 1715, to Mary Bayspoole, widow of the Rev. Charles Preston, who died Rector of Beeston, 1714. She died 1726. At all events the Rector of Barsham was old and infirm when he made his will, dated 19th April, 1734, and proved at Norwich the 25th of January, 1734-5,¹ two months before the death of his patron.

I, Mathias Earbury, Rector of Wootton & Barsham in Norfolk and Suffolk. Whereas by my age & infirmity I am rendered incapable of executing & discharging my duty in either of the parishes named & for & in consideration of the great labour & trouble & fatigue now undergone, and for long time past undertaken by my present Curate, Robert Suckling the younger, I do hereby nominate & appoint him my sole executor. Witnesses, Edward Kemp, Hannah Adley, James Jermy.

THE REV. ROBERT CLIPWELL, TWENTY-FIFTH RECTOR (1735—1740).

Was of Emanuel College, Cambridge, B.A., 1725; M.A., 1730; Curate to the Rev. Robert Camell, LL.D., Rector of Lound and Bardwell, co. Suffolk, who died 21st of November, 1732, and whom he succeeded there. Appointed Rector of Barsham² in 1735 by Mrs. Dorothy Suckling, widow. He was possibly son of Thomas Clipwell and Phillipa, his wife, of Woodton, but although there were several of his surname, so far his identity is not proved.

THE REV. THOMAS MISSENDEN,³ TWENTY-SIXTH RECTOR (1740-1774).

He was of Great Yarmouth; graduated B.A., 1714, M.A., 1718, at Pembroke College, Cambridge; was appointed to Barsham by Denzil Suckling in the thirteenth year of George the Second, and to Woodton, vice Robert Buxton, in 1743. He was buried at Barsham the 14th year of George the Third, after an incumbency there of thirty-four years. His will is dated 20th April, 1774, and was proved⁴ 6th August following.

² Also Rector of Woodton 1735 by same patron (Blomefield's "Norfolk," vol. x, p. 193); Chaplain of St. Benet's, Norwich, 1735 (Ibid., vol. iv, p. 190).

³ "Elizabeth, wife of Rev. T. Missenden, April 18, 1751, aged 55." (Tomb in St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth.)

⁴ Norwich Archdeaconry Court, 1774, fol. 121. It was proved by the executor, the Rev. Mr. Holden.

I, Thomas Missenden, of Great Yarmouth, Clerk. To my Son in law Edward Holden, Clerk, Rector of Gillingham, Norfolk, & his wife all my real and personal estate whatsoever equally between them. The said Edward Holden & his wife Susanna to be my executors. To my granddaughters Susanna Jane Holden & Elizabeth Holden, certain money I lent in mortgage on a house in Beccles for £300. Grandsons Edward Missenden Holden and Manning Holden. Servant Mrs. Alice Seaman.

"Mr. Missenden's tomb in Barsham Church," says Suckling, "especially attracts attention by the variously colored marbles of which it is composed. He died in 1774."

THE REV. EDWARD HOLDEN, TWENTY-SEVENTH RECTOR (1774—1797).

Matriculated at St. Edmund's Hall, Oxford, April the 16th, 1741, aged fifteen, son of Edward Holden, of Algerio (sic), Esq. He afterwards was incorporated at Pembroke College, Cambridge, B.A., January 17th 1744; M.A., 1766¹; Rector of Gillingham, 1760, and Winston and Windale, Norfolk.² He married Susanna, daughter of the above-named Rev. Thomas Missenden, and by her was father of the Rev. Manning Holden (born at Yarmouth), of Caius College, Cambridge, aged seventeen, 4th July 1769, Rector of Weeting, Norfolk, 1795, died February 2nd, 1804.³ Also of Charles Holden, of Caius College, aged eighteen, 1784, Vicar of Great Cornard, Suffolk, who married the sister of J. G. Sparrow, of Gosfield Place, Essex, and died 29th November 1849. Mr. Holden's daughter Susanna Jane married in 1775 to the Rev. John Love, of Caius College, Cambridge, son of John Gosling Love, Mayor of Great Yarmouth,⁴ and by her had, with other issue, Edward Missenden Love, clerk (died 1865, aged 82), and Susan Love, who married Rev. Ed. South Thurlow. Another of Mr. Holden's daughters married in 1803, Admiral Sir John Lawford, K.C.B. Sir John died 1812, aged 86.⁵ The Rev. Edward Holden, who was made Rector of Barsham 1774 by the executors of Denzil Suckling, died May 29th, 1797.⁶

THE REV. HORACE SUCKLING, TWENTY-EIGHTH RECTOR (1797—1828).

Second son of William Suckling of Banham Haugh, Norfolk, and grandson of Maurice Suckling, D.D., born 1770; admitted January 22nd, 1787, at Trinity College, Cambridge; B.A., 1793; M.A., 1796; Curate of Burnham Thorpe (to the Rev. Edmund Nelson); Rector of Barsham, vice the Rev. Edward Holden, 1797. Married 19th November 1797, at St. Pancras, London, to Catherine, eldest daughter of George Jackson, and by her had four sons and two daughters, of whom Elizabeth, wife of the Rev. John Webb Flavell, died July 30th 1833, and Horace George Suckling, died 18th February 1829, are both buried at Barsham. On the 18th of November 1816 in the Barsham Court Rolls (Maurice Wm. Suckling, lord), "the Rev. Horace Suckling acknowledged to hold a piece of waste land situate at Barsham upon the Common Green, lately enclosed by him by the lord's permission, upon which he hath erected one small tenement. . . ." He also enclosed a portion of the Churchyard for the improvement of the approach to the Rectory (restored in 1869). He died in April 1828.¹ His will, proved the same year, by his executors, the widow, Catherine, and Robert Fiske of Beccles, is of no genealogical interest.

In May 1905 (the centenary year of Trafalgar), the Rev. Horace Suckling's grandson, Captain Acton, joined with the present writer in erecting a beautiful heraldic window, after the designs of Mr. F. C. Eden, in memory of Maurice Suckling, D.D., his wife and descendants; one half of which is devoted to the Rev. Horace Suckling, buried in Barsham Church, 12th April, 1828; to Catherine his wife, died 7th July 1861; and their children, all baptised in Barsham Church. The other half is dedicated to Maurice Suckling, D.D., Anne, his wife, Maurice Suckling, Captain R.N., 1778, William Suckling, 1798, and Catherine Nelson. The shields, which are connected by tendrils of honeysuckle, blazon Suckling impaling Turner, Suckling impaling Walpole (for Maurice Suckling, Captain R.N., married his first cousin, Mary Walpole), Suckling impaling Rumsey; also the arms of Nelson, Jackson, etc., with this dedication:—"The Lord grant unto them that they may find mercy of the Lord in that day."

THE REV. JOHN LILLESTONE, TWENTY-NINTH RECTOR (1828-1839).

The Rev. John Lillestone, who succeeded Horace Suckling, and was instituted 26th April 1828 ("Ipswich Journal"), was of a Beccles family, whose ancestor apparently was a Thomas Lillestone, who paid for two hearths in Barsham in 1673.

Samuel Lillestone, Esq., of Beccles, is said to have purchased the presentation of Barsham for his son, from Alfred Inigo Suckling, and appears as patron on the institution of the Rev. John Lillestone.² A Samuel Lillestone, buried at Barsham in 1829, aged seventy-two, is described as "of Beccles," and was probably a son of William Lillestone, buried there in 1792, aged sixty-eight, possibly a descendant of John Lillestone, buried there 1646, aged fifty-five.

The Rev. John Lillestone married at Whepstead, Suffolk, November 1829, Adelaide, youngest daughter of the Rev. Thomas Image, Rector of Whepstead.³

The following obituary notice is from the "Gentleman's Magazine," vol. xii, p. 209:—

"June 23, 1839.—At Gravesend, aged 41, the Rev. John Lillestone, Rector of Barsham. He was of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, B.A., 1819, and was presented to his living in 1828 by the Rev. A. I. Suckling."¹

THE REV. ALFRED INIGO FOX SUCKLING, THIRTIETH RECTOR
(1839—1856).

The Rev. A. I. Fox Suckling, instituted Rector of Barsham July the 10th, 1839, on his own presentation, descended from the elder brother² of Maurice Suckling (Rector 1714—1730), and was only son of Alexander Fox, by Anna Maria, eldest daughter of Robert Suckling, Esq., and of Susanna Webb. Lord of the Manors of Barsham, Shipmeadow, and Woodton, he had inherited the family estates on the death of his uncle (Maurice William Suckling, December 1st, 1820), and assumed the name and arms of Suckling, in compliance with the testamentary injunctions of his maternal grandfather. He graduated at Pembroke College, Cambridge, LL.B. in 1824, and married at Burgh Apton, on the 31st of January 1746, to Lucy Clementina, eldest daughter of Samuel Clarke,³ by his wife Lucy, daughter of Joseph Fox, of Worlingham, and granddaughter of Joseph Fox, of Stradbroke, by Elizabeth Smallpiece.⁴ He was author of the "History and Antiquities of the County of Suffolk," two vols., fol., London, 1846-8; "Memorials of the Antiquities of the County of Essex," 4to, London, 1845; "Selections from the works of Sir John Suckling," royal 8vo, London, 1836. His "Antique and Armorial Collections," 1821—1839, sixteen vols., 4to, consisting of notices of various architectural and monumental antiquities in several counties of England and in Picardy, form Add. MSS. 18,476—18,491, British Museum.

By his wife, who was buried in Barsham Churchyard in 1891, Mr. Suckling had, with six daughters, four sons. Robert Alfred, Priest of Bussage, died November 4th, 1851. Maurice Shelton, died Rector of Shipmeadow, 1894. Charles Richard, died s.p., 1891. Henry Edward, Rector of North Wootton. Mr. Suckling died at Jersey after a short illness, May the 3rd, 1856, aged sixty, and was succeeded by his grandson Robert Alfred John, then a minor.

THE REV. JOHN YELLOLY, THIRTY-FIRST RECTOR (1856—1868).

The Rev. John Yelloly, presented in 1856 by his sister, Anna Maria, widow of the Rev. Robert Alfred Suckling⁵ (buried in Barsham Churchyard 29th June, 1881), was eldest son of John Yelloly, of Cavendish Hall, Suffolk, by his wife, Sarah, daughter of Samuel Tyssen, of Narborough Hall, Norfolk. Born in 1809, he was of Trinity College, Cambridge, B.A. 1832, M.A. 1834, Priest 1833, Perpetual Curate of Tring 1845 to 1856, Rector of Barsham 1856 to 1868. He married at Westerham, Kent, to Henrietta, daughter of James Patterson, of London (died s.p. 1889). He died¹ at Clare, Suffolk, on March the 29th, 1892, and was buried at Stanstead in that county, aged eighty-three.

THE REV. ROBERT ALFRED JOHN SUCKLING, THIRTY-SECOND RECTOR (1868—1880).

He was his own patron to the living of Barsham on June 27th, 1868, having been born in 1812, and succeeded his grandfather in the manor in 1856. In response to a call from the parish of St. Peter's, London Docks, he resigned in 1880, after an incumbency of thirteen years, during which time he placed a new roof upon the Rectory, built fresh stables, and made many alterations in the interior of the Church, notably the restoration of the Leper window. Since his resignation of the living he has erected three carved figures on the ancient rood loft, and contributed to the dedication of four new bells to the memory of Captain Maurice Suckling, Rev. John Yelloly, Father Lowder, and Father Mackonochie.

THE REV. EDWARD POTE WILLIAMS, THIRTY-THIRD RECTOR
(1880—1889).

The Rev. E. P. Williams, who succeeded to Barsham in 1880, was of Christ's College, Cambridge, B.A. in 1859, M.A. 1877, Priest 1862, was formerly Curate of Colbourne and Chiselhurst. He resigned the living of Barsham in 1889 to become Chaplain to St. Mary's, Brondesbury Park, and is now one of the Assistant Clergy of St. Matthias, Earl's Court, London.

THE REV. ALLAN COATES, THIRTY-FOURTH AND PRESENT RECTOR,

Succeeded Mr. Williams on the presentation of the Rev. Robert A. J. Suckling (Patron). M.A., Oxon., 1885; Priest, 1886; formerly Curate of St. Barnabas, Oxford.

"A.M.D.G. et in piam memoriam Joh^{is} Yelloly Presb^{ri} istius ecclesiae quondam rectoris cujus anim^{ae} propitiatur Deus has imagines D.D. Rob^{us} Suckling Pres^{br} A.D. 1893."

A bell was also hung in the belfry, thus inscribed:—

"Unus Deus Miserere,

"John Yelloly, Rector,

"Obiit March 29, 1892. R.I.P."

THE FAMILY OF CLAYTON, OF GREAT GRIMSBY, Co. LINCOLN.

BY THE REV. W. G. D. FLETCHER, M.A., F.S.A.

The following account of the family of Clayton of Great Grimsby will be of interest, inasmuch as the Claytons were ancestors of our great poet Tennyson. It is compiled chiefly from the Registers of Great Grimsby, which were carefully edited by Dr. Stephenson and printed in 1889, supplemented by a MS. pedigree of Field drawn up circa 1800, and by a pedigree of Tennyson printed in the late Joseph Foster's "Our Noble and Gentle Families of Royal Descent," pp. 20-26. There are 122 Clayton entries in the Great Grimsby Registers between the years 1552 and 1801. Amongst the wills proved in the Consistory Court of Lincoln are these:—

- 1571. Claytonne, Gilbert; Great Grimsby. II 14.
- 1575. Claton, George; Great Grimsby. I, 70; II, 182.
- 1613. Clayton, Bridget; Grimsby. 638 and 639.
- 1637. Clayton, Christopher; Grimsby. 124.

In the following pedigree, the baptisms, marriages and burials all took place at Great Grimsby, except where otherwise stated.

In the middle of the sixteenth century there were three families of the name who appear in the Registers:—

- A. George Clayton, buried 13 Nov. 1575, will proved at Lincoln 1575, married 13 Oct. 1563 Ursula [surname not recorded], and had issue, Richard, baptised 1 Dec. and buried 6 Dec. 1565; and either Anne or Jane, both baptised 1566. Elizabeth, daughter of George, was baptized 19 Aug 1563, perhaps by a former wife.
- B. William Clayton, had a daughter Dorothy buried 6 March 1565.
- C. John Clayton, Alderman of Grimsby, was buried 24 April 1590; he married 24 Jan. 1552-3 Isabell Short, and she was buried 11 Nov. 1594. There is no proof as yet, but I conjecture that this John was father of Christopher Clayton, the undoubted ancestor of the Tennysons; and unfortunately his will is not to be found at Lincoln or in the P.C.C.

The first undoubted member of this family was,

CHRISTOPHER CLAYTON, Alderman of Grimsby, and Churchwarden 1629, buried there 21 May 1637, will proved at Lincoln 1637 (No. 124). By his wife Anne he had issue,

- 1. Christopher, of whom next.
- 2. Thomas, baptised 31 March 1631, and buried 17 Jan. 1636-7.

3. Anne, baptised 16 Sept. 1633.
4. Robert, baptised 29 Oct. 1635, and buried 13 Jan. 1636-7.
5. Elizabeth, baptised 21 Dec. 1637, buried 8 April 1670, married 13 July 1665 to Nicholas Godhelpe, Alderman of Grimsby (he was buried 19 Feb. 1678-9) and had issue,
 1. Christopher Godhelpe, baptised 24 May 1666, and buried 25 Jan. 1666-7.
 2. Anne Godhelpe, baptised 24 Nov. 1667.
 3. Robert Godhelpe, baptised 31 March 1670.
 4. Elizabeth Godhelpe, baptised 31st March and buried 7 May 1670

CHRISTOPHER CLAYTON, Alderman of Grimsby, and Churchwarden 1660, Mayor of Grimsby 1663, baptised 9 Dec. 1628, died circa 1672-90. By his wife Mary he had issue,

1. Christopher, baptised 17 and buried 20 Aug. 1662.
2. Mary, baptised 17 Sept. 1663, buried 6 May 1673.
3. George, of whom next.
4. Anne, baptised 5 Jan. 1665-6.
5. Elizabeth, baptised 9 July 1668.
6. Martha, baptised 21 Feb. 1671-2.

GEORGE CLAYTON, Alderman of Grimsby, baptised 9 Nov. 1664, buried 4 Oct. 1716, married Elizabeth, dau. of David Field¹ of Swinhope, by Elizabeth Hynman, his wife (she was baptised at Swinhope 6 Dec. 1666, and buried at Grimsby 18 Oct. 1755, aged 88 years; Will dated 13 Feb. 1755, proved at Lincoln by her grandsons, Christopher and Jonathan Clayton), by whom he had issue,

1. Christopher, Alderman of Grimsby, baptised 22 Nov. 1687, buried 16 June 1752, aged 64; married Susanna [surname unknown]; his widow married secondly William Tennyson, and died at Hull 24 Feb. 1810, aged 83 years. By her second husband she had issue four daughters, Elizabeth, Eleanor, Dorothy, and Fanny.
2. David, baptised 4 Aug. 1692, buried 17 June 1765, aged 72 years.
3. George, of whom next.
4. Jonathan, Alderman of Grimsby, baptised 17 Sept. 1697, buried 7 Oct. 1732.

GEORGE CLAYTON, Alderman of Grimsby, and Baltic merchant, baptised 31 Jan. 1694-5, died circa 1734-40, married at North

1. Christopher, Alderman of Grimsby and High Steward, and Churchwarden 1766, baptised 12 Feb. 1720-1, buried 2 July 1794, aged 73. (See Gent. Mag., LXIV, ii, 677, and Eur. Mag., 79).
2. George, baptised 23 March 1721-2, and buried 21 June 1722.

ELIZABETH CLAYTON (fifth child, and presumably heiress of George Clayton), baptised 14 Jan. 1725-6, died 6 and was buried 19 Jan. 1755 at Hedon in Holderness, married to MICHAEL TENNYSON, of Preston, co. York, and of Stainton, apothecary. He was son of Ralph Tennyson of Wrawby, by Dorothy, daughter of John Chapman, of Pickering, and was baptised at Barton, 20 Sept. 1721, and died 6 and was buried 8 Oct. 1796 at Hedon in Holderness. Michael and Elizabeth Tennyson had issue,

1. George Clayton Tennyson, baptised 28 Dec. 1747, buried 13 Jan. 1747-8, at Hedon.
2. George Tennyson, of Bayons Manor and Usselby Hall, J.P. and D.L., and M.P. for Bletchingley, born 7 Feb. and baptised at Hedon 8 Feb. 1749-50, died

¹ Ralph Tennyson was baptised at Barton, 14 June 1720, and buried at Preston, 20 April 1767. By Dorothy his wife he had issue an only daughter, Dorothy, baptised 18 June, 1741, buried 4 Dec. 1809, married 23 May 1782 to William Watson, surgeon, of Grimsby (he was buried 21 Jan. 1803, aged 50). William Watson and Dorothy had issue a son, William, baptised 17 Aug., and buried 7 Dec. 1784.

Ralph Tennyson was brother of Michael Tennyson, who married Elizabeth Clayton, and of William Tennyson, who married Susanna Clayton. See Pedigree of Tennyson in Lincolnshire Pedigrees, III, 956 (Harl. Society, vol. lii).

4 July 1835, married 1775 Mary, daughter and heiress of John Turner of Caistor (she died 20 Aug 1825), by whom he had issue,

1. Rev. George Clayton Tennyson (father of ALFRED, LORD TENNYSON, Poet Laureate).
2. Charles Tennyson.
3. Elizabeth Tennyson.
4. Mary Tennyson.

3. Elizabeth Tennyson, baptised 21 Feb. 1750-1, and buried 11 March 1752, at Hedon.

4. Anne Tennyson, baptised at Hedon 29 April 1753, married William Raines of Wyton, co. York, and had issue a daughter.

For further particulars about the Tennyson family, reference should be made to Foster's Our Noble and Gentle Families of Royal Descent, 1885, page 23, etc. Through the marriage of George Clayton with Dorothy Hildyard, the Claytons and Tennysons have several descents from Edward III. (See Pedigree of Hildyard in Foster's Yorkshire Pedigrees.) Any additions to the Clayton pedigree will be welcomed.

A FIFTEENTH CENTURY ABDUCTION.

Four miles south-west of Grantham, at a meeting place of little valleys down which run becks in the midst of old trees and avenues, lies Denton, the "tun" in the wooded valley. No mention of it is known before that in the great survey of 1086, when ten carucates, which had formed part of Queen Edith's Grantham possession, probably a "morning gift" to her on marriage with the Confessor, were of the land of the King. Of this portion no details remain, for the return made by the Wapentaken-men was omitted. Of other land, the Conqueror had given, together with the manor, one carucate six bovates liable to Danegelt which Uctebrand had held, to Robert de Stadford, son of Robert de Toeni, ancestor of the Earls of Stafford and Dukes of Buckingham.¹ He, and Goisfrid of him, held half a carucate, three villeins, two bordars with one plough, and twenty-eight acres of pasture (worth in King Edward's time forty shillings, then twenty shillings). This land, like all the rest of the parish, was in soke of Grantham, consequently subject to the customs of it, amongst which was one of inheritance by which all tenements went to the post-natus, or junior, that is to the second son.¹ This Goisfrid, or Godfrey, headed the pedigree of the de Denton family, and, according to it, married Amabilia, sister of the Prince of Conde, whose arms, three toads erect Saturn (Sable) on a field Sol (Or) impaled with his, Sable and Ermine per pale indented, were in a window of Denton Church in 1649.² The earliest instance of the place-name as a surname is 1166, when Alexander de Denton³ held half a fee in the three fees Osbert Basewin held of Robert de Stafford, whose heiress, Millicent, married Hervey Bagot. In the next century military land in Denton was taxed as a third part of a fee. If the half fee had been based on the twenty shillings valuation of 1086, this shows the valuation to have fallen to 13s. 4d. It was held circa 1216 by Alan de Denton;⁴ circa 1252 by William, son of Alan;⁵ in 1281 the heir of Alan, son of William de Denton, held it and was a minor;⁶ in 1303 this heir, William, son of Alan, responded for it,⁷ he may have left an heiress or changed the surname, for in 1346 John, son of William, son of Alan Frankelyn, responded for this one-third fee which William, son of Alan, had held.⁸ During the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries records tell of a great many bearing the name de Denton, several with the Christian name Geoffrey. If all were scions of one family, younger sons must usually have lived on small portions of land, and not sought fortune elsewhere. The manor given to Robert de Stadford has not yet been found again in records till 1337, when it was held by Sir William de Lunderthorp, Knight, probably in right of his wife Joan,⁹ but her parentage is not known. They may have had an heiress who married John de Denton or his son William, for these became the principal family in the parish, probably living at the manor house, and a descendant, Thomas Denton, sold the manor 1537. William, son of John de Denton, swore to support the Lords Appellant 1379;¹⁰ his son John, mentioned 1389,¹¹ probably married an heiress and moved to Osbournby, fourteen miles to the east; there John Denton was taxed 1435,¹² and two of the actors in the abduction lived. Another John de Denton had custody of a neighbour's lands 1366 to 1387;¹³ held in Denton by military service, was styled "Clerk" 1371 and 1373,¹⁴ and died about Hic jacet Johannes de Denton quondam clericus . . . Deus. Amen.

 And over the figure,

Credo quod Redemptor meus viv.

His son Richard practised law,¹ was on the Commission of Peace and Array 1419 to 1420,² 1422 to 1425,³ King's Escheator of Lincolnshire 1416 to 1417 and 1422 to 1423;⁴ during the latter term he had custody of Somerton Castle in the King's hands by the death of the Duke of Clarence till granted to Radulph de Cromwell;⁵ in 1415 he signed a deed at his hall of Denton,⁶ and in 1419 paid 6s. 8d. into the Hanaper for license to close a piece of lane for enlargement of his house,⁷ which was probably the messuage mentioned 1281,⁸ and stood where still remains part of an Elizabethan mansion, the home of his descendants in the female line, and known as the Ivy House. He died before 1435, when Agnes Denton, his widow, paid tax.⁹ Round his broken slab tomb run the words,

*Hic jacet Ricardus Denton quondam*¹⁰ . . . cujus a'r'e p'piciet'
Deus. Amen.

On a similar memorial to Agnes, his widow,

Hic jacet Agnes Denton quondam . . . cujus a'r'e p'piciet'
Deus. Amen.

They had two sons, John and Richard. John married soon after 1435, Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Robert Fenn, of the neighbouring parish of Harlaxton, merchant of the Staple of Calais; their only child Agnes was the subject of the abduction. The following particulars of it are taken from the petition presented by her and her husband Robert Upton to William of Waynflete, Bishop of Winchester, as Chancellor of England,¹¹ an office he held from 11th October 1458 to 7th July 1460. John Denton "held and died seized of landes and tenements in Denton, Stainwith and Grantham worth xxli yerely. Agnes then beyng but of the age of half a yere; and because she was of tendre age, John Denton of Osberny, Sir Thomas Denton of the same town, and Richard Denton of Denton, Esquyer, pretendingy to hafe hadde estate in the same tenements be Richard Denton fader of the said John, and aiell of Agnes, entered on to the sayd tenements, and all the yssues and profites of the sayd tenements tooke and receyved during the term of xvii yeres, the summe of the which in the saide tyme amounteth to cccxlii: as wale may be provyd." Owing to this usurpation against the defenceless child, might being right, the times very troublous, with perhaps some lawfulness in the soke custom of the younger son's inheritance, Elizabeth probably returned with her child to her old home at Harlaxton, and lived there nearly five years till her death, when they, "under the colour of a feoffment made to theym to the use of the said Agnes, your beseecher, entered into certayn lands and tenements that were Elizabeth' moder of the said Agnes in Grantham, Gonerdbly and Harleston, immediately after the dethe of the said Elizabeth to the value of x marks yerely over the reprintsals, and all the yssues and profites of theym tooke and receyved xii yeres the value of the which amounteth by the said tyme to iii-xxli"; (i.e., fourscore £). It seems by this that the unlucky girl was ousted from her mother's as well as from her father's property, without any maintenance, as none is mentioned in the petition, and had to live with relations and friends at Boston, till "beyng of the age of xvii yeres, at the which tyme she made a contracte of matrymonie wyth the said Robert your beseecher nowe heyr husbonde, the which they hadde proposed in tyme covenable to have complesshid and fulfilld." This made the deforciant's plan to retain what they had wrongfully withheld, so they "ymagenyng to defraude theym of the said money be theym of the said landes so received, and of the other goodes to the said Agnes by hyr said moder bequethed, and also to dysherite theym of the grete parte of the saide tenements, under the colour of a feyned frendeshyp sent to hyr be the said Sir Thomas to come to thym from Boston to Osbernby ther to take hyr disportes." Osbornby is about eighteen miles measured direct from Boston. Her journey to accept this cousin's invitation was probably performed partly by water up the Witham, to some point where a road led southwards, as the undrained fens on the direct way were hardly navigable. On arrival "they holde hyre after agayn hyre will in strayte keypyng as a prisonares all a hole yere and xvi wekys, and sent hyre dysgyssed to diverse places changyng her name at every the place in dystyte of hyr said husbonde and of hyr frendes, so that she no might see hyr husbonde nor he speak with hyre be no meen." Whilst this hide and seek went on they tried to make a bargain with Robert for his betrothed wife, "unto suche tyme as they hadde of heyre said husbonde xl marks of money for her deliverance," and a discharge for all they had withheld, "gute suertes be diverse obligations that he shuld make theyr acqytance of the said money and godes be theym so receyved, and also to sofre hem to have a grete parte of the saide lande by force of which obligacione that he shuld make theym acqytance as by the condicions of theym openly may approv." Agnes recovered her freedom, but whether Robert signed any agreement or discharge does not appear, as the defendants' response to the petition has not survived; probably he did not. The deforciant refused to pay up arrears and retained more than half the property; "by the said feynes and pretended feoffments they withhelde fro your said besechers all the said summes of money by theym so receyved and landes and tenements of the heritage of the said Agnes in Denton and Grantham to the value of xx marks yerely, against faythe, trouthe and gode consciens, which to your said besechers is utter destruction and to theyr heyres shall be perpetuall disheritson, without your gracios lordeschipp and socour to theym schewyng in this behaffe. Wherefore please your holy fladerhode graciously to conceyde thies premisses and howe your saide besechiers hathe no remedy in this case at the common lawe." No judgment on this petition is preserved. If they did not recover arrears the Denton property was regained, for in 1462, apparently after the death of Agnes, her trustees settled her lands in Denton, Staynswath and Welby, with the manor "mesne" (leased) of Denton, on her husband Robert Upton for life, then on their children John and Agnes, with remainder to Magister William Upton, who seems to have been Robert's father.¹ Richard Denton, by right or by arrangement, continued to occupy the house and lands at Denton. He served on Grand Juries 1452-3.² In 1466 a general pardon to Richard Denton, alias Wymbold, alias Wymeswold, of Denton, Esquire, was granted for all offences committed before 3rd July previous.³ This alias may have been the maiden name of his wife Matilda,⁴ daughter or grand-daughter of Richard Wymeswolde, who bought a messuage and land in Denton 1402,⁵ and was living there 1416.⁶ Agnes' son John was living at Harlaxton 1479, married to Joan; his trustees released the Denton lands to Richard Denton, he to enfeof as soon as John and Joan had heirs of body.⁶ In 1479 Richard gave a bond for £100 English money due to James Goldsmyth, of Grantham, merchant.⁶ This is the last mention of him; he left no children and his property went to the heirs of Agnes. John and Joan Upton had an only child Elizabeth (died 1538), who married William Williams, of Aberconway and Stamford (dead 1537). Elizabeth left several children: from Anthony, a younger son, descends the family of Williams-Freeman, of Clapton, Northants; her eldest is represented in the female line by Sir Charles Welby, Bart., who owns all Denton and resides there.

The son of either John or Sir Thomas Denton married Joan, daughter and eventual coheirress of Sir Thomas de la Launde, attainted and beheaded at Grantham 1469 for his part in the Welles insurrection, which ended at Loosecoat Field, near Stamford. Her brother Sir Thomas was restored in blood and estates 1485, and died 1503, leaving so complicated a will¹ that his executors refused the responsibility, and it was proved as if he had died intestate. It is remarkable for the use of "à" in the place of "de," which had gone out of fashion in Lincolnshire 1420 to 1430; thus Nicholas de Tye is called in it Nicholas à Tye, and John de Tyd, John à Tyd. Joan, then married thirdly to Thomas Kelham, united with her son Thomas Denton to sell (1532-7)² their ninth part in the many manors and lands in Lincolnshire and Northumberland which had formed the de la Launde possessions, receiving £1,683 for the greater portion thereof. Denton Manor, which had not belonged to that property, was included in a sale of 1537.³

She had two other sons, George and Richard. Richard Denton, probably the son of the latter, bought Rouse Manor in Skillington,⁴ five miles south of Denton. His descendant William who paid £216 composition for his estates to the Commonwealth,⁵ married secondly 1643 Elizabeth, daughter of John and Selina Williams, of Denton. His son William, by his first marriage, was, with Thomas, sen., and jun., and Richard, taxed in Skillington 1671;⁶ he bought land there 1680.⁷ It is not known whether any descendant in the male line remains of the ancient family of Denton of Denton.

THE SCOTS PEERAGE. Edited by Sir James Balfour Paul, Lord Lyon King of Arms. Vol. iii (Crawford to Falkland). Edinburgh (David Douglas).

As this valuable work proceeds, the necessity for a thorough overhauling of the pedigrees of the nobility of Scotland becomes more and more apparent. It is not, of course, pretended that the Scots Peerage will settle all the knotty points which have long perplexed students of Scottish genealogy; indeed, the new light thrown by modern discoveries may be said to have increased these puzzles tenfold, but the mere fact that the ground has been cleared and difficulties fairly faced will do much to bring about a solution of the problems which still require to be elucidated.

The reader cannot fail to be struck by the marked caution which the majority of the writers engaged upon this undertaking have displayed, a hesitation which perhaps reaches its extreme limit in the article on the Lords Crichton, where the summary of the early Crichton pedigree is somewhat disjointed and confusing.

Mr. Anderson, writing on the Earls of Eglinton, rightly draws attention to the very uncertain character of the earlier generations as stated by Sir William Fraser in his Memorials of the Montgomeries. The same learned writer is responsible for the pedigree of the Dunbars, Earls of Dunbar and March, and here it will be observed that if the descent be as he has given it, the very definite claim made by George, the tenth Earl, to blood relationship to Henry IV of England, in his well-known letter to that sovereign, must have been without foundation in fact, which hardly appears probable.

The chief interest of this third volume lies not with the historic houses of Scotland, such as the Douglasses and Lindsays, recently published works having left little new to be narrated concerning them, but rather with the families of lesser degree, though of equally ancient origin, whose pedigrees have been practically left untouched since the appearance of Wood's Douglas, and have now been compiled afresh after a careful study of family writs and other evidences. As an example, Mr. Keith W. Murray's excellent Elibank article may be taken. Wood gave John Murray of Blackbarony, who fell at Flodden, as son of Andrew, second son of William Murray of Blackbarony, but it is here shown on incontrovertible evidence that this John was of quite a different stock, being of the Falahill line, and having acquired Blackbarony by resignation made in his favour by his namesake, John Murray of that place, 1 May 1507. To Mr. Murray is also due the descent of the first Earl of Dysart, which has never been hitherto correctly stated by Peerage writers.

Of the articles contributed by the Editor the most important is that on the Ramsays, Earls of Dalhousie, where at least two notable changes have been made in Wood's pedigree. Alexander Ramsay, another of the victims of Flodden, is given as great-grandson, not grandson of Sir Alexander Ramsay to whom a charter of the lands of Dalhousie was granted in 1456; and John Ramsay, Earl of Holderness, whom Wood made brother of the first peer of this family, is now said to have been son of Robert Ramsay, of Wyliecleuch. Another article upon which Sir James Balfour Paul has evidently bestowed considerable pains is that which deals with James King, the famous soldier of the Thirty Years War, who was created Lord Eythin in 1642. The particulars here given are a great improvement upon the scanty pedigree in Wood. Lord Eythin is proved to have been son of David King of Warbestor Hoy in Orkney, and not of the head of the house, James King of Barra, but neither here nor in the Complete Peerage is there any mention of his will. The omission is probably due to an administration which was granted 28 October 1652, and also to the fact that the will is calendared at Somerset House, under "Ithen." It was dated at "Hamborry," 10 June 1646, and was not proved until 9 November 1667 (P.C.C., 155 Carr). The identity of the testator is clear from the direction contained in it that "James King, my Page, shall have of that moneys that is oweing me by the Marquesse of Newcastle and divers others in England when it is obteyned 3000 marks Scotts." In the probate Lord Eythin is described as a bachelor.

The spirited heraldic illustrations which adorn this volume do not always accord with the blazon given in the text. For instance, in the article upon the Earls of Douglas we are told that the crowned heart appears upon none of the seals of the Earls of that house, and was not used much before 1600, but the sketch on p. 132 shows the crown. The quarterly coat of the Earls of Cromartie, as recorded in the Lyon Register, is described on p. 86, but the illustration on p. 69 follows a different arrangement, the shield being in tierce, and probably copied from an old seal or drawing.

THE KNIGHTS OF ENGLAND. By William A. Shaw, Litt. D. London (Sherratt & Hughes). 2 vols.

A compilation of lists of Knights, such as the one before us, must represent many years of hard and thoughtful work, for which Dr. Shaw is entitled to receive the highest praise. His introduction should be read with deep attention, being a very learned diagnosis of a subject that has been touched by other authorities in the past, and containing, as it does, new and interesting theories on the origin of the Bath, and of Knights Bachelors.

Taking the Orders seriatim we note that for his list of the Knights of the Garter, the compiler has drawn upon Ashmole, Anstis, Nicolas, and chiefly Beltz for the earlier portion, and for the later, the Register of the Garter and MSS. in the office of Garter King of Arms. For the Knights of the Thistle and St. Patrick the lists are based on the original records of the Orders, the latter being supplemented by G.E.C.'s list in the Genealogist (N.S., v, 187), and his manuscript continuation of the same.

For the Knights of the Bath Dr. Shaw has tapped various sources, and he remarks that he is convinced that of these Knights a "rich harvest" awaits anyone who will go over the same field as Anstis did nearly two hundred years ago, namely, the original Rolls and Wardrobe Accounts in the Public Record Office, a task we fear but few are likely to attempt.

In regard to the modern Orders, we also note that if a register of the Star of India exists it is in the custody of the Secretary of the Order at Calcutta, and was inaccessible for the purpose of this work, so that the list has had to be compiled from the London Gazette, and other not very trustworthy sources, except so far as concerns living Knights, who are vouched for by the Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood, the office, by the way, for which these volumes are printed and published, giving them a semi-official status.

In mentioning the Gazette we are reminded that Dr. Shaw points out in his Preface that the "superstitious reverence" he once felt for that publication has suffered a severe shock on comparing its dates with the dates of the Warrants of Appointment, a difference particularly prominent in relation to the Order of St. Michael and St. George. To prevent in the future this inconsistency he offers two alternative methods for gazetting, both of which have objections, and it appears to us that notifications in the Gazette should state exactly what they purport to be, whether nominations, appointments, investitures, or dispensations, with their respective dates.

The list of Knights of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order is the most unsatisfactory, so we are told, for there being apparently no original records extant, it has had to be compiled from a Hanoverian publication, and collated with that by Sir Harris Nicolas and John Frost. This and the trouble with the Gazette are trifles, however, compared with the difficulty Dr. Shaw has had in connection with the Knights Bachelors, other than those dubbed in Ireland, a complete list of whom, compiled by Mr. D. G. Burtchaell, is incorporated with Dr. Shaw's work. For the early period, the British Museum has yielded some thirty lists, of which Dr. Shaw remarks "no words of mine can convey an adequate idea of the welter, chaos, confusion and contradictions of these manuscripts." Having spent no less than four years in attempting to collate and trying to verify them, he regards the outcome as "the most distressingly unsatisfactory piece of historical work" he has ever set his hand to, a lament which is repeated in a minor key in relation to the records of dubbings of Knights Bachelors in modern times. As regards these same Knights, and those of the Bath, Dr. Shaw enters largely into their origin in the Introduction, and raises certain questions "which will provoke discussion and probably dissent." He particularly disclaims any contentious spirit in advancing theories which may be considered merely as suggestions for the examination of scholars. For lack of space we are prohibited from criticising his views, but we are inclined to endorse his conjecture that bathing, as part of the ceremonial of Knighthood, was not in full use until the reign of Edward III. We shall be glad to see an unbiassed discussion on various points raised, especially in regard to his conclusion that miles, anterior to 1250, signified simply a soldier, and that after that date a military tenant-in-chief was theoretically entitled to the dignity of Knighthood, and that thenceforth miles was the accepted term for a Knight Bachelor [Battelier].

COLLECTIONS FOR A HISTORY OF STAFFORDSHIRE. Edited by the William Salt Archaeological Society. Vol. ix. New Series. London (Harrison and Sons), 1906.

No greater compliment can be paid to the useful work which is being carried on by the Salt Society than the simple fact that a genealogist who happens not to be a Staffordshire man, can never take up one of the volumes which it issues with such commendable regularity without being forthwith consumed with regret that his ancestors did not hail from that county. The present volume is mainly taken up with Elizabethan Chancery Proceedings, 1560-1570, which provide most valuable material for genealogical investigations, and which have been admirably abstracted by Mr. W. K. Boyd, whose labours at the Record Office are well known. Some of these suits are specially interesting from the light they throw on the dislocation of legal tenures caused by the Dissolution of the Monasteries, as in Bundle 2, No. 73, where the defendant, Ralph Rudyard, pleads a lease from Thomas Whitney, the last Abbot of Dieulacres, of all tithes in the lordship of Rudyard. Another suit (Bundle 7, No. 9) illustrates the appellate jurisdiction exercised by the Court of Chancery over decisions of manorial courts. A jury of the Manor of Tettenhall Regis had found the defendants not guilty of killing, with mastiffs, a certain cow belonging to the plaintiff, and the latter prays for a writ of subpœna to be directed to the said jury, on the ground that they had heard the culprits confess in open Court to the killing of the cow. According to the common law it would have been necessary to establish the allegation that mastiffs had been employed.

An able and well written article on the parentage of James de Audley, one of the heroes of Poitiers, and an original Knight of the Garter, is contributed by Mr. Josiah Wedgwood, M.P., who in his endeavours to clear up the confusion which has naturally arisen from the existence of four James de Audleys at the same period, has been materially assisted by the evidences printed by the Society in previous volumes. He shows conclusively that the particular James in question was an illegitimate son of James de Audley, of Stratton Audley, by Eve Clavering, a great heiress, who had been the wife of his young kinsman Thomas Audley. The connection between the parents of this famous soldier is a curious one, and Mr. Wedgwood suggests that Eve may have preferred an irregular tie to marriage, in order to avoid a heavy fine, but it is more probable that there was some other impediment to a lawful union, so that a dispensation could not be procured. Further evidence on this point may yet be forthcoming, and meanwhile we welcome the Audley pedigree as here re-stated. It differs from that in the Complete Peerage in the date of the death of Nicholas de Audley, who received a writ of summons in 1296-7, and no notice has been taken of the invalidity of this writ.

An article by Mr. J. H. Round, on the Burton Abbey Surveys, is reprinted from The English Historical Review of April, 1905. The volume concludes with the Chartulary of Dieulacres Abbey, from a copy made in the seventeenth century by Benjamin Rudyard, which was discovered some time ago among Lord Macclesfield's muniments at Shirburn Castle. General Wrottesley has prefixed to the Chartulary a most interesting introduction dealing with the foundation and history of the Abbey, and has also added explanatory footnotes. Those interested in the topography of London should note the mention in Charter 69 of the town house which the Abbots possessed in Wood Street.

THE READES OF BLACKWOOD HILL, IN THE PARISH OF HORTON, STAFFORDSHIRE. A Record of their descendants, with a full Account of Dr. Johnson's Ancestry, his Kinsfolk, and Family Connections. By Aleya Lyell Reade. London (Spottiswoode & Co.).

The author of this book is evidently a most enthusiastic and laborious genealogist, and so carefully has he followed up every clue which might in the slightest degree assist his researches into his own pedigree, that, imperceptibly perhaps, he has been led to examine with great detail the history of numerous families between which there is often but a slight thread of connection. So far however from rendering his book less interesting to his readers by thus enlarging its scope, he has greatly enhanced its permanent value, for beyond all question the most important portion of it is that which deals with the ancestry of the great lexicographer, and it is only by a very side wind indeed that Dr. Johnson can be brought within the purview of a work which starts with the pedigree of the Reads of Blackwood Hill. The system adopted by the writer is to give at the end of the volume tabular pedigrees, twenty-nine in number, reproduced in facsimile from his own singularly clear handwriting, the text itself being a mere commentary upon these charts, so that no one who has not attentively studied the latter could hope to understand the former. Notwithstanding all his painstaking efforts to fill the gap, there is a break in the early pedigree of the Reads, which is carried with probability to a Roger Reade, or Reede, of Blackwood Hill, whose will was proved at Lichfield, 19 January 1558-9. That absolute proof cannot at present be supplied is chiefly due to the parish registers of Horton not commencing before 1653, and perhaps also to the author's failure to obtain facilities for a search in the Court Rolls of the manor. All the many branches of this family and all the different families into which they have married are here most carefully considered. Of the latter, the following may be mentioned—Dudley of Uttoxeter, Shallcross, Anderson of Midlothian and Lanark, Crowe, Hodges, Shaw, Hickman and Ford. The career of Sir Thomas Reade, a descendant of the Congleton branch, whose military and diplomatic services have hitherto received scant attention, is very well described, and derives added interest from his connection with the last days of the great Napoleon.

The ancestry of Dr. Johnson is introduced through the Hickmans, who intermarried both with the Reades and the Fords, Sarah Ford having, of course, been the Doctor's mother, and "Parson" Ford his first cousin. Lovers of Boswell's delightful pages should study them once more in the light of the many new facts now gathered together relating to the relatives of the most interesting personality of the eighteenth century, both on the paternal and maternal sides. A deed relating to the marriage settlement of Michael and Sarah Johnson is here printed, and also some very curious documents referring to Michael's indictment in 1718 for using the trade of a tanner, which occupation he had evidently long combined with his business as a bookseller. In one of these, written by himself, he is said to be "a merchant Tradeing to Ireland Scotland and the furter most parts of England."

This necessarily brief notice must not conclude without allusion to the large number of abstracts of wills (chiefly proved at Lichfield), and extracts from parish registers, which so greatly add to the genealogical value of this interesting book. The index is the most complete and satisfactory we have seen for a long time.

THE CLIFFORD FAMILY. By J. W. Clay, F.S.A. (Reprinted from The Yorkshire Archaeological Journal.)

A reliable pedigree of the illustrious house of Clifford, accompanied by evidences, has long been needed, and Mr. Clay's short history is therefore very acceptable. Avoiding all controversial questions, and everything for which chapter and verse cannot be given, he begins with Roger de Clifford, who died in 1231. Whenever they exist, transcripts are provided of Inquisitions Post Mortem, and Wills of the different members of the family. It is to be regretted that so many of these Inquisitions have been found to be in places quite unreadable from damp and careless use of washes. Portraits have been included of George, third Earl of Cumberland, and Margaret his Countess, the parents of Anne, Countess of Dorset, Pembroke and Montgomery, the eventual heiress of the Cliffords.

We have also received the new edition of Burke's "Landed Gentry" (Harrison and Sons), and "Haddon," by G. Le Blanc Smith (Elliot Stock). Both these will be duly noticed in the January number.

Notes and Queries.

THE ECHINGHAM TOMB AT BARSHAM.—Since the notes on Barsham were written the present Rector has found some Gothic letters running along the base of the altar tomb said by Suckling to have no inscription and to probably cover the remains of Thomas Blennerhassett (died 1599). He describes it to be of richly moulded brick, standing against the north wall of the chancel. It is still in the same place, but in 1880 was moved a few feet, when the levels were altered, to allow the tomb to stand back and not interfere with the present altar. At that time a portion of the thickness of the north wall was removed and a flattened arch was thrown over the tomb to bear the weight of the wall above. At the time of these alterations the tomb was taken to pieces, laid in the churchyard and each piece scraped, marked and numbered as it was taken down. Two or three fragments of the tomb were found therein, one being thus inscribed:—

Hic jacet Dns Ed . . .

This inscription was replaced at the base of the monument and fresh stone added to replace the uneven plastered top.

A sketch of the tomb having been submitted to Mr. St. John Hope, he inclines to the idea that the monument was erected under the will of Sir Edward Echingham in 1527, and that 1599 is an impossible date for it. Sir Edward Echingham desired to be buried in the chancel of Barsham Church, under the foundations of the north wall. It is also thought, and to this Mr. St. John Hope agrees, that the curious east window was then made to represent the fretted coat of the Echinghams, which is also on the vane of Echingham Church, Sussex, and is said to have been erected there by Sir William de Echingham, who died in 1389.

JENNINGS FAMILY.—If any searcher in the so-called "Jennings Case," or anyone looking through old Parish Registers, should come across the following marriage and baptism, or either of them, he would greatly oblige me by communicating with me:—

Henry Constantine Jennings, of Shiplake, Oxfordshire.	=	Juliana, da. of . . . Atkinson, mar. about 1767. She was buried in the Jennings vault at Shiplake, 31 Oct. 1769.

GEORGE MARSH (MARTYR).—While looking over some past numbers of The Genealogist, I found an account of several families of the name of Marsh published as a Supplement to New Series, vol. xvi. I should be glad to know if George Marsh was an ancestor of any of the families mentioned.

He was son of George Marsh, was born about 1515 in the Parish of Dean, Lancashire, educated at Bolton, married, left Lancashire, moved to Cambridge, entered at the University, and was afterwards ordained and appointed Curate of All Hallows', Bread Street, London.

SOME NOTES ON THE LEE FAMILY OF LAWSHALL, IN THE COUNTY OF SUFFOLK.

Almost simultaneously with the publication in The Genealogist, for January 1906,¹ of that part of my article on Barsham dealing with Sir Robert Lee, purchaser of the Manor of Barsham, there appeared in the "East Anglian Miscellany,"² over the signature "A.B." (Ipswich), the following:—

"LEE, OF LAWSHALL."

"I am much interested in tracing the pedigree of this family, whose present representative is, as far as I know, the Lady de Saumarez, of Shrubland Park and Livermere. . . . In Dr. Copinger's 'Manors of Suffolk,' the name first occurs (see p. 129) in 1598, when a fine of Lawcell Manor was levied between Robert Lee, Robert Goulding, and others. (Fine Trin., 40 Eliz.) I have a note in my possession which speaks of this Robert Lee as being Alderman of London, and certainly the coat of arms borne by the owner of the Lawshall Manor, now quartered by Lady de Saumarez, points to this connection. 'Argent, a fesse sable, in chief two pellets, in base a martlet of the second,' which coat was borne by the said Robert Lee, as Lord Mayor of London, in 1602."

The Manor of Lawshall, as previously stated in the above-mentioned article in The Genealogist, was purchased of Edward Rookwood for the sum of four thousand four hundred pounds by Sir Robert Lee (Lord Mayor of London) on the 15th May, in the fortieth year of Queen Elizabeth (1598), and descended on his decease (22nd December 1605) to his son and heir, Sir Henry Lee, Knighted at Theobalds on the 20th December 1611. Sir Henry, who was of Woodford, Essex, and of St. Edmundsbury, died on the 21st January 1619-20, having been twice married, but leaving issue only by the first wife, Mary, daughter of Richard Gurney of London. By this lady, who deceased on 31st December 1617, he had two sons and three daughters. His long will of some thirty folios was proved in London the 14th February 1619-20,³ the testator being described as "Sir Henry Lee, of Woodford, in the County of Essex, and of London." He names his wife, Thomasine,⁴ his eldest daughter Mary (married to Sir William Martyn), his elder son John Lee, his younger son Thomas Lee, and his daughters Elizabeth⁵ and Martha; his brother, Sir Robert Lee, and his son John, were made executors.⁶

² "East Anglian Weekly Times" (Ipswich).

³ P.C.C., 11 Soane.

⁴ His second wife, who was widow of William Quarles.

⁵ Elizabeth married about 1646 to Sir Richard Wingfield, of Tickencote. See "The London and Middlesex Notebook," by W. P. W. Phillimore, pp. 52-55, where there is a very satisfactory account of the early pedigree of this family.

⁶ Sir Henry Lee gave to the poor of Woodford yearly 40s. (Woodford Charities).

Thomas Lee, the younger son, baptised 5th December 1611, was of the Inner Temple, and dying unmarried, was buried on the 27th April 1683; while Sir John Lee, son and heir (baptised the 12th October 1606), inherited Lawshall, and was Knighted at Greenwich, on the 28th June 1629. His licence to marry, attested by his brother Thomas Lee, of the Inner Temple, is dated 18th January 1632-3, and is as follows:—"Sir John Lee of London Kt. widower, 26, and Catherine Fitzwilliam, spinster, 21, Daughter of the Rt. Hon. William Lord Fitzwilliam of Milton co. Northants." In the children of this match has arisen the confusion as to the succession to the Manor of Lawshall; for, in addition to the three daughters named in Sir John's will, there was undoubtedly a son, Fitzwilliam Lee, buried at Richmond, Surrey,² on 24th September 1665. His admon., describing him to be of that place, was granted P.C.C. 1688 to his son Thomas Lee (the relict Frances Lee refusing to administrate).

The will³ of Sir John Lee is dated on 9th December 1671:—"Being at present, through the mercy of God, in a competent measure of health and being desirous to settle my worldly estate soe as no differences may arise about the same after my death, but that my daughters, hereafter mentioned, who have been dutiful and obedient children, may hold and enjoy the same I doe desire as followeth first I give and bequeath to my dear daughters Katherine, Elizabeth and Caroline Lee, all my manors, messuages, lands, teñts and hereditaments situate in the counties of Suffolk, Essex, and Middlesex, and in the city of London . . . to have the same for ever . . . except what is hereafter given to my daughter Katherine and my brother Thomas Lee Esq. . . . to him my ring with a diamond in it which was my father's and hath this motto: 'Deus dat incrementum.' Also, I give to Katherine my daughter all my gold plate &c. (and make her executor) and she to see me decently buried in the parish church of St. Andrew Undershaft in St. Mary Axe in London. And I request my brother Thomas Lee to be assistant to her—he to take a paternal charge of her and them and he to make a kind uncle to them . . . I give to my worthy and dear friend the Lady Anne Russell my picture of King Charles the Martyr that hangs in my parlour"

Sir John Lee died the 22nd May 1673, and was buried in St. Andrew's Undershaft, his wife, Catherine Fitzwilliam, at that time being apparently dead, so that the Frances Lee who appears in the list of the lords of Lawshall given below, from 1675 to 1681, was possibly relict of Fitzwilliam Lee, and mother of the Thomas Lee whose name occurs as lord from 1681 to 1724, but under age in 1683, when his uncle Thomas Lee, of the Inner Temple, made his will and described him as his heir at law. Frances the widow of Fitzwilliam Lee was, however, living in 1688, as appears from the admon. to his estate in that year, referred to above.

In his will,¹ Thomas Lee, of the Inner Temple, who died in April 1683, calls himself "second sonne of Sir Henry Lee, formerly of Woodford, in the County of Essex," and bequeaths all his houses, lands, etc., to his three nieces, daughters of Sir John Lee, late of Bury St. Edmunds, viz., Catherine, Elizabeth, and Caroline Lee, until Thomas Lee, eldest son of Fitzwilliam Lee, son of the said Sir John Lee, be 21 years of age.

The following is the list of the lords of the Manor of Lawshall, as given by the writer in the "East Anglian Miscellany," whose further note, although not quite correct, is nevertheless quoted below :—

- "1609. Henry Lee.
- 1655. Sir John Lee, Kt.
- 1675. Dame Frances Lee.
- 1681-1704.² Thomas Lee, '06, 1724 (sic).
- 1732. Baptist Lee.
- 1768. Nathaniel Lee Acton."

"In Mr. Sydenham Hervey's 'Hearth Tax of 1674' mention is made of Sir John Lee living in St. Mary's, Bury, in a large house, for it contained 16 hearths, whilst at that date, George Myrells (probably the tenant) was living at Lawshall Hall, anyhow the largest house in the parish, and which contained 14 hearths. According to the list quoted above, Sir John (if it be the same) died one year later, in 1675, and Dame Frances succeeded her husband, living on till 1681. She it is, I take it, whose name is recorded in the book of receipts, at that date, as 'Lady Lee.'"

John Hervey, Lord Bristol, writing to Lady Bristol on the 3rd October 1724, says that he has been to the funeral of his friend, Mr. Lee,³ and got no hurt, neither from the weather nor from the dangers of the night, though only under the escort of his old day labourer. This was apparently the funeral of Thomas Lee (son of Fitzwilliam), who died 19th September 1724, and was buried in Livermere Church, aged 63; Livermere being an estate, according to Page's "Suffolk Traveller,"⁴ purchased by his only son, Baptist Lee. Of this Thomas Lee very little has been discovered as to his residence in East Anglia. He describes himself, in his will,⁵ dated 25 July 1720, as "Thomas Lee of Kensington Square in the County of Middlesex," and desired "to be buried in the parish church of Little Livermere in the county of Suffolk." He left £3,000 apiece to his daughters Frances, Isabella, Caroline and Charlotte Lee and to his only son Baptist Lee, his whole estate real and personal, but should he die without lawful issue then it to be divided among testator's four daughters. In this will he bequeathed 10^{li} to the poor of Great Livermere, the same to the poor of Little Livermere, and the same to the poor of Lawshall. His son Baptist Lee and daughter Frances to be executors. Will signed 25th July 1720, "Thomas Lee."

"Memorandum—the interlineations and alterations made in this will being all of my own handwriting ought to make no alteration of my last testament. (Signed) Thomas Lee, July 25th 1721."

6 Oct. 1724. On which day appeared personally John Descrote of the parish of St. James, Westminster, Esq., intimately acquainted with Thomas Lee Esq. for 23 years, and Samuel Edwards, butler to the said Thomas for eight years, who respectively on oath testified to the handwriting of above will and alterations.

Proved the same day by the oath of Baptist Lee, Esq., and Frances Lee.

Soon after this, in December 1725, Baptist Lee was a suitor for the hand of Lord Bristol's daughter, Barbara,¹ but after some negotiations it came to nothing. There are three letters from Lord Bristol to him on the subject, and also an allusion to the proposed match in the letters of Lady Suffolk, where he is said to have £10,000 a year. In Lord Bristol's letter to Baptist Lee, dated 2nd December 1725, he remarks that they are all very much concerned for the melancholy occasion which has kept him in the country.

Baptist Lee appears never to have married, and to have resided at Livermere with his three unmarried sisters, who pre-deceased him, and all lie buried in Livermere Church together with their sister, Charlotte, who married John Wearg, of Bury St. Edmunds, viz., Isabella Lee, buried 12th July 1737; Caroline, 29th December 1737; Charlotte Wearg, 21st November 1746; Frances Lee, 8th July 1752; John Wearg, 12th August 1752. The long will of this John Wearg,² who bequeathed all his manors, messuages, lands, etc., to his daughter, Caroline Wearg, making his brother-in-law Baptist Lee, sole executor, casts little light on his parentage, but it is suggested that he was of the same family as that of Sir Clement Wearg (1686-1724),³ Solicitor-General, who is described by the Dictionary of National Biography as grandson of Thomas Wearg, of the parish of St. Botolph's, Aldersgate, a wealthy merchant. Possibly the John Wearg in question was son of John Wearg, of St. Thomas the Apostle, bachelor, and Jane Bunn, of St. Antholins, married there by licence on the 2nd January 1695, since a Reeve Bunn's name appears in the Act of Parliament of the forty-eighth of George III, cap. 123, concerning Nathaniel Lee Acton, grandson of John Wearg and of Charlotte Lee. At all events, Charlotte

¹ The writer is indebted to the Rev. Sydenham Hervey for this and other notes.

² Proved in London by the oath of Baptist Lee, 19th October 1752. P.C.C., 205 Bettesworth.

³ Sir Clement Wearg's parents Thomas Wearg, of the Inner Temple, aged 28, and Mrs. Mary Fletcher, of the Isle of Ely, aged 19, were married at Lambeth on the 13th of May, 1679 (Foster's "London Marriage Licences"). For Wearg, see "Notes and Queries," 2d Series, iii, 501, and "Memoir of Sir Clement Wearg," by his relative George Duke, of Gray's Inn, 1843; Burke's "Landed Gentry," 1850 Edition, under WERGE and also under Wouge, of Battle, Sussex, a family merged in that of Duke.

Lee's husband left houses in London, on Snow Hill and in Cheapside, and also gave money bequests to his sister Martha, wife of Mr. Zachery Cradock, to the children of his niece Mrs. Anna Christiana Hotchkiss, and to his grand-niece Jane Smith, dau. of Mrs. Jane Smith, widow.

Caroline Wearg, who now became the sole heiress to her uncle, Baptist Lee, married on the 27th March 1753, to Nathaniel Acton, of Bramford Hall, Suffolk, and died in 1761, leaving a son and a daughter, viz., Nathaniel and Harriet Acton (born in 1755).

The distinctive Christian name of Baptist is thought by several genealogists to point to a connection with the May family, of whom Sir Humphrey May (1573-1630), after his second marriage with Judith Poley,¹ settled at Boxsted, in Suffolk. By his first wife, Jane, sister of Sir William Uvedale, Sir Humphrey² was father of Baptist May, the celebrated courtier of the reign of Charles II, and also of Isabella May, who was baptised at Boxsted in 1625, and afterwards became the wife of Sir Thomas Hervey, Knight, of Ickworth, mother of the John, Earl of Bristol, writer of the foregoing letters.

Isabella, the illegitimate daughter of Baptist May (granted the precedence of an earl's daughter by Charles II), by her marriage with John Turner,³ of Langham, became the mother of John Turner, of Great Livermere⁴ the sole executor of Baptist Lee, whose will, proved 1768,⁵ is contained in over one hundred folios. Therein he desires "to be buried in Livermere Church,"⁶ at the south end opposite to my late father deceased," and leaves all his manors, &c. (including Lawshall) in trust till his great-nephew Nathaniel Lee Acton, shall be 21 years of age. His estates in Great and Little Livermere in the county of Suffolk, and all his houses in Holborn and six houses in Bishopsgate St., London, are all devised to the said Nathaniel Lee Acton.

Nathaniel Acton, the father of the next lord of Lawshall, was son and heir of Nathaniel Acton, of Bramford Hall, and of Elizabeth Fowle. She was daughter of John Fowle, of Brome Hall, Esq.,⁷ in County of Norfolk, by his wife, Anne, daughter of John Mingay,⁸ of Saxlingham. She married at Brome, in 1723, to Nathaniel Acton (ob. 1745) as his second wife, and deceased 9th July 1744, aged 46. She was also elder ¹ Judith, daughter of Sir William Poley, of Boxsted. Among Sir Humphrey's brothers, and they were many, was Thomas May, poet and historian, John May, of Rawmere, Sussex, etc.

² By his second wife, Judith Poley, Sir Humphrey May was father of Sir Algernon May (died 1704), who paid Hearth Tax in 1674 for Ampton, close to Livermere. According to Page's "Suffolk Traveller," p. 725, Little Livermere Hall was built by a member of the Coke family, the small church being situated in its park.

sister of John Fowle, Esq., of Brome Hall, Commissioner of Excise under Sir Robert Walpole, K.G., first Earl of Orford, whose niece was married to John Fowle at Kirby Kane, Norfolk, in August 1723. This was Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Charles Turner, Bart., and of Mary Walpole (and sister of Anne Turner, who by her marriage with Dr. Maurice Suckling, Rector of Barsham, became mother of Catherine, Mrs. Nelson, and consequently grandmother of the hero of Trafalgar).

Despite, however, Cox, and other writers' anecdotes of the political intrigues of Walpole's times, in which John Fowle's name so often occurs, he is now only remembered as the "uncle" and patron god-parent of Nelson's elder brother, Maurice, whom he early placed in the Excise and Navy Offices simultaneously with Captain Maurice Suckling's adoption in 1767¹ of Horatio Nelson's career in the Navy.

John Fowle,² of Brome Hall, by his will dated the 29th February 1768, and proved P.C.C. 15th January 1774, devised all his estates to his god-daughter, Harriet, daughter of Nathaniel Acton, and her issue, she and they to take the name of Fowle, with remainder to the other daughters of the said Nathaniel Acton, and final remainder to Robert Colville, nephew of testator. Personal property to said Harriet, with remainder as above, except pictures which were to go with the mansion house of Brome Hall. The will refers at length to an indenture, dated 1765, made between the testator, Dionese D'Eye, Thomas Manning, of Bungay, William Suckling, of the Customs House, London, and Maurice Suckling, of Merton, Surrey.³

"The mansion house of Brome Hall" has long been levelled with the dust, but the fine portraits of John Fowle and of his first wife, Elizabeth Turner, still hang at Livermere, in the possession of Lady de Saumarez.

We now pass on to the will of Nathaniel Acton himself, who, after his wife, Caroline Wearg's death, in 1761, remarried to Dorothy Aspin,⁴ the heiress of Cockfield, and died in 1795, desiring by his will, dated 7th July 1794,⁵ to be buried in the family vault of Baylham by his late wife Caroline, and under his three children. To his wife Dorothy, the use of Bramford Hall, coach horses, &c. Nathaniel Colville his nephew and George Golding to be executors, in case his son dies. Names his daughters Charlotte and Harriet (wife of William Middleton, Esq.) and his third daughter Caroline Acton. The silver plate &c., which he inherited under the will of the Rev. Harvy Aspin, his brother-in-law. Legacies to his nieces Elizabeth Ann Colville, Harriet Colville and Charlotte Pierson. And lastly desires his son, Nathaniel, to drop the name of Lee after testator's decease, and use only his own family surname and in case he (Nathaniel) has a son, to endeavour to obtain an Act of Parliament to drop the name of Lee for ever.

² On the death of Elizabeth Turner, first wife of John Fowle, s.p., on the 4th of February 1763, he remarried to Dionese, daughter and coheir of Thomas D'Eye, marriage settlement dated 1765. She died s.p. 1784, aged 81.

Nathaniel Lee Acton, of Livermere Park, only son and heir of Nathaniel Acton, who now succeeded, married first, in 1787, to Susanna Miller, who died s.p., and secondly to Penelope Rycroft, 1791, who also died without issue, and himself deceased s.p. on 1st January 1836. Meantime, his sister, Harriet Acton, married in 1774 to William, son of William Middleton, of Crowfield Hall, co. Suffolk, created a Baronet on the 12th May 1804. This gentleman assumed the additional name of Fowle on 6th January 1823 (under the will of John Fowle, of Brome Hall), and died on the 26th December 1829, aged 83, leaving, by his wife, Harriet (who deceased 1st September 1852) Sir William Fowle Middleton, Bart., son and heir, who died s.p., 9th May 1860, and was succeeded by his nephew, the son of his sister, Sarah Louisa Middleton, by her marriage with Sir Philip Bowes Broke (the celebrated hero of H.M.S. Shannon, who, for his gallant conduct in her, on 1st June 1813, was created a Baronet), namely Sir George Nathaniel Broke, third Baronet. He on his uncle's decease in 1860, assumed the additional name of Middleton, and dying s.p. on 19th January 1887, the property devolved upon his niece, Jane Anne Broke, the daughter of his deceased brother, Captain Charles Acton Broke, R.E. (ob. 1855). She, on 10th October 1882, became the wife of Sir James St. Vincent, fourth Baron de Saumarez. It is this lady who possesses the pictures and estates of the Lee and Fowle families, and quartering the arms of the former, represents the family of Lee of the Manor of Lawshall, County Suffolk.

THE NEVILLS OF ESSEX: A GENEALOGICAL PUZZLE.

Having had occasion lately to search into the history of the Nevills of Essex I came upon a curious blunder, if it can be called so. Hitherto it has been supposed that John, Lord Nevill of Essex, who died 1358, s.p., was the last of the line. That this is not so is proved by the following Close Roll of 1331, No. 31 :—"License at the request of the Bishop of London for Hugh de Nevill the elder to enfeof Thomas de Colyngg parson of the church of Disse and Adam de Sculthorpe parson of the Church of South Stok of the Manors of Great and Little Wakeryngg and the reversion of the Manors of Souththorpe, Little Halyngbury and Wethersfeld with the advowsons of the Churches of the two latter manors now held for life as dower of Margaret late the wife of John de Nevill all in the co. of Essex and held in chief and for them to grant these to him for life with remainders to John his son for life to Hugh brother of the said John in fee tail and to Edmund brother of the last named in fee tail and reversion to the heirs male of Hugh the elder."

This document gives two brothers, Hugh and Edmund, hitherto unsuspected. That Hugh was alive much later is proved by the following :—De Banco Roll, Trin., 30 Edward III, m. 19. "Cantab. Hugh de Nevill de Essex Chivaler gave the King 10 sol p liē concē cū Robert de Roteseye deforciant &c., de teñ in Burwell." Also Cambridge Feet of Fines, 30 Edward III. "Hugh de Nevill of Essex Chivaler & Robert de Rotisey in Burwell."

This is, I take it, the Hugh the younger, of the Close Roll. Evidently Hugh the elder had heirs male of some sort. Foss, in his "British Judges," says that the descendants of Henry, son of Hugh the Big, were the Essex family, while he makes the children of a younger John to be Hugh, John and Theobald (of Writtle ?), who would possibly be the heirs male referred to, but this pedigree he probably got from Dugdale.

At any rate, when John, Lord Nevill of Essex, died in 1358, St. James' Day, it was reported in the Inquisition (No. 1, 32 Edward III), "also they say that the aforesaid John de Nevill died on the Feast of Saint James last past to wit on the 25th of July, and that William son of John the elder of Sylam is cousin of the aforesaid John and is next heir of the blood of the said John and is of the age of 21 years and more."

So far so good ; this was in 1358, but in the De Banco Roll of 47 Edward III, Easter, m. 604, appears at London, "John de Nevill Chivaler & Ralph de Ferreres Chivaler & John Pert Chivaler 400 m. debt, and the same & Alexander Manclerk & William de Howeton £40 debt."

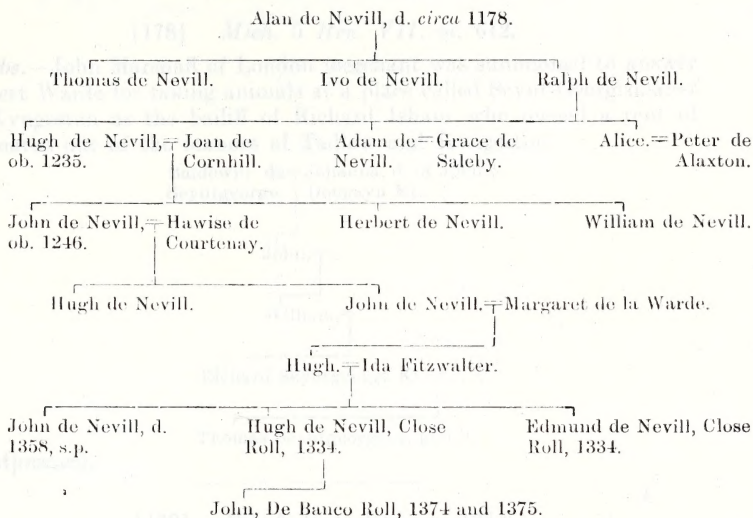

Who this John was is shewn by the following :—De Banco Roll, Mich. 48 Edward III, m. 635, dorso. "John son and heir of Hugh de Nevill and cousin and heir of John de Nevill of Essex acknowledges a deed for enrollment dated Thursday after the Feast of St. Symond, 47 Edward III, setting forth that the said John son and heir of Hugh de Nevill and cousin and heir of John de Nevill of Essex, releases and quitclaims to Johanna de Bohun, Countess of Hereford, Essex and Northampton the manor of Wakeryng in the Hundred of Rochford in co. Essex."

The said John, son of Hugh de Nevill, also by another deed gives to Alesia, late the wife of John de Nevill, miles, his uncle, whose heir he is, for the term of her life the manors of Wethersfield, Chygenhale Tony, Chygenhall Zoin, Enthorp, Langham, Peldon Magna, Totham, co. Essex, and the reversion of the manor of Southstoke, and a messuage called Leadenhall in London, one messuage and one carucate of land in Pentelowe with the advowson of the Abbie of Byleigh.

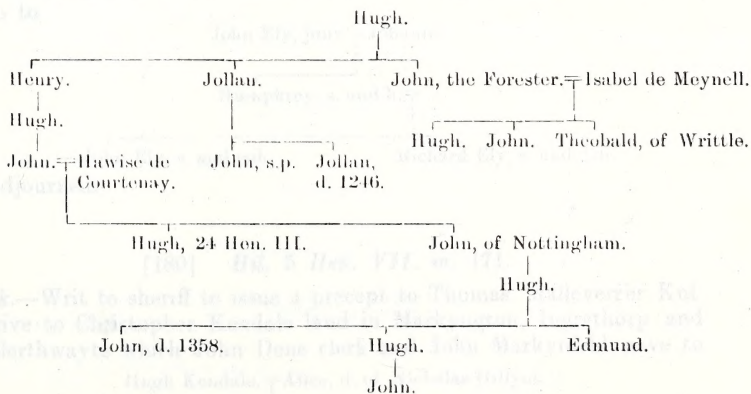

The puzzle now comes in : how is it that the Inquisition says nothing of either of these brothers of John of Essex, not to mention John, the son of Hugh ? Surely Alice Lady Nevill must have known of them ; and even if settled at Sylam near Diss, the cousins must have known of each others existence.

For the following pedigree of the Essex Nevills I am indebted to Mr. Guiseppi, of the Public Record Office :—

The pedigree as in Foss' "British Judges" :—

CLARO WAPENTAKE.

Yorke, 13 Sept. 1665.

Sykes
of Spofforth.

See the Visit. of Cumberland for the Armes.

ARMS:—Arg. a chevron Sa. betw. three sykes or fountains proper.

RICHARD SYKES, of Sykes-dike, neer Carleill, in Cumberland. Had issue—

WILLIAM SYKES, a younger son, came into Yorkeshire and settled at Leedes. Had issue—

. . . SYKES, of Leedes. Had issue—

RICHARD SYKES, an Alderman.

The above is Dugdale's statement of the origin of this Leeds family, but the idea that it came from Sykes Dyke is unlikely and probably the above is not correct. By the Leeds Registers and York Wills it appears there was a James Sykes who died in 1577, having two sons, who predeceased him, so the following account is suggested:—

- I. JAMES SYKES, of Kirkgate, Leeds, bur. at Leeds 27 May 1577. He had issue—

Richard (II).

William, of Kirkgate, clothier, bur. at Leeds 31 July 1576. Will 24 July, pr. at York 4 Oct. 1576;

mar. Alice . . . They had issue—

James.

Isabel.

Agnes,
Margaret, } named in their brother Richard's will.

- II. RICHARD SYKES, of Kirkgate, clothier, bur. at Leeds 11 Oct. 1576. Will 17 Sept., pr. at York 4 Nov. 1576; mar. Sibbell Reame, bur. at Leeds 30 Oct. 1576. Will 28 Oct., pr. at York 19 Jan. 1576-7. They had issue—

 S. York.

See the Visit of Westgate for the above.
 Legend—With a saltire on the base, three wavy lines or fountain proper.

RICHARD SYKES, of Ryksgate, near Gouthwaite, in Cumberland. Had issue—

WILLIAM SYKES, a younger son, came into Yorkshire and settled at Leeds. Had issue—

... SYKES, of Leeds. Had issue—

RICHARD SYKES, an Alderman.

The above is Douglas's statement of the origin of this Leeds family, but the idea that it came from Sykes is entirely and probably the above is not correct. By the Leeds Register and York Works it appears there was a James Sykes who died in 1577, having two sons, who purchased him, so the following account is suggested:—

I. JAMES SYKES, of Ryksgate, Leeds, bur. at Leeds 27 May 1577. He had issue—

Richard (II)

William, of Ryksgate, clothier, bur. at Leeds 31 July 1576. With 21 July, bur. at York 4 Oct. 1576.

Jane, mar. Thomas Garrett 9 Oct. 1627 at Hinderwell.

¹ In the Visitation of Cambridgeshire 1619, printed by the Harleian Society, there is a pedigree of Steward. Sir Thomas Steward, Knt., High Sheriff of Cambridge and Huntingdon, is mentioned as being son of Sir William Steward, of the Isle of Ely, by Catherine Panie, of Castell Acre, but there is no further information to connect this branch.

- IV. ZACHARY STEWARD, of Lofthouse, in co. Ebor., æt. 58 ann. 8 Sept. æ 1666, Governor of Mulgrave Castle, sequestered for his delinquency, bur. at Easington 16 Apr. 1676. Nunc. will 10 Apr. 1676, his wife executrix; mar. Aune, daughter of Sr Thomas Notcliffe (Norcliffe), of Nunnington, in co. Ebor., Kt. They had issue—

Mary, mentioned in her father's will, to have what she liked of household goods. (Query if she did not marry Thomas Moore, of Hackness, and had a son Zachary Steward Moore, bp. at Hackness 24 Sept. 1672.)

In Ord's Cleveland, 276, it is stated, "The ancestors of Zachary Moore obtained possession of Lofthouse by marriage into the family of Zachary Steward. Zachary Moore, however, soon squandered his inheritance." He was a friend of Hall Stevenson. The estate was purchased by Sir L. Dundas.

¹ See Pedigree of Gaultier in "Miscellaneous et Heraldica" for Sept. 1901.

² Jane, Charlotte, Catherine, Sarah and Louisa were living unmarried in 1793, when, as children of her "late much esteemed cousin," P. H. A. Laprimaudaye, they were named as legatees by Sarah Albert, of Hackney, who died at the age of 97, in 1802.

³ Sister to Emily Idonea, the first wife of the second Baron Rouilly, who also was of Huguenot origin.

For some account of this family, which was not without importance both in Anjou and in Poitou, see MM. Haag, Brandenburg and Holland as well as England, and their history and relationship has not yet been cleared up. Gabriel de la Primaudaye was naturalised by Act of Parliament, No. 112, 1^o Anne (1702), as son of Daniel and Mary, from Poitou. He and presumably his mother appear on the London List of Relief for 1705 as "Gabriel de la Primaudaye, de Poitou, 49 ans, sa femme, et un enfant, Wardour St.; Marie de la Primaudaye, de Poitou, veuve, 70 ans, Wardour St." He is believed to have been the father, by his first marriage, of the Peter, who heads the pedigree. That he had a son so named appears both from his will of 1719 (P.C.C. 181, Browning), and from that of 1725 of his second wife, Marie de Masclary (P.C.C. 154, Romney). There must have been a double Masclary and la Primaudaye connection. Charlotte de la Primaudaye, "otherwise De Desgoulans widow," who stands confessed in her will as aunt to the Peter Henry Alexander and Francis of the pedigree, refers in her will of 1763 (pr. in 1779 in the P.C.C. 342, Warburton) to "my sister Françoise de Masclary de Clamoreau nee de la Primaudaye." Des Goulans must have been a territorial alias borne by the family, since this lady's husband in their marriage licence of 12 Oct. 1717, is given as Daniel de la Primaudaye. Moreover a "Monsieur Desgoulans Primaudaye" is found in a List for 1686 of the French Congregation at Maldon, in Essex (Rawlinson MSS. in Bodleian Library, 984, fol. 73). Peter de la Primaudaye, of Lord Galway's legion in Flanders, who died intestate in 1702, leaving two children, Peter and Anne Henriette, appears to have been Gabriel's brother. Captain Maurice de la Primaudaye, who finally settled in Dublin, where his will was proved 29 Jan. 1705, had at least two children by each of his two wives. The first wife was Anne Du Pré, who was supposed to enjoy a charge on the land of Pimpereau, at Savigny in Anjou. Of their children Ester and Maurice, the former at her baptism in Threadneedle Street in 1687, had for her godparents the Marquis de Ruigny, and Ester (nee de Lardinière Peigné) wife of Sir John Chardin, the traveller, who, as his monument in the Abbey records, "nomen sibi fecit eundo." The second wife, married in 1691, was Jeanne de Clairvaux. Of the marriage of Colonel John de la Pradelle with an Elizabeth de la Primaudaye there was no issue. Their marriage licence of 29 Dec. 1690 describes him as about 28, and her as about 30. In the Register of the then fashionable Church of St. Mary Magdalen, Fish Street, to which they betook themselves on the 31st, he appears as John "Coldeparidelle." He was from Larochehoucauld, in Angoumois, and had been naturalised in the second year of Anne (Act No. 37). Both appear to have been buried at St. James', Westminster, and their wills are found proved in the P.C.C.—his in 1732 (37, Price) and hers in 1743 (168, Boycott).

A ROLL OF ARMS, 1713.

In an interesting article on "Heraldic Desiderata," in The Genealogist, N.S., iv, v, Mr. W. S. Ellis advocated the collection of Arms from various books, etc., with the intention of forming a complete Dictionary of Arms; he wrote (iv, 219), "Another source of armoury not hitherto utilized (though not of ancient coat armour) is afforded in the case of maps and books where the arms of subscribers are engraved." I send therefore a collection of Arms contained in, A Compleat | History | of the | Late War | in the | Netherlands | Together with an | Abstract | of the | Treaty at Utrecht. | By Tho. Brodrick, Gent. | The whole Illustrated with 15 Curious | Copper Plates; And the Coats of Arms of | most of the Nobility, and several other Emi | nent Persons. | London; | Printed by William Pearson, for Thomas Ward, in the | Inner-Temple Lane. MDCCXIII.

It is handsomely printed, and the coats are delineated on and around the maps and plans, &c., with a list of over two thousand subscribers; the author at the end of his preface, remarks:—

"As I have the Honour of a Catalogue of Subscribers to this undertaking, perhaps the most glorious, as well as numerous, that have hitherto appeared in Print; So, I hope, I shall find them so well satisfied, as to Encourage a greater Design I have in View."

Was this hope ever realised, and did he publish anything more? Who was the writer?

Notices of Books.

A GENEALOGICAL AND HERALDIC HISTORY OF THE LANDED GENTRY OF GREAT BRITAIN. By Sir Bernard Burke, Ulster King of Arms, and Ashworth P. Burke. Eleventh Edition. London (Harrison & Sons), 1906.

Burke's Landed Gentry has long been a standard work, and let us say at once, deservedly so. A book of this kind is indispensable to the general public, who have little time or inclination to study the records of past ages, and even the skilled genealogist owes more than he is himself aware to the publications of the late Sir Bernard Burke. We fully realize the great labour which the enormous mass of details dealt with in the Landed Gentry involve, and are anxious to give every credit to Mr. Ashworth Burke for his painstaking and highly satisfactory performance of what must be a most difficult task. Having said this much, we must not refrain from alluding to that which has always been the drawback to what would otherwise be a work of monumental importance, namely, the wholesale acceptance by successive editors of any fables, however improbable, that may be sent to them, with little or no attempt to test by evidences the allegations made. True it is that "the more precise and critical methods of modern research," alluded to in the Preface, have necessitated the addition of some qualification to the insertion of these picturesque and romantic taradiddles, as if the editor had his tongue in his cheek the while. Instances might be given galore, but we have space for a few only, which we take haphazard, the italics being, of course, our own. "The family of Aglionby is said to have been established in Cumberland by one of the soldiers of the Conquest, and to be descended from Walter de Aguilon, who accompanied Ranulph de Meschines into that county, and fixing his residence there, called it Aguilon's or Aglionby's Building." "The Aikmans of Forfarshire "derive their origin, it is said, from a lieutenant in Macduff's army, who plucked an oak (or aik) bough," etc. Under "Fetherstonhaugh of Hopton Court," "The first of the Fetherston family who settled on the Tyne . . . is stated to have been a chief of those Saxons who landed about the beginning of the 8th century." The Haggards of Bradenham, with an imagination worthy of a race which has produced the brilliant author of "King Solomon's Mines," claim descent from Sir Andrew Ogard or Agard, "a scion of a most distinguished family in Denmark," naturalized 11 Henry VI. The Margessons, who have long been comparatively small landowners in Surrey and Sussex, are not derived, as we should have expected, from a son of some forgotten Marjory, but are "stated to have been originally named Argenson, and to have come from France and settled in Surrey, where they acquired lands in or about the year 1480." In the next sentence a Peter d'Argenson, whose parents were married in 1499 (mark the dates!), "is said to have settled in England; from him derived descent the Margesson family of Wootton and Ockley, Surrey."

In a few instances, however, notwithstanding "the more precise and critical methods of modern research," romantic legends of doubtful accuracy are still introduced with no hesitation whatever, as in the case of the extraordinary career of Sir John Carington, born 1374, who, not content with a change of surname, adopted a new coat of arms as well, and whose supposed descendants were for some centuries, owing to the machinations of a wicked uncle of Sir John's, obliged to put up with the plebeian cognomen of Smith or Smyth. But perhaps the most astonishing assertion of this kind occurs under the pedigree of Donnithorne, where one Nicholas Donnithorne of St. Agnes, Cornwall, and also, though not so stated here, a wine merchant in London, who died 1796, is said to have married "Anna, dau. of Thomas Comyn of Barking, Essex, lineal descendant and representative (sic) of the Comyns of Badenoch and the Red Comyn." As a matter of fact it would, we believe, be difficult to prove that the Thomas Comyn in question had a drop of Scottish blood in his veins. The fabled Mahun Rusid still appears as ancestor of the McMickings, who are still designated of Killantringan.

From time to time efforts have been made in The Genealogist to point out errors in previous editions of the Landed Gentry. Mr. J. H. Round, in N.S., vol. xi, pp. 129-131, called attention to the inflated account of the Trotters of Byers Hall which appeared in the 1863 and 1894 editions, and also challenged the right of that family to the numerous quarterings claimed by its then representative; but both pedigree and arms remain in substantially the same condition in 1906. More recently (N.S., vol. xx, pp. 217-221) Mr. Walter C. Renshaw, K.C., in an article on the Sussex family of Scrase, proved the lineal descent of Mr. Scrase-Dickins from Tuppen Scrase, to whom Segar granted a crest in 1616, to be quite untrue—nevertheless the same descent is still alleged.

Notwithstanding that a large number of pedigrees have, somewhat without good reason, as we think, been removed from the present work to the Landed Gentry of Ireland, this edition is even more bulky than its predecessors, and the reader cannot help reflecting that a large number of the families treated of within its covers can scarcely with truth be said to belong, as the Preface boldly asserts, "to the untitled nobility of this country."

The heraldry of the volume has been arranged on no very scientific plan. In many cases families lawfully entitled to coat armour are left without mention of their insignia, while others whose right would probably be disputed by the College of Arms are allowed to display at their own sweet will whatever bearings have to themselves seemed best. In the case of the Harleys, now of Brampton Bryan, the quarterings of the extinct Earls of Oxford are allowed, though in the text the connexion with that noble house is declared not yet to have been established. The illustrations, which are chiefly taken from book plates, a novel and not altogether satisfactory arrangement, often possess much artistic merit, and are a great improvement upon those which annually appear in Burke's Peerage, but considerable ignorance of the laws of heraldry is sometimes displayed, the arms being in many cases surrounded with a garter, and a crest occasionally depicted by itself without any coat of arms.

THE ORIGIN AND EARLY HISTORY OF THE FAMILY OF POË OR POE, WITH FULL PEDIGREES OF THE IRISH BRANCH OF THE FAMILY AND A DISCUSSION OF THE TRUE ANCESTRY OF EDGAR ALLAN POE, THE AMERICAN POET. By Sir Edmund Thomas Bewley, M.A., LL.D.
Dublin (Ponsonby and Gibbs).

Setting out with the object of discovering the origin of the family of Poë or Poe, which has been settled in Ireland since the period of the plantation of Ulster, and which has long held an established position among Irish county families, the author has, without a single clue to guide him and solely by a thorough and patient investigation of public records, been able to trace the English home of the race. At the same time he has disproved the rather foolish theory of a foreign origin which has found its way into Burke's Landed Gentry of Ireland and other works. The patriarch of the family, Anthony Poe of Papplewick, a Nottinghamshire yeoman, turns out to have been a kinsman of Dr. Leonard Poe, Physician of the household of James I and Charles I, whose funeral certificate is preserved in the College of Arms, and of whom there is an account in the Dictionary of National Biography. The career of his eldest son William Poe, a Major in the Parliamentary Army in England during the Civil War, who obtained lands in County Tyrone, is very ably described, and brings graphically before us the constant litigation which raged between the settlers and their attempts by underhand methods to enlist the aid of influential persons about the English Court in their selfish schemes. At the end of the volume clearly compiled tabular pedigrees give the descent of the different branches of the family settled in Ireland. But the work has a secondary purpose, and for his efforts to trace the real ancestry of Edgar Allan Poe, so well known as the author of "The Raven," Sir Edmund Bewley deserves the gratitude of all English and American admirers of that poet. Poe was also of Irish descent, though not it appears of the same stock as the socially more important descendants of the Papplewick yeoman. Greater rodomantade has rarely found its way into print than the traditions as to his origin which have been repeated by one biographer after another, and which have now been happily exploded. Incidentally the examination into Poe's ancestry has led to a suggestion of some importance, namely, that the name Poe is but a variant of Powell or Powle, and the evidence by which this theory is backed is well worthy of the attention of students of the origin of surnames.

A HISTORY OF THE FAMILY OF CAIRNES OR CAIRNS, AND ITS CONNECTIONS. By H. C. Lawlor. London (Elliot Stock).

This work, though primarily concerning the different families of this name, cannot fail to be of great general interest, as in addition to pedigrees of families descended from the main stock in the female as well the male line, such as Bellingham, Donaldson, Finlay, Gregg, Hamilton, Kennedy, Maxwell, and Westenra, there are five appendices giving short accounts of the Elliots, Montgomeries of Lisduff, Ballymagowan, Moores, and Lawlors.

Distinguished by their upright and honourable lives from early times, it is interesting to note with how many of the most noteworthy historical characters of Scotland and Ireland the Cairns family, though not one of first-rate importance, have been associated from early times to the present day.

Master Alexander de Carnys, Provost of Lincluden, was the friend of Archibald, Earl of Douglas, and his tomb, near that of the Princess Margaret, Countess of Douglas, was discovered during the excavations, in 1882, of Lincluden Abbey.

John Cairnes, reader in St. Giles Church and assistant to John

Knox, when asked to publish the banns of marriage between Mary, Queen of Scots, and Bothwell, "did simply refuse," and many incidents of political and national importance are narrated in which a Cairns played a part.

The direct representatives of this ancient family are the Crichtons, one of whom married the heiress of Cairns in the latter part of the fourteenth century, but the male line was continued till the middle of the eighteenth century, through a younger son who is now represented by Baron Rossmore.

Mr. Lawlor has not been successful in connecting the two best known families of Cairns of the present day with the ancient stock, though he has added two generations to Burke's pedigree of Earl Cairns and traced the family settled at Paisley back to about the same period.

The earlier pedigrees are substantiated by satisfactory evidence to which reference is given in footnotes, but there is a lack of such references in later times, which so often prove the stumbling block to many existing families.

We are glad of the corrections of an inaccurate pedigree in Ulster Office, and of the pedigree of the Cairns Baronets, which runs through the Baronetages previous to G.E.C. The least satisfactory portion of the work is the chapter on the armorial bearings, the official authority for which seems to be nil, except a confirmation by Ulster of arms which had been in use for 150 years. We trust that Mr. Lawlor is incorrect in stating that the arms of Cairnes of Cultra are registered in Ulster Office as "Argent, three martlets Gules, within a bordure Or."

It would have been better had surnames been inserted in the narrative pedigrees; and we must protest against the loose sense in which the words "records" and "recorded" are used.

The excellent illustrations, and reproductions of old portraits, and last but not least a complete index, greatly enhance the value of this carefully written and well-arranged book.

HERALDIC BADGES. By Arthur Charles Fox-Davies. London (John Lane).

The late Mr. Planché remarked in his charming heraldic work "The Pursuivant of Arms," which, however, is not referred to here, "that whilst scores of volumes have been written respecting the armorial shields of the sovereigns, barons and knights of England, no author has treated, critically, the subject of Badges." Mr. Fox-Davies has now taken up the subject and, although we are left very much, on the whole, where we were before, an attempt has been made by him to critically examine the origin, use and inheritance of the badge. With some of the theories he propounds we are unable to agree, as for instance his derivation of the Sunburst, which he is convinced "is nothing more than an attempt to pictorially represent the name 'Windsor' by depicting 'winds' of 'or.'" In regard to the origin of the Portcullis he says that the suggestion, which it may be remembered is mentioned in Woodward and Burnett's "Heraldry," "that it was a pun on the name Tudor

(i.e. two-door) is confirmed by the motto, 'Altera securitas,' which was used with it," but at the same time he admits that this suggestion is vitiated on account of its use by the Beauforts, who had no Tudor descent. We trust no future writer on this subject will refer to this painful pun again, which by the way we recollect the late Mr. Toole making on the stage many years ago, for the very good reason that the badge in question must have come to the Tudors from the Beauforts. Edmund, Duke of Somerset, uncle of Edmund Tudor's wife, certainly used it.

The most interesting part of Mr. Fox-Davies' essay is that devoted to Standards, and his views, which differ somewhat from other writers, are worth noting. Judging from what he has brought together, it is clear that a more comprehensive work might be issued, which should contain references to the sources from which any information may be derived, and an enlarged compilation of Badges, with the illustrations, where necessary, in the list instead of in the introductory text. Sometimes there may be some doubt as to the proper description of a badge, as for example that of Sir Andrew Wyndesore, here described as "A stag's head coupéd," which on referring to the late Mr. Joseph Foster's illustrations of the Standards in the College of Arms, will be found to be almost affrontée, whereas the description leads us to suppose it was in profile. We mention this particular case as we believe it was used affrontée, but there may be other badges which might be illustrated with advantage. The volume is a handy and useful little work and quite an addition to books on heraldic lore.

PARISH REGISTER SOCIETY OF DUBLIN, vol. i. THE REGISTERS OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST, DUBLIN, 1619—1699. Edited by James Mills. Dublin (printed by Alex. Thom & Co.).

The Parish Register Society of Dublin has made a wise choice in the selection of these interesting registers as the first volume of its publications, and it is to be hoped that the excellent work thus commenced may obtain sufficient support from the public to ensure the lasting success of the Society. The registers of St. John the Evangelist commence in February 1619-20, earlier, as we are reminded in the Preface, than any other extant parish registers in Ireland and fourteen years before the Canons of 1634 rendered such records compulsory in that country. In 1643 Prebendary Dudley Boswell began to arrange the entries alphabetically, a very early date for such an arrangement, which was continued after his death until 1658. In Appendix I are given entries from the churchwardens' accounts of burials which by some accident were omitted from the registers, and Appendix II contains very useful lists of parishioners compiled originally for the levy of parish cess. English genealogists may perhaps think that Irish registers can concern them little, but this would be a great mistake, for members of English families frequently repaired to Ireland, either to settle there or for purposes of trade, and this district of Dublin contained a number of inns where strangers were wont to tarry during their stay in the Irish capital. Many well known names occur in the registers, e.g., Angier, Annesley, Dillon, Loftus, Osbaldeston, Plunket and Ponsonby. An interesting entry is that on p. 28, which records the baptism in June 1637 of a daughter of Thomas Edmonds, Secretary to Strafford when Lord Deputy. The burial of John Atherton, Bishop of Waterford, 5 Dec. 1640, appears on p. 38. The two children of John "Edchingham," Jane and Osburne, baptized 1646 and 1649, fit into the pedigree of that branch of the Echingham family given in the notes on Barsham recently appearing in this magazine (N.S. vol. xxii, p. 54). It only remains to express our admiration of the careful way in which these important registers have been edited and indexed.

HADDON, THE MANOR, THE HALL, ITS LORDS AND TRADITIONS. By G. Le Blanc Smith. London (Elliot Stock).

Haddon Hall has been the subject of countless magazine and newspaper articles, generally forgotten almost as soon as read, and of not a few dry-as-dust guide books, but with the exception of Rayner's well known work, there is, we believe, no historical account of this ancient mansion, so that this volume with its attractive binding and numerous illustrations should receive a cordial welcome. Mr. Le Blanc Smith in a preliminary sketch of the pedigree of the Vernons deduces them from the ancient Earls of Devon, for which descent he produces no evidence. He is on firmer ground when he discusses the break in the male line of the family by the marriage of Avice or Hawys de Vernon with Gilbert le Franceis. Many years ago in a pedigree from De Banco Roll, 4 Edward II, m. 212, contributed either to the Reliquary or the Antiquary, and since reprinted in his "Pedigrees from the Plea Rolls," p. 534, General Wrottesley commented upon the importance of this descent from le Franceis. That the Vernon pedigree as it appears in Collins and other Peerages is not satisfactory has long been suspected by genealogists, but the last word on this subject has probably not yet been said, and the whole pedigree evidently requires further investigation. On p. 21, the writer just before drawing attention to a "terrible mistake" made by the late Mr. Llewellyn Jewitt, falls into one still more terrible, by confusing the John Vernon, son and heir of Sir Henry Vernon, who died 12 Aug. 1477 and was buried at Bakewell, with Sir Henry's later born son of the same christian name, who subsequently to 18 Jan. 1513-14, the date of his father's will, married Ellen Montgomery, the heiress of Sudbury. Feminine readers will doubtless be distressed at the ruthless destruction of the romantic story of Dorothy Vernon's marriage, which has for so long added to the charm of Haddon Hall. Antiquaries will appreciate the selections from the Stewards' Accounts 1549 to 1671, transcribed by the late Mr. W. A. Carrington, and here published by consent of the late Duke of Rutland. The illustrations, which are from photographs taken by the author, are very successful and include a portrait of the famous Dorothy from the effigy on her tomb, hardly a flattering one, unless the tradition of her grace and beauty be as false as that of her runaway marriage.

THE INSCRIPTIONS IN THE OLD BRITISH CEMETERY OF LEGHORN, transcribed by Gery Milner-Gibson-Cullum, F.S.A., and the late Francis Campbell Macauley. WITH AN INTRODUCTION, by Montgomery Carmichael, British Vice-Consul at Leghorn. Leghorn (Raffaello Giusti).

The greater part of these inscriptions have already appeared in print, having been some years ago contributed by the transcribers to "Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica" (Third Series, vols. ii, iv). They have now been reprinted with a most instructive introduction and explanatory footnotes by Mr. Carmichael, who in order to make the work complete, has added the inscriptions which commemorate foreigners who have been buried within the Cemetery. It is surprising how many members of the British and Irish aristocracy have been interred here, a considerable portion of whom, especially during the last century, died at Florence, and many English merchants also found a last resting place at Leghorn. The most interesting tomb is that of Tobias Smollett, though, as Mr. Carmichael points out, the date of the historian's death is wrongly given upon it. A list of the older monuments still remaining in the Cemetery is contained in the introduction, the earliest being that of Leonard, son of Sir Dudley Digges, who died in 1646. Many of the tombs have coats of arms upon them, most of which were fortunately decipherable when the inscriptions were copied. Mr. Carmichael informs us in his Introduction that the Chapel Registers 1707—1824 are in existence, and that he hopes to edit them, an intention which we trust will be shortly fulfilled, for they cannot fail to be of great assistance to genealogists.

Notes and Queries.

LAWRENCE OF UPPER STONDON, BEDFORDSHIRE.—The following notes have been compiled with the aid of the Bishop's transcripts, the earliest register preserved at Upper Stondon beginning in 1683:—

- I. Thomas Lawrence, rector of Upper Stondon, signs the transcripts in 1604; buried 5 Oct. 1614.
- II. Charles Lawrence (Lawrance), educated at Westend, in the parish of Southill, under Mr. John Carter for about seven years, was admitted 11 June 1610, aged 18, scholar litt. grat. of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, then described as son of Thomas Lawrence, clerk, rector of Standon (sic), Beds. Charles Lawrence became rector of Upper Stondon; he signs the transcripts in 1615 and 25 March 1641. Charles Lawrence married firstly, at Cardington, 24 Jan. 1616-17, Martha Barnardiston, and had issue:—

- (i.) Margaret, bap. 21 Sep. 1617.
- (ii.) John, bap. 15 Feb. 1618-19; bur. 21 July 1629.
- (iii.) Elizabeth, bap. 1 Jan. 1621-2; bur. 21 Sep. 1631.
- (iv.) Matthew, bap. 4 March 1626-7; bur. 23 Sep. 1631.
- (v.) Thomas (III).
- (vi.) Charles, bur. 4 Sep. 1631.

Martha Lawrence was buried 26 Sep. 1631. Charles Lawrence married secondly, at Upper Stondon, 16 Dec. 1632, Mary Allen, and had issue:—

- (i.) Bridget bap. 3 March 1638-39.
- (ii) and (iii.) Matthew and Charles, both bap. 3 Jan. 1640-41.

III. Thomas Lawrence, bap. 25 Dec. 1629; became rector of Upper Stondon; he signs the transcripts in 1662. Administration granted to Joanna Lawrence, relict, 22 Aug. 1679 (Administration Act Book, P.C.C. 1679, fo. 117). Joane Lawrence, who was patroness of the living of Upper Stondon in 1681 (Ecton, Thesaurus), was buried 17 March 1692-3. Thomas and Joanna Lawrence had issue a daughter, Joanna, bap. 24 March 1665-6; she apparently married Samuel Leach, rector of Upper Stondon, who first signs the transcripts at the end of 1686. (Lawrence, son of Samuel and Joanna Leach, bap. 10 Jan. 1687-8.)

Can anyone add anything to this pedigree? It seems likely that Charles Lawrence had other children by his second marriage, but the transcripts for the years 1633 and 1636 are missing.

A John Lawrence, described only as "of Bedfordshire," was admitted to Emmanuel College, Cambridge, 6 June 1650, and graduated B.A. in 1653. It seems possible that he was a son of Charles Lawrence of Upper Stondon, but the name of Lawrence is not uncommon in Bedfordshire. A John, son of John Lawrence, was baptized at Harlington 9 Oct. 1631. Another John, son of Thomas Lawrence, was baptized at Hawnes (Haynes) 12 Aug. 1632.

PARRY AND HALLEY FAMILIES.—During the past ten years numerous endeavours have been made to establish the (former) existence of a grand-daughter of Dr. Edmond Halley (1656-1742), the famous second Astronomer Royal (cf. Notes and Queries, London, ninth series, vol. xi, pp. 205-206; 464). It seems worth while, therefore, to record the extract following, from the will of Sybilla Halley, widow of Edmund Halley, jun., surgeon, R.N., who was the only maturing son of Dr. E. Halley (1656-1742):—

"Sybilla Halley of the parish of East Greenwich, in the county of Kent, widow." To granddaughter Sybilla Parry, all wearing apparel. To good friend Catherine Beaumont wife of John Beaumont of East Greenwich, lighterman, a ring. Remainder of estate, real and personal, equally to granddaughters Sybilla Parry and Sarah Parry (Sarah Parry under age). Sybilla Parry and Catherine Beaumont, executors. Will dated May 1, 1771. Witnesses: Thomas Friend, John Woodham, William Munro. Proved P.C.C., Nov. 13, 1772, by Sybilla Parry, power being reserved to Catherine Beaumont. [Ex. Register Taverner, folio 406.]

For the foregoing extract, I am indebted to Mr. Ralph J. Beevor, M.A., of St. Albans, who remarks that:—

"The will establishes the fact . . . that the astronomer Edmond Halley had grandchildren (or a grandchild) and great grandchildren. On the other hand, the inference from the will is that Sybilla Halley had but one daughter who married and that this daughter married a Parry. There may of course have been more daughters than one and the old lady in making her will may have thought it necessary only to make provision for the two orphan (!) grandchildren who remained with her."

If there was only the one daughter, is it not possible that she may have had a former husband who died, and that, later, she married (secondly) a Parry?

Extensive "Extracts from British Archives on the family of Halley" were printed in the Magazine of History, New York, 1906.

I should be very grateful for any information concerning the life (and marriage?) of Sybilla and Sarah Parry.

WRIGHT FAMILY.—I should be much obliged for any information that would enable me to ascertain who were the parents of a Philip Wright, born circa 1759. He had a brother Robert, born circa 1764, and is believed to have been born in Nottinghamshire, and to have had two other brothers, named John and George.

INDEX TO BURKE'S "COMMONERS."—I have lately purchased a MS. index to the Pedigrees in Burke's "Commoners," of which I propose to print 250 copies. If I can get 25 subscribers I will sell the book at 5s. If I can get 50 subscribers I will sell it at 2s. 6d. If 100 subscribers, at 1s. 6d. I have thought that some readers of The Genealogist who have Burke's "Commoners," and know its value and the difficulty of consulting it, might like to have a copy of this index. I will receive the names of subscribers till March 25 next.

of Rodwell [Rodwell], Gent. [Pontefract Act Book, vol. xxxviii, 537 (1624-1625) in York Registry.]

Very little notice has been taken of this Sir Philip Cary or his descendants. The first account found is an article entitled "CARY, Viscounts of Carleton," in the Notes and Queries, vol. xiv, p. 101, 1859. James Rodwell, Esq., of Carleton, was the son of Sir Philip Cary.

BLAND, OF CARLETON, CO. YORK,

As connected with the family of CARY, WILLOUGHBY and BERTIE.

Among the alliances made by the family of CARY (which, after the accession of their cousin Elizabeth to the throne of England, were, for the most part, very illustrious) is that, in or shortly before 1609, of SIR PHILIP CARY, of Hunslet, near Leeds, co. York, and of Caddington, Beds, brother of the 1st VISCOUNT FALKLAND [S.], with Elizabeth, only child of Richard BLAND, of Carleton, in the parish of Rothwell, co. York. The place of this Richard in the wide spreading family of BLAND, of Kippax and elsewhere in Yorkshire (of which he probably was a member), has not been ascertained, neither has the name of his child's mother, who probably was not Dorothy, his surviving wife, who disputed the validity of his will, in which she got but little, while his grandsons were the principal and residuary legatees. An abstract (made Feb. 1903 by A. Gibbons, F.S.A., Heworth Green, York) of this will (registered at Pontefract, co. York) is as under:—

RICHARD BLAND, of Carleton, Gent., dat. 29 April 1624. To wife Dorothy £200, also my best bed with sheets and linen; also another bed for her maid to lie on; also 10 waggon loads of coal yearly for life from my coal pits in Rodwell [Rothwell]. I direct my son in law SIR PHILIP CARY, Knt., to provide for the payment of a rent of 40s. a year for ever to the poor of Rodwell [Rothwell] out of the lands of Rodwell settled upon him and his late wife, my daughter, and he to convey to the Vicar and Churchwardens of Rodwell a little close and cottage in Carleton for the habitation of two aged persons of the parish of Rodwell. To Michael BOOTH, my said wife's son in law, £20; to Francis, wife of Edward SCOLES, £5; to Elizabeth, wife of Monsieur NICHOLAS, servant to said Sir Philip CARY, and sister of said Francis, £10; to William SINGLETON, son of Henry SINGLETON, £20, and he to have all my apparel; to Marie SINGLETON, Bettrice SINGLETON, and Ann SINGLETON, his sisters, £10 each. Residue to my grandchildren EDWARD AND PHILIP CARY, the sons of my late only daughter, LADY ELIZABETH CARY, and they to be executors. Sir Thomas SAVILL, of Howley, Knt., and Hugh CRESSIE, of Wakefield, Esq., to be supervisors, and each of them to have a gold piece of 22 shillings to buy a ring in token of my love. Witnesses, Hugh CRESSIE, Thomas HEREFORTH, Edward DUNWELL, Mark COOPER, John HAWLEY. [No record of any probate.] Caveat 25 Jan. 1624/5 on behalf of Dorothy BLAND, widow, the relict of the deceased Richard BLAND, of Carleton [Carleton], in the parish of Rodwell [Rothwell], Gent. [Pontefract Act Book, vol. xxxviii, 537 (1621—1625), in York Registry.]

Very little notice has been taken of this Sir Philip Cary or his descendants, the best account being in an article entitled "CARY, VISCOUNTS FALKLAND,"¹ written [1865-66] by the Rev. Charles James Robinson, M.A., sometime Vicar of Horsham, Sussex, which, when more fully expanded, is as below.

SIR PHILIP CARY, brother of Henry, first VISCOUNT FALKLAND [S.], being third and youngest son of SIR EDWARD CARY, of Aldenham, Herts, was born about 1580; admitted to Gray's Inn (with his brother Adolphus) 9 Aug. 1590; matric. at Oxford (Queen's Coll.) 20 Feb. 1593/4, aged 14, as "Arm."; Knighted at Greenwich, 23 March 1604/5; M.P. for Woodstock, 1614, 1621-22, 1624-25 and 1625; obtained in 1612 the manor of Hunslet, near Leeds, from his father, which he sold to the family of Fenton; was Keeper of Marylebone Park, Middlesex. He married in or shortly before 1609, Elizabeth, only child of Richard BLAND above-named. She was buried 4 Oct. 1623, at Aldenham, where he also was buried 16 June 1631. Admon., wherein he is described as late of St. Olave's, Silver Street, London, granted 4 July 1631 in C.P.C., to Sir Edward BARRETT, Knt., BARON OF NEWBURGH [S.],² and Sir George MANNERS,² of Fulbeck, co. Lincoln, Knt., during the minority of JOHN CARY, EDWARD CARY, ELIZABETH CARY and ANN CARY, children of the deceased. Further admon. 3 Jan. 1634/5 to JOHN CARY, son of deceased, being then of full age. They had seven children, viz. :—

- I. MURIEL, bap. 3 May 1610 at Aldenham; buried 9 Dec. 1611 at Great Berkhamstead, Herts.
- II. ELIZABETH, bap. 1 May 1611 at Great Berkhamstead; married, as the first of his four wives, about 1631, Sir Humfrey BRIGGES, second Baronet [1641], of Haughton, Salop (died May 1691), and died before 1648, having had two children, Moreton and Edward, both of whom died young.
- III. JOHN CARY, of Stanwell, Middlesex, eldest son, bap. 23 Dec. 1612, at St. Olave's, Silver Street, London; matric. at Oxford (St. John's Coll.) 12 Oct. 1627, aged 15; was, perhaps, cr. M.A. 1 Nov. 1642. By the death of his great uncle Thomas (KNYVET) LORD KNYVET, he acquired in 1622, a moiety of the estate of Stanwell, Middlesex, of which he, subsequently, in 1687, obtained the entirety. He was, like his father, Keeper of Marylebone Park as also of Bestwood Park, Notts.; was one of the King's Falconers, and in 1673 Master of the Buckhounds. He married firstly Mary, widow of Sir Edward BAESH, of Stansteadbury, Herts (died 12 May 1653), daughter and coheir of Sir Edward MONTAGU, brother of the first EARL OF MANCHESTER. She died soon afterwards and was buried 24 Dec. 1657, at Stanwell. Admon. 23 May 1658. He married secondly Catherine, whose name has not been ascertained.³ She was buried there 1 Sep. 1673. He died without issue 1685-86, and in his will (of which an abstract has been printed in the Herald and Genealogist, vol. iii, p. 133), dat. 10 to 20 Sep. 1685, and proved 1 Sep. 1686, devises his manor of Caldicott, Newton and Magor, co. Monmouth, to his kinsman "EDWARD CARY, Esq., son of PATRICK CARY, Esq.," his manor and lands at Stanwell, co. Middlesex, lands at Minster, co. Kent, etc., in trust for "the Hon. Elizabeth WILLOUGHBY, my cousin and heir, sole daughter and heir of my nephew George, late LORD WILLOUGHBY OF PARHAM, deceased," on condition that within three years of my death, she marry Francis (NORTH), LORD GUILFORD, with rem. to their issue, but if no such marriage takes place, rem. to ANTHONY (CARY), VISCOUNT FALKLAND, for life and his issue in tail male, rem. to the said EDWARD CARY in like manner, rem. to testator's own right heirs.

IV. ADOLPHUS CARY, second son, bap. (as "Rudolphus"⁴) 5 Jan. 1613/4, at St. Olave's aforesaid. He died, before his father, and was buried 9 May 1625 at Aldenham, Herts.

V. ANN, third daughter, afterwards BARONESS WILLOUGHBY OF PARHAM, of whom hereafter.

VI. EDWARD CARY, third son, bap. 10 Aug. 1618, at St. Olave's aforesaid, legatee in the will of his grandfather, Richard BLAND, dat. 19 April 1624; matric. at Oxford (St. John's Coll.), 13 Nov. 1635, aged 17; died unm., and was buried 10 Feb. 1639/40, at Aldenham, aged 21.

⁴ This evidently is a mistake. The child was buried as "Adolphus y^e son of the right worshipfull Sir Philippe Carye, Knight." See note I above. The child's uncle was Sir Adolphus Cary, of Great Berkhamstead, Herts, and another Adolphus Cary, son of Viscount Falkland, was bap. 22 May 1639, at Aldenham.

VII. PHILIP CARY, fourth son and youngest child, bap. 23 Oct. 1623, at St. Olave's aforesaid; legatee in the will of his grandfather, Richard BLAND, dat. 19 April 1624, but died a few weeks later, and was bur. 8 July 1624, at Aldenham.

ANN (CARY), fifth child and third daughter (being the only child whose issue survived infancy) of the abovenamed SIR PHILIP AND DAME ELIZABETH CARY, was bap. 10 June 1615, at St. Olave's, Silver Street, London; married, in or shortly before 1637, WILLIAM (WILLOUGHBY), 6th BARON WILLOUGHBY OF PARHAM, who succeeded his brother in that title July 1666; was Governor of the Caribbee Islands, 1666-73, and died at Barbadoes, 10 April 1673, aged about 57. His will, dat. 18 May 1672, was proved 27 Nov. 1673. His wife, who had predeceased him, was on 12 Jan. 1671/2 as "Anne, the wife of the Right Hon^{ble} the Lord Weloby of Param, buried in the vault of the Lord Cary, Viscount Falkland, in the great chancel," at Aldenham, Herts. M.E.⁵ They had fourteen children, the date of whose births is thus recorded [evidently after 1666, the date of their father's accession to the peerage] in the parish registers of Hunsdon, Herts, where the youngest of them had been baptized as "Mary, da. of William WILLOUGHBY, Esq.," July 1656.

- " 9. Mr. Cary, born in same place, April 5, 1649 (ob. Dec. 1676).
- " 10. Mr. Charles, born in same place, Oct. 6, 1650.
- " 11. Mrs. Ann, born in same place, Dec. 15, 1652.

" This was erected by Canon the Hon^{ble} Kenneth Francis Gibbs, Vicar of Aldenham (1884), who, maternally (through the families of Adams, Cokayne and Willoughby) is a descendant of this Lady. It consists of a mural brass, whereon (under the arms of Willoughby impaling Cary, and surmounted with the coronet of a Baron) is inscribed, "In memory of Anne, wife of William, Baron Willoughby of Parham, daughter of Sir Philip Carye. She died aged 56 years and was buried here 12 January 1671 in the vault of the Viscount Falkland."

- "12. Mrs. Mary, born in same place, Feb. 25, 1653.
 "13. Mrs. Katherine, born in same place, May 14, 1655.
 "14. Mrs. Mary, born at Hunsdon in July, 1656."

"MR. JOHN WILLOUGHBY, son of the Hon. Mr. George Willoughby (eldest son of the Rt. Hon. William, Lord Willoughby, Baron of Parham) by his virtuous Lady, Elizabeth, was born at Knaith in Lincolnshire July 16, 1669 and baptized July 28, 1669."

Of the eight sons here mentioned three succeeded to the peerage as below, viz., (1) GEORGE, who on the death of his father, 10 April 1673, became seventh Baron Willoughby of Parham. He died 1674, and was buried at Knaith, leaving (besides two daughters) one son JOHN, born 16 and bap. 28 July 1669 at Knaith (as abovestated), who in 1674 succeeded him as eighth Baron, but died within four years at Winchester, aged nine years, in 1677/8. As to the two daughters, ANNE died in infancy before her brother, and ELIZABETH became the eventual heiress of the estates (Knaith and Gateburton, co. Lincoln) of the family of Willoughby, as well as of those (Stanwell, co. Middlesex, etc.) of the family of Cary. As to her see hereafter. (2) JOHN, the fifth of the abovenamed eight sons, suc. his nephew in 1677/8 as ninth Baron, and died without issue Sep. 1678. (3) CHARLES, eighth and youngest of these eight sons, suc. his brother in Sep. 1678 as tenth Baron, and died without issue 9 Dec. 1679.

See fuller particulars in "Peerage."

The five remaining sons, EDWARD, HENRY, WILLIAM, JAMES, and CARY all died unmarried before 1679. Edward probably died in infancy. Henry Willoughby, said [Oliver's Antigua] to have been Governor of Antigua, and to have died there about 1670, was doubtless dead before 10 June 1678, the date of the will of John, Lord Willoughby, who mentions therein "a ring that was my brother Henry's." "Mr. William Willoughby, third [sic] son of Lord Willoughby, died of the small pox in London and was buried at Hunsdon" 22 May 1669." [Hunsdon Par. Register]. James Willoughby is said [Oliver's Antigua] to have died at Antigua about 1670. The death "Dec. 1676" of Mr. Cary Willoughby is inserted after the notice of his birth (5 April 1649) as above given, and the nuncupative will of "the Hon. Carew Willoughby, Esq." (when "sick of the illness of which he died"), was proved 19 Dec. 1676, by his sister and principal legatee, the Hon. Katharine Willoughby, in the P.C.C. [158 Bence].

Of the six daughters, (1) FRANCES, born 12 Nov. 1642 as aforesaid, married firstly 6 June 1661, at St. Martin's in the Fields, Sir John HARPUR, of Swarkeston, co. Derby, who was buried there 20 Feb. 1678/9. She married secondly, 25 Aug. 1679, at Swarkeston, Charles Henry (KIRKHOVEN), LORD WOTTON who was created, 9 Dec. 1680, EARL OF BELMONT [I.]. He d. 5 Jan. 1682/3, and was buried in Canterbury Cathedral. She married thirdly, 3 July 1684, at St.

Martin's in the Fields, Henry HEVENINGHAM, of Heveningham, Suffolk, who died 21 Nov. 1700. She died without issue 25 May and was buried 4 June 1714, at Swarkeston, aged 71. (2) ELIZABETH, born 12 Aug. 1644 as aforesaid, died unmarried, probably in infancy. (3) ANN, born 15 Dec. 1652, as aforesaid, married 17 Sep. 1674, at Swarkeston, Sir John HARPUR, third Baronet [1628], of Calke Abbey, co. Derby, who died 1681, being ancestor of the now [1907] existing Baronets of the name of HARPUR-CREWE. (4) MARY, born 25 Feb. 1653/4, died in infancy before July 1656. (5) KATHERINE, born 14 May 1655 as aforesaid, married 26 Dec. 1678, at Swarkeston, co. Derby, Charles (COKAYNE), third VISCOUNT CULLEN [I.], both of them dying, nearly at the same time, of smallpox and being buried, he (aged 30) 3 Jan. and she 13 Feb. 1688/9, at Rushton, co. Northampton. They were ancestors of the succeeding Viscounts, a title which became extinct in 1810. (6) MARY, the second child of that name and the youngest daughter, born July 1656 as aforesaid, died unmarried, probably in infancy.

THE HON. ELIZABETH WILLOUGHBY, sister and heir (1678) of John, eighth Baron Willoughby of Parham, daughter of George, the seventh Lord (who was the only son that left issue of William the sixth Lord, by Ann, da. of SIR PHILIP CARY, sister of JOHN CARY, of Stanwell, Middlesex, all abovenamed), was born 29 April 1673, and by the will (dated 1685 and proved 1686) of the said John Cary, her great uncle (in which she is called his "cousin and heir") became entitled to the Stanwell estate, subject to her marrying Lord Guilford. This, however, she did not do, but married 6 Jan. 1691/2 (Lic. Vic. Gen. 4 Jan.) the HON. JAMES BERTIE, second son of James, first Earl of Abingdon. In consequence of this marriage, a decree of the House of Lords in 1696 gave her a life interest (only) in the estate, with reversion of the fee to Viscount Falkland. Her husband, who was born 13 March 1673, was many years M.P. for Middlesex, and died 18 Oct. 1735, having survived her twenty years. She died in childbirth of her fourteenth child, 26 Sep., and was buried 2 Oct. 1715 at Stanwell, when that estate devolved on Viscount Falkland, who alienated it in 1720. On her eldest son, however, WILLOUGHBY BERTIE, who on 16 June 1743 succeeded his uncle as third EARL OF ABINGDON, devolved the representation of RICHARD BLAND, SIR PHILIP CARY and WILLIAM (WILLOUGHBY), sixth LORD WILLOUGHBY OF PARHAM (the persons whose issue has been above set out) and still [1907] continues vested in those Earls.

GENEALOGY OF THE FAMILY OF COTTIN, 'SETTLED IN ENGLAND, FROM ST. QUENTIN, IN FRANCE.

BY KEITH W. MURRAY, F.S.A.

The following notes having been obtained at some considerable trouble, it has been suggested by the Editor that they should be embodied in the pages of The Genealogist in the hope that they may be of interest to readers of this Magazine. It is a matter of regret, however, that they are at present far from being complete, but this defect will I trust, be remedied by others who may have additional information on the subject.

For the extracts from French records given below, I am indebted to Mr. H. J. T. Wood, who very kindly found time to search the registers at St. Quentin, when on a visit to France last autumn, and who wishes gratefully to acknowledge the kindly help given him by M. Alfred Daullé, of that town. Owing to the difficulty of access to some of the records, and the imperfect state in which the numerous chances of destruction by war have left those which can be seen, the pedigree it is possible to tabulate from the French evidences must to some extent be regarded as tentative. No doubt more information could have been found had time permitted, but it is at least satisfactory that the primary object of the search at St. Quentin was attained by the discovery of the baptism of a certain Jean Josias Cottin, who was naturalized in this country as Josias Cottin. His pedigree cannot at present be carried further back than to a Jean Cottin of Bohain, a place some fifteen miles from St. Quentin, in the Department of Aisne, in Picardy. A Protestant church was at Bohain at a much earlier date than at Lehaucourt, the church at the latter place being more ancient again than that at St. Quentin. The parish registers of Lehaucourt are apparently only extant from 1668 to 1685, unless those covering the period, 1599 to 1617, which Mr. Wood could not find, are still in existence. There were no entries of the name of Cottin at Le Catelet. The parishes in St. Quentin have registers as follows:—St. Jacques from 1656, there being a gap from 1674 to 1686; St. Eloy from 1700, and St. Martin from 1684. The notes made by Mr. Wood are as follows:—

NATURALIZATIONS.

For these extracts from the Naturalizations by Act of Parliament my best thanks are due to William A. Shaw, Litt.D. :—

- 11 William III [1699], no. 85. Daniell Cottin, son of Daniell Cottin by Elizabeth his wife. From Sailis in Picardy, France.
- 2 Anne [1703-4], no. 37. John Cottin, son of John Cottin by Mary his wife. From Paris in France.
- 8 George II [1734-5], no. 48. Josias Cottin, son of Daniel Cottin by Elizabeth his wife. From St. Quentin in France.
- 13 George II [1739-40], no. 21. John Daniel Cottin, son of Daniel Cottin by Esther his wife. From Paris.

* * * * *

From the foregoing and a few evidences to be given later I have tabulated a pedigree which is probably correct :—

The Jean Josias Cottin who appears in the foregoing pedigree as son of Daniel and Elizabeth, born in 1715, was undoubtedly the Josias Cottin naturalized in 1735. He died 6 April 1776, aged 60, and was buried at Tottenham, co. Middlesex. On his death a hatchment was put up in the church of St. Peter, Cornhill, showing these arms: Azure two chevrons between three boars' heads erased Or, impaling Argent a shakefork Sable, and for the crest a boar's head as in the Arms. The same achievement is recorded by Cansick as being on his tomb in Tottenham Churchyard.¹ The baron's half of the shield is given in Rietstap to Cottin of Feulaine² in Picardy, with the difference that the chevrons are Argent. His will, of which the following is an abstract, was dated 19 August 1766:—

I, Josiah Cottin of London, merchant. Whereas I have surrendered my copyhold at Tottenham, co. Middlesex, to the use of my will, I devise the same to my wife Jane. To my brother-in-law Jacob Hofham Murison, Esq., and my sons Alexander and John Cottin, and my son-in-law Richard Chapman, £20,000 on Trust for my said wife for life. To my said son John £10,000. To my unmarried daughter Elizabeth £5,000 at marriage or age of 21. As to £5,000, part of said £20,000, after the death of my wife, the income thereof to my daughter Jane Chapman, and after her decease to her children.

Codicil dated at Tottenham, 26 May 1773:—Whereas I have purchased two annuities in France, one of 2,500 livres on my son John's life, and one of equal value on my daughter Elizabeth's life. To Mr. John Lafont £50. To Mr. Victor de Dompierre £30. To the Hospital of the French church in Old Street, £30.

Deposition as to handwriting of testator, described as of St. Peter, Cornhill, by Abraham Winterbottom, of St. Martin Outwych, London, gent., and John Rousseau, of St. Leonard, Shoreditch, Middlesex, gent., made 10 April 1776. Will proved same day by Jane, the relict, and Alexander and John, the sons; power reserved to Jacob Hoffman (sic) Murison, the other executor (P.C.C., 168 Bellas).

XIV. THE BYNES OF CARSHALTON, CO. SURREY.

As stated in The Genealogist, N.S., vol. xxiii, p. 3, the only adult son of James Byne of Carshalton was HENRY BYNE (A), who was baptized there 15 February 1607, and married with Anne, daughter of Owen Bray. He was also of Carshalton, and by his will, dated 19 September 1654, he directed that his body should be buried in the Chancel of the Church there near to his late wife, and devised lands in Camberwell and Wandsworth upon trusts for raising portions for his youngest daughters and sons by name, and gave his property at Carshalton and the right of presentation to the Vicarage there, and the residue of his real estate to his eldest son Henry. Henry Byne (A) was buried at Carshalton 23 September 1654, and his will was proved 10 November 1654 (P.C.C. 226 Alchin). His children were:—

- I. HENRY BYNE (B), of whom subsequently.
- II. OWEN BYNE, baptized at Carshalton, 4 August 1630, who died a bachelor, and was buried there 7 December 1686.
- III. JAMES BYNE, baptized there 6 December 1631, who died early.
- IV. EDMUND BYNE, baptized there 24 October 1633, who was Clerk of the Peace for Surrey,¹ died a bachelor, and was buried at Carshalton 3 March 1727, leaving a will dated 2 January 1725, which with a codicil was proved 21 March 1727 (P.C.C. 73 Brook)
- V. Anne, baptized at Carshalton 18 January, and buried there 20 March 1637.
- VI. Mary, baptized there 30 May 1637.
- VII. Elizabeth, baptized there in October 1638.

XIII. Martha, married about January 168 $\frac{3}{4}$ to John Nelme, M.A., Rector of Beddington and Vicar of Carshalton, and buried at Beddington 8 July 1686, where John Nelme was buried 19 May 1703.

XIV. Regina.²

HENRY BYNE (B) was baptized at Carshalton 12 February 162 $\frac{8}{9}$, and married with Susanna, daughter of Abel Roper, who was Master of the Stationer's Company in 1676.³ His wife was buried at Carshalton 15 April 1675. He settled a moiety of the rectorial tithes of that parish on the Vicar and his successors, and in 1673 presented a massive silver flagon to the Church there.⁴ He owned, among other properties, the Manors of Claygate and Upper Court Lodge in Surrey, and he practised as an attorney-at-law in Clifford's Inn. By his will, dated 28 January 169 $\frac{6}{7}$, he gave to his son Charles £1,200, and his chamber and furniture in Clifford's Inn, and all his law books, and in it he mentioned his two daughters and his son Henry. He was buried at Carshalton 2 August 1697, and his will was proved 9 November 1697 (P.C.C. 222 Pyne). The children of Henry Byne (B) were:—

- I. HENRY BYNE (C) of whom subsequently.
- II. ABEL BYNE, baptized at Carshalton 2 February 166 $\frac{6}{7}$, and buried there 9 August 1681.
- III. Susanna, baptized at Carshalton 24 February 166 $\frac{7}{8}$, and married about April 1691 to Edward Bearcroft of Clement's Inn.⁵
- IV. Ann, baptized at Carshalton 30 September 1669, married there 1 September 1687 to Philip Bridall of Lincoln's Inn, and buried at Carshalton 19 November 1694.
- V. CHARLES BYNE (A) baptized at Carshalton 23 February 167 $\frac{1}{2}$, who married with his cousin Elizabeth Nelme, the only child of the abovenamed John Nelme, clerk, and Martha (Byne), his wife. By his will, dated 20 May 1723, he gave his real estate to his wife Elizabeth for her life, and after her decease to his daughter Ann Byne and her heirs, and directed that his personal estate should be divided between them. Charles Byne (A) was buried at Carshalton 17 July 1725, and his will was proved by his widow 26 July 1725 (P.C.C. 149 Romney). She was remarried at Charterhouse Chapel 25 January 172 $\frac{7}{8}$ to William Hollier, M.A., clerk, then Vicar of Carshalton, and was buried at Carshalton 20 April 1751. Charles Byne (A) had two children:—

- (2). Ann, born 19 and baptized at Carshalton 22 February 1715⁷, who died a spinster and was buried there 26 April 1737.⁶

VI. JAMES BYNE, baptized at Carshalton 6 April 1673, and buried there 16 May 1674.

VII. Joyce, baptized there 7 April 1675, and buried there with her mother 15 April 1675.

HENRY BYNE (C), was baptized at Carshalton 18 November 1665; matriculated at Oxford as of Lincoln College, 8 April 1682, and was admitted of the Inner Temple in 1684. He married at Carshalton 4 August 1685 with Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Herringman, citizen and stationer, of London, by Alice, his wife. He had issue:—

I. Alicia, baptized at Carshalton 27 May, and buried there 20 June 1686.

II. JAMES BYNE, baptized there 22 December 1687, who was buried there 7 March 1704⁵, having by his will, dated 27 February, and proved 22 March 1704⁵ (P.C.C. 47 Gee), given all his personal estate to his father.

Elizabeth, the wife of Henry Byne (C) was buried at Carshalton 19 January 1685⁶, and a M.I. to her was placed on the east wall of the chancel in the church there.⁷ Henry Byne (C) by his will dated 26 March 1723, gave, among other legacies, to his niece Ann Byne (born Bridall) £500, and to each of her two sons Henry Byne (E) and Charles Byne (B) £500, to his brother-in-law Edward Bearcroft £2,000, to his uncle Edmund Byne £100, and ordered that the deeds relating to the settlement by his father of a moiety of the tithes of Carshalton on the Vicar and his successors should be put in the chest of the church, and devised the residue of the rectorial tithes to the Vicar and his successors, and disposed of his real estate in favour successively of Henry Byne (E) and Charles Byne (B) and their respective issue. He was buried at Carshalton 2 April 1724, and his will was proved in P.C.C. (74 Bolton).⁸ A schedule of his real estate is annexed to the answer in the suit of Byne v. Lodge.⁹

This extinguishes the male line of descent from Henry Byne (A) except through his youngest son Richard Byne. RICHARD BYNE married about May 1681 with Rachel Lea, and was buried 16 June

1685 at Carshalton, where he is described in the register as "Mr. Richard Byne Grocer in Southwark." He had an only child:—

HENRY BYNE (D), clerk, M.A., who was born in 1684, and was of Merton College, Oxford, where he became a Fellow. In 1717 he was instituted to the Vicarage of Ponteland, co. Northumberland. He married with his cousin Ann, daughter of the above named Philip Bridall, and was buried at Ponteland 6 December 1731, having by his will, dated 25 November 1731, given his property to his wife Ann, who proved it 27 March 1732 (P.C.C. 65 Bedford). She died 10 April 1769, and was buried at Ponteland. There are M.I.'s to both Henry Byne (D) and his widow in the chancel of the church there. He had five children:—

- I. HENRY BYNE (E), of whom subsequently.
- II. CHARLES BYNE (B), of whom subsequently.
- III. Anne, who died of small pox in 1741 in her eighteenth year.¹⁰
- IV. Elizabeth, who died of small pox in 1741 in her sixteenth year.¹⁰
- V. Isabella, who was married 29 November 1758 at Ponteland to Ralph Carr of Dunston Hill, co. Durham, and Hedgley, co. Northumberland; died 30 January 1797, and was buried at Ponteland.

HENRY BYNE (E) was born 14 December 1713, and was for some time of Morpeth, where he died 1760. He married with a lady named Ward, by whom he had:—

- I. HENRY BYNE (F), born at Morpeth 1746, who was of St. John's College, Cambridge, B.A. He was of Carshalton and Sheriff of Surrey 1791. He married in 1770 with Anne, daughter of Sir Robert Hesketh, of Rufford, co. Lancs., Bart., but had no issue by her. He was buried at St. Clements, Hastings, 25 June 1816, leaving a will dated 1 September 1815 and proved in P.C.C. He, either alone or in conjunction with Henry Byne (G), disposed of most of his properties in Surrey, including the estate at Carshalton, and he sold the advowson of Carshalton to John Cator.¹¹
- II. Anne, married to Lt.-Genl. John Skerrett.¹²
- III. Another daughter.

¹⁰ There are M.I.'s composed by Dr. Robinson, the rector, in the chancel of Ponteland Church to these two young ladies, according to which Anne lies there "till the Resurrection shall reunite her to a more durable, scarcely to a more beautiful, body."

¹¹ Lyson's Encirons, ed. 1811, vol. i, p. 100.

¹² There is a M.I. in St. Paul's Cathedral to their only son, Major-Genl. John Byne Skerrett, who was killed at the age of thirty-six in the assault on Bergen-op-Zoom on the night of the 8-9 March 1814.

CHARLES BYNE (B), the younger son of Henry Byne (D), was baptized at Ponteland 3 June 1720, was of Lincoln College, Oxford (M.A. 11 July 1746), and is said to have been a captain in the 3rd Dragoon Guards. He died in 1791, having married thrice, first with Susanna, daughter of Robert Bew, by whom he had:—

I. CHARLES BYNE (C), of whom subsequently.

Secondly with the Lady Grace Montgomery, daughter of Alexander, ninth Earl of Eglinton, who died without issue 15 June 1751; and thirdly with Frances, daughter of Edmund Basil, by whom he had:—

II. CHARLES BYNE (D), who was a captain in the 86th Regiment.¹³

III. GEORGE BYNE, who was an officer in the Royal Marines.

IV. EDWARD BYNE, who was an officer in the 28th Light Dragoons.

V. EDMUND BYNE, baptized at Alphington, co. Devon, 25 March 1775.

VI. MARTIN HARLAND BYNE, baptized there 25 July 1776, who matriculated at Oxford as of Pembroke College 4 February 1795, was an officer in the 19th Regiment, and was murdered at Kandy in Ceylon in 1804.

And three daughters, one of whom was named Fanny, and another of whom named Anna Maria, who married at Shrewsbury 5 January 1796 to Townsend Forester, clerk, D.D.

CHARLES BYNE (C) married with Jane Fowler of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, widow, and had issue:—

I. HENRY BYNE (G), of whom subsequently.

II. Anne Isabella Augusta, born 14 August 1780, who in September 1807 was married to Richard Bawden, clerk, M.A., Rector of Warkleigh, co. Devon, and died 4 August 1864.¹⁴

HENRY BYNE (G), was born in 1771, and was a Captain in the 3rd Dragoon Guards. He married thrice, first with Mary Ann, second daughter of William Wade, Lieut.-Colonel of the 71st Regiment; secondly, with . . . Gerard; and thirdly, on 23 September 1801, with Mary Frances, daughter of Prokter Thomas, of Drake's Place, co. Somerset. She died 3 June 1854, and through her Henry Byne (G) became possessed of considerable property in Satterleigh and Kingsnympton, co. Devon. He died 15 October 1821, and was buried at Satterleigh, where there are M.I.'s to him and his widow in the Church. By his first wife he had issue:—

- I. CHARLES POYNTZ BYNE, born in 1794, married 25 August 1818 with Margaret, daughter of Quentin Blackburn, who died in 1857. He died at Hexham 1 August 1866, having had six children, of whom four died early, and the remaining two were William Barry Wade Byne, born in 1822, and Charles Byne, born in 1824.¹⁵
- II. Henrietta Poyntz, born in 1791, who died unmarried 15 January 1822, and was buried at South Molton, where there is a M.I. to her.
- III. Georgiana, who died unmarried.
- IV. Angelina, who died unmarried.

By his second wife he had issue:—

- V. EDWARD BYNE.
- VI. EDMUND BYNE.

By his third wife he had issue:—

- VII. POYNTZ CHARLES BYNE, born in 1810, who married with Elizabeth, daughter of Captain Charlton, R.N., and died without issue 8 January 1873.
- VIII. HENRY MORDAUNT MARTIN BYNE, of whom subsequently.
- IX. Elizabeth, who was married to William Tucker, of Exeter, and died 11 March 1881.
- X. Beatrice, who died unmarried.
- XI. FREDERICK BYNE, who died early.

HENRY MORDAUNT MARTIN BYNE, who was of Satterleigh, was baptized there 18 April 1813; matriculated at Oxford 13 June 1832, as of Pembroke College, and married with Isabella Jane, daughter of Henry Cormack of Bristol. She died 31 July 1854, and he died 8 July 1866, and was buried at Exeter. There are M.I.'s to them in Satterleigh Church. He had issue:—

- I. HENRY BYNE (H), of whom subsequently.

¹ For a record of this marriage and the children, see Galiffe's "Généalogies des Familles Genevoises," ii, 285. The lady and her father appear here as "Le Coux de Berchere." John Daniel was one of the sons of Guillaume Boissier, who was admitted a Burgess of Geneva in 1695, by Isabeau, his wife, daughter of Jean Naville, of Anduse. See also "Pedigree of the Protestant Refugee Families of Boissier, Sellon and De Villetes," Genealogist, O.S., vi, 168.

² These six children are found to have been baptized in Threadneedle Street, being registered also in the books of the Parish Church, which was that of S. Peter le Poer (now in course of demolition), and presumably all died young. These books further give the burial of an Anne Berchère on 28 Apr. 1712.

¹ In this same sad year (1692), Louise Madelaine Baril is found among the Nouvelles-Catholiques of Paris. In 1721 an Anne Baril, a refugee, appears on the London Relief List. A strange tradition obtained in the family that they were of English origin, and that Josué Baril, father of the maitre-chirurgien, was son of one 'Bary of Hampshire,' who had emigrated to Paris for liberty of conscience sake in 1554.

¹ Pretty certainly daughter of Pierre Desmaretz of Montpellier, and sister of Francis Desmaretz, who was naturalized by Act of Parliament in 1753, and became a British merchant at Leghorn. His tombstone in the old British Cemetery there, which bears a Latin inscription, tells that he died in 1781. Though he became a Director of the French Hospital in 1760, he seems to have been in no way related to Claude Crottier Desmaretz (whose parents had found refuge in Holland), who had become a Director in 1732, and died, being then Deputy-Governor, in 1762.

COPIES OF THE MONUMENTAL INSCRIPTIONS IN THE PARISH CHURCH OF KIRKBY-IN-ASHFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF NOTTINGHAM, MADE IN JUNE, 1901, BY J. PAUL RYLANDS, F.S.A.

This Church was burnt down on the 16th—17th January 1907, and most of the monuments within its walls were destroyed or injured. Numbers 6, 7, 8, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 were destroyed; number 5 was damaged; numbers 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 are so much calcined that it is very doubtful whether they can be lifted and relaid; numbers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 4* are apparently undamaged; and numbers 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30 escaped injury.

On the floor of the chancel :—

[1.] A flat stone; in the centre a shield Barry of twelve and a bend, for Remington, impaling a cross charged with five crescents for Elis. These coats are reversed, Elis should be on the dexter side and Remington on the sinister. At the sides of the shield, in old English letters, was :—

memoria	in	terram
durabit in		eternum

The rest of the inscription, in Roman capital letters, begins at the top of the stone and continues down to the shield :—

On the same wall, a marble tablet :—

[19.] In memory of | Mary, widow of the late John Fisher, | of Kirkby Grives, | who died January 10th 1875 aged 86 years. | The window above and this tablet were placed near | her mortal remains by numerous friends in | loving remembrance of her christian character | benevolent disposition, and active sympathy on | behalf of suffering humanity. |

At the east end of the south aisle, a brass :—

[20.] ✠ The above Window is Dedicated to the Beloved Memory of Eliza wife of George Hodgkinson Barrow | of Ringwood Hall, Derbyshire, Esq. Daughter of Walter Mather Esq., whose Remains, together with those | of his Wife her Mother etc. are all Interred underneath this Window, which is pvt vp in Affectionate | Remembrance by her Daughter Johanna wife of the Rev^d. John Boyer of Spital Hovse, Derbyshire. |

[21.] In the east window :—

In four small lights at the top. 1, The Ogle Badge, a rose Argent and an estoile Or dimidiated and conjoined per fesse; 2, The Bentinck crest; 3, The Cavendish crest; 4, The Cavendish Badge, a sprig of oak proper; each surmounted by a ducal coronet.

In the three large lights: 1, Gules, two keys in saltire, Argent, and in chief a royal crown proper; the shield ensigned with a mitre, and having on a motto ribbon Eccl. Metr. Ebor.; 2, Azure, a cross moline Argent, [Bentinck], impaling Sable, three stags' heads cabossed Argent, attired Or [Cavendish] a crescent in the fesse-point of the second; ensigned with a ducal coronet; 3, The arms of the University of Oxford, ensigned with a cap resembling a coronet in form, but entirely black, and having on a motto ribbon, Universit. Oxon. Below these, 4, The remains of the arms of the City of York, the missing fragments supplied with plain glass, and only one lion remaining; on the motto ribbon, Civit. Ebor.; 5, Quarterly, 1st and 4th, Argent, two bendlets Sable [Kaye] 2nd and 3rd, Argent, on a bend Sable three owls of the field [Savile]; on the motto ribbon, Ric. Kaye Subelemosyn: et reg: Majest: a Sacris; 6, The arms of the Royal Society, on the motto ribbon, Reg. Societ. Lond.; and below this, | W. Peckitt, pin. | Below this was the date 1768; the lowest part of the three lights being filled by a green lattice work pattern on a red ground.

The above were all the monumental inscriptions and arms, etc., in the church.

[22.] At the beginning of the first volume of the Kirkby Parish Registers there is inserted an old drawing, much in the style of the work of Thomas Dingley's "History from Marble," which was published in fac-simile by the Camden Society. The picture represents two flat stones side by side. That to the left is inscribed round the edge :—Here Lieth the Body of William Coke Esq' | Son & Heir to S[ir Francis Coke] of Trosley in the Co. of Darby Kn' who Married M[aud] | Eldest Daughter of Hen: Beresford | of Alsop &c By whom He had issue 4 Sons and 4 Daughters. He being | [continued on the flat of the stone above] "Here Lieth, etc." | of the Age of 47 years March | 27 Anno Dom. 1641. Lived | Godly & Died Comfortably. |

The stone to the right has the figure of a woman, wearing a ruff; her head rests on a cushion, the eyes are closed, and the hands are together as if she were praying. At her feet are small figures of four sons, with long hair and apparently in armour, and of four daughters, wearing ruffs, and in the same attitude as their mother. Round the edge of the stone is the inscription :—Here Lieth interred the Body of | Maud Coke wife of William Coke of Kerkby-Hall in the Co. of Nott. Esq. Daughter & | Coheir of Henry Beresford of Alsop in | Le dale in the Co. of Dar. who Lived Religiously & Died 16 March 1628, Aged 37. Below this is written in a somewhat later hand :—Memorandum. at the feet of Mr. William Coke & of Magdalen his wife lye the Bodies of two of their eight children viz. Isbel & Henry. Isbel was buried June 16, 1627. Henry July 8 Anno 1627 (but without any inscription) Their Mother March 16 [16]28, & their Father March 31 [16]41, as appears by the severall Inscriptions respectively as above, & as is to be seen in the Chancel on the South side near unto the door, just below the steps to the Altar.

Apparently these two stones were once near to or in the places subsequently occupied by the flat stones to the memory of the Rev. Clement Elis and his wife (Nos. 1 and 2, above).

In the churchyard :—

Below the window, close to the east end of the south aisle of the church, and near to the door into the chancel, are seven altar-tombs—

[23.] Here lies the Body of Humphrey | Mather Son of Walter & Ann Mather | Late of this place but now of | Duffield in Derbyshire who | Departed this Life December the 5th | 1762 Aged 8 Years & upwards | Much lamented by his | Parents and Grand Mother | Eleanor Dawes by whom he | Was for several years Tenderly Brought up. | C^K is to be Buried here | Underneath lieth | Christopher Kinder | who died Augult the 8th 1812 | Aged 84 Years. |

NOTES.

[1.] His burial is thus recorded in the parish register :—"1700. Clemens Elis annos ppe quadraginta Rector dignissimus Prebendarius de Southwell ætatis 67 obijt Junij 27^o Sepultus 30^o A.D. 1700."

The Rev. Clement Elis, M.A., was the son of Captain Philip Elis, of Rose Castle, co. York, where he was born in 1633. He was domestic Chaplain to the Duke of Newcastle, who presented him to the Rectory of Kirkby in 1660, and in 1693 was made Prebendary of Southwell. He was married in London, by the Rev. Robert Remington, Rector of Lockington, co. York, on 5 June 1664 to Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Thomas Remington of Lund, co. York, by whom he had four sons and one daughter, Margaret, who became the wife of Joseph Meymott, Esq., son of Edmund and Mary Meymott of Alfreton, near Mansfield. Refusing many offers of better livings, including that of St. Peter's, Nottingham, Rector Elis remained for thirty years at Kirkby, spending the greater part of his income in charity and in restoring the church. Several of his works were printed; one of them, "The Scripture Catechist," edited, in 1738, by John Veneer, Rector of St. Andrew's, Chichester, contains a memoir. (See "Notices of the Ellises," by W. S.

Ellis, page 280 and the first Supplement thereto, pages 1 to 5, where an account of his family is given.)

[2.] Her death is thus recorded in the parish register :—"1691.^o Elizabetha Clementis Elis Ecclesie de Kirby indignissimi Rectoris Uxor dilectissima sepulta fuit Jul : 23^o." Some admirer of this worthy rector has struck out the word "indignissimi," which he wrote of himself.

[3.] An infant son of the Rev. the Hon. John Venables Vernon, Rector of Kirkby, 1829—1875, and also Rector of Nuttall, co. Notts, and Prebendary of Southwell, son of Henry, third Lord Vernon.

[4.] The baptism and burial of Anne Dawes are thus recorded in the parish register :—

"1663. Anna filia Ioannis Innocent & Marthæ uxoris Baptizata fuit Maij 24^o."

"1691-2. Anna uxor Langfordij Dawes sepulta fuit Martij 12."

[8 and 31.] The Rev. Brooke Boothby, Rector of Kirkby 1811—1829, and Prebendary of Southwell, was born 1784, and married, in 1816, the Hon. Louisa Henrietta Venables Vernon, daughter of Henry, third Lord Vernon, and sister of the Rev. the Hon. John Venables Vernon, afterwards Rector of Kirkby.

[16.] The burial of F.N. is thus recorded in the parish register :—

"1716. Francisca Newton, Johannis Newton relicta sepult. Maij 12."

[17.] Christopher Fitz Randolfe, named in this inscription, begins the pedigree recorded at the Visitation of Notts, 1614 (Harleian Society's publications, vol. iv, page 187). He had "A letter from King Hen. 8, vnder his owne hande in the 34 yeare of his reigne to Leuy all such forces as were within his Stewardship as Steward to his Matie"; and "Another letter from H. 8. vnder his hand for the Leuying forces for the Duke of Norff. to goe against the Scotts in the 34 yeare of his Reigne."

Thomas Fitz Randolfe, to whose memory this brass was erected, was the son and heir of Christopher Fitz Randolfe, of Langton Hall, by Joan his wife, daughter and coheirress of Cuthbert Langton, of Middleton, co. Warwick.

Katherine, the wife of Thomas Fitz Randolfe, who is also commemorated in the inscription, was the daughter of Sir Godfrey Foljambe, of Walton, co. Derby, Knight.

[21.] Sir Richard Kaye, Bart., whose name appeared in the glass of the east window, was Rector of Kirkby, 1765—1810. He was born 1736, of Brasenose College, Oxford, Vinerian Scholar of Laws, 1758, being the first so elected; B.C.L., 1761; D.C.L., 1770; Chaplain to the King, 1766; Prebendary of York 1768-83; of Southwell 1774-80 and 1783—1809; of Durham 1774-84; Archdeacon of Notts 1780—1809; Prebendary and Dean of Lincoln 1783—1809; Rector of Marylebone, co. Middlesex, 1788—1809; F.R.S. and F.S.A. Succeeded to the Baronetcy 1789. Married in 1791, Helen, widow of Thomas Mainwaring, of Goltho, co. Lincoln, and daughter of William Fenton, of Glasshouse, co. York, but dying without male issue 25 December 1810 the baronetcy became extinct. He was buried at Lincoln. (See "Complete Baronetage," by G.E.C., vol. ii.) He gave to Kirkby church a silver flagon, bearing the arms of Kaye and Saville and the inscription: DD. RICARDUS KAYE LLB. RECTOR. PREB. DE YORK REG: MAJ: A SACRIS & ELEEMOSYNIS 1770; a silver paten with the like arms and the inscription: DD. RICARDUS KAYE LLB. RECTOR. DOM. IOH. LISTER KAYE BAR. FRAT: UNIC: 1765.; and a crimson covering for the altar, 1778. The church was new seated and flagged in 1765-6, when this rector gave the pulpit, reading-desk, and clerk's and churching seats of oak, and in 1767 oak pews for the chancel. In 1770 the two south windows were glazed with the arms of Stotewille, Darcy, Conyers, Cavendish, Holles, and Harley; these had disappeared before 1901.

[22.] Maud Beresford was the first wife of William Coke; he married secondly, Dorothy, daughter of Francis Saunders, of Shankton, by whom he had no issue. (See Burke's "Landed Gentry," under Coke of Brookhill.)

[30.] The burial of Rachel Brailsford Scroope is thus recorded in the parish register:—

"Rachel Brailsford Scroop. sep. Janua. 11. 1711." [1711-12.] Matthew Brailsford, Rector of Kirkby 1703—1733, was of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, A.B. 1681, A.M. 1685, S.T.P. 1713, Prebendary of Lincoln 1703, and nominated Dean of Wells by the Queen 18 April 1713. The following note occurs in the Kirkby parish register:—"Mattheus Brailsford Ecclesie Parochialis de Kirkby in Ashfield in Coñ. Nottingham. per Spatium 30 annorum Rector Ecclesie Cathedralis S^{ti} Andreæ in Civitate Wells in Agro Somersetensi per Spatium 20 annorum Decanus Dignissimus fato cefsit 13^o Die Decembris anno Salutis 1733 et sepultus est in Ecclesia Cathedrali S^{ti} Andreæ predict. 15^{to} ejusdem Mensis Decembris."

John Brailsford, Rector of Kirkby 1734—1765, probably wrote the above note and added "Joh. Brailsford A.M. Nepos predicti Matthæi inductus est ad Rectoriam de Kirkby prædict. 12^o die Junij 1734."

Notices of Books.

THE PLANTAGENET ROLL OF THE BLOOD ROYAL, BEING A COMPLETE TABLE OF ALL THE DESCENDANTS NOW LIVING OF EDWARD III, KING OF ENGLAND. By the Marquis of Ruvigny and Raineval. THE ANNE OF EXETER VOLUME. London (T. C. and E. C. Jack), 1907.

In an almost incredibly short space of time, considering the mass of details with which he has had to deal, the compiler of these Royal Descents has followed up his Tudor and Clarence volumes with a record of the descendants of Anne Plantagenet, sister of Edward IV and Richard III. None of the persons contained in the present work are descended from Anne's first husband, the unhappy Henry Holland, 2d Duke of Exeter, whose sad fate affords one of the most notable instances of reverse of fortune known to history, but spring from her second marriage with Sir Thomas St. Leger, celebrated shortly after her divorce from the Duke, whom she forsook in his hour of misfortune. By Sir Thomas she had an only daughter, Anne, wife of Sir George Manners, Lord Roos, ancestress of all who are here recorded. Her heir general is the present Lord De L'Isle and Dudley, in virtue of his descent from the senior line of the Earls of Rutland, but no right to quarter the Royal Arms is conveyed through Anne of Exeter.

We have already expressed our approval of the system adopted in drawing up this Roll and our admiration for the careful manner in which it has been compiled. It is, of course, manifestly impossible that any volume of Royal Descents should be complete, but the attempt which is now being made to construct a table of the living descendants of Edward III proceeds on the right lines, and is a very great advance upon any previously published works on the subject. We note an improvement now introduced for the first time, namely the addition in the preliminary Tables of reference numbers which correspond with those in the Roll itself; this renders it much easier to carry back a particular line of descent to the fountain head.

Among the now living descendants of Anne Plantagenet are the Duke of Fife and his two daughters, Mr. A. J. Balfour, Lord Selborne, Mr. Walter Long, Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, Mr. Lewis Harcourt, and the two popular and talented sisters who are known to the stage as Miss Violet and Miss Irene Vanbrugh. Another distinguished member of the theatrical profession, Mr. Charles Hawtrej, could have been added on p. 159 had the descendants of Harriet Colclough by her marriage with Colonel Jonas Watson been worked out.¹ Among other omissions which have been observed in going through this book are the following:—(p. 86) Issue of Caroline Frances (Stewart) and William Jenney; (p. 657) Issue of Barbara (Gough) and Isaac Spooner; (p. 705) Issue of Teresa (Webbe) and John Wright. In all these cases reference to easily accessible works of reference, such as the various editions of Burke's Landed Gentry, will show that there are numerous living descendants. On the other hand, Grace (Pelham) and George Naylor (p. 311); Lady Katherine (Nevill) and Sir John Constable (p. 347); Anne, Viscountess Irvine (p. 386), and Mary Ingram (p. 657), who all are inserted in the Roll with a query, can be certainly proved to have left no surviving issue.

On p. 140, one of the titles of the late Lord Cowper is given as "5th Prince Cowper [H.R.E.]," a designation which has an odd sound, and on pp. 337 and 563, the late Mr. Simon Thomas Scrope is, in defiance of a judgment of the House of Lords, called "de jure 19th Earl of Wilts."

As in the two previous volumes, the illustrations are remarkably good, and include, together with many portraits, a photogravure of Anne Plantagenet and Sir Thomas St. Leger from their monumental brass in the Rutland Chapel at Windsor, and two curious representations of the heads of Anne's parents, Richard, Duke of York and Cecily Nevill, the former from a window in Penrith Church, and the latter from an old print.

VISITATION OF ENGLAND AND WALES. Edited by Frederick Arthur Crisp. Volume xiii. (Privately Printed.)

Though not, of course, possessing the official authority which belonged to the Heralds' Visitations of old, this work adopts their distinguishing feature, a pedigree signed by a member of each family recorded, who vouches for its accuracy. The descents are not given in detail beyond the grandfather of the present representative, so that there is small room for errors, or play of imagination, and in every case dates are given in full and evidences referred to for each statement made. Such a plan has manifest advantages, though we confess we should have preferred to have seen the pedigrees carried further back where this could have been done with absolute certainty.

The heraldic insignia of many of the families included in this volume are on record in the College of Arms, and a clue as to which these are is afforded by the rule, which appears to have been rigidly adhered to, of tricking such arms only at the head of the pedigrees, while others are blazoned merely.

The genealogies of no less than seven Peers are to be found in volume xiii. Of these one stands out as of supreme interest, that of Earl Nelson. In this case the rule of commencing with the grandfather has been relaxed, for the present Lord Nelson is the grandson of Thomas Bolton, by Susanna, daughter of the Rev. Edmund Nelson, who heads the descent. This has, no doubt, been done in order to include the brilliant hero of Trafalgar, Edmund Nelson's famous son. This pedigree alone, with its wealth of detail, should make all genealogists desire to possess the volume. Other interesting descents are those of Lord Tenterden, headed by a Lord Chief Justice of England; of Lord Armstrong, whose paternal grandmother was a sister of the inventor of "the Armstrong rifled ordnance gun," and his paternal grandfather, Sir William Henry Watson, a Baron of the Exchequer; of Mr. J. H. Round, whose contributions to early genealogy are so well known and so much appreciated by our readers; and of Mr. C. W. Sherborn, celebrated for his beautiful designs for book plates.

The volume is not, like some of its predecessors, rich in the reproduction of family pictures, possessing indeed but one, a characteristic and excellently executed portrait of Mr. Crisp's great grandfather Thomas Crisp, of Rendlesham. The armorial illustrations from book-plates are a great adornment to the letter press and some of them are of considerable merit. A most carefully compiled Index and also the Additions and Corrections to previous volumes will be found most useful.

A TREATISE ON THE LAW CONCERNING NAMES AND CHANGES OF NAME. By Arthur Charles Fox-Davies and P. W. P. Carlyon-Britton, F.S.A. London (Elliot Stock).

This little work may be safely recommended as a trustworthy handbook upon a subject which is very little understood even by lawyers. After a brief summary of the law as to Front Names, and a chapter on the origin of Surnames, the writers proceed to discuss Changes of Name and the modes of procedure by which such changes may be lawfully accomplished, viz., Deed Poll, Act of Parliament and Royal Licence. They lay it down, and we think correctly, that the first of these methods cannot effect more than "the commencement of an attempt to acquire a name by repute and custom," for no one can obtain a legal right to a surname by his own action; such a proceeding must be endorsed by those with whom he comes in contact in the ordinary dealings of life. A Royal Licence on the contrary confers an absolute right to a surname, and of course, as the authors maintain, in all cases where a change of arms as well as of a surname be required, the permission of the Sovereign is essential. It is not generally known, and should be remembered, that the Crown will not permit a presentation at Court to be made in any name assumed other than by Royal Licence.

ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF THE MEMORIALS OF THE DEAD, IRELAND. JOURNAL FOR THE YEAR 1906. Vol. vi, No. 3, Parts i and ii. Dublin (Ponsonby and Gibbs).

The good work which is being accomplished in Ireland in preserving the memorials of the dead is but little known in this country, and we therefore all the more gladly call attention to the publications of this Association. Part i is especially noteworthy as containing the monumental inscriptions of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, prior to 1840, which have been contributed by the Dean. Among the older monuments are the brasses to Sir Edward Fitton and his wife; Robert Sutton, Dean 1527-1528, and Geoffrey Fyche, who held the same office 1529-1537; Sir Henry Wallop, who died in Dublin in 1599, after having rendered service to the English Crown as Lord Justice and in other capacities; and the effigy of Michael Tregury, Archbishop of Dublin 1449-72, which has been reproduced from a sketch preserved in the Cathedral archives. Another interesting monument is that of Dame Mary St. Leger (died 1603), wife of Sir Anthony St. Leger, who was her fourth husband. Of the later inscriptions the most important are, of course, those to Swift and Stella. Part ii consists of inscriptions in many churches and churchyards in several Irish counties. The contributors include such well known and enthusiastic antiquaries as Sir Edmund Bewley and the energetic and capable Editor, Lord Walter Fitzgerald.

JOURNAL OF THE CORK HISTORICAL AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY, 2nd Series, vol. xii, No. 72, October-December, 1906. Cork (Guy and Co.).

We are glad to see that in its fourteenth year of issue this Journal maintains its position as one of the most important of Irish publications. The number before us includes an interesting account of the Bishops of Cork, edited by Colonel T. A. Lunham, C.B., from a copy of an ancient manuscript once in the possession of the Augustinian Convent in Cork, the original of which has disappeared. Other valuable articles are "An Irish Account of the Battle of Kinsale," and "A History of the O'Mahony Septs of Kinelmeky and Ivagha," by Canon O'Mahony, both of which are to be continued in future numbers of the Journal.

Notes and Queries.

THE NEVILLS OF ESSEX (ante, pp. 143-145).—The Nevills were so numerous and so widely spread that they furnish many a genealogical problem. There was such a similarity of Christian names that it is only too easy to mix the Nevills of one county with those of another, or to intrude the Nevills of one family into another's pedigree.

It has hitherto been taken for granted that the Adam who married Grace, only daughter and heir of Thomas de Saleby, belonged to one of the numerous Lincolnshire Nevill families. This may be wrong, but there are some reasonable grounds for that conclusion.

There always seems to have been a connection between the Saleby family and the Lincolnshire Nevills. They were benefactors of the same religious houses. William de Saleby, the grandfather of Grace, was a witness to the Charter¹ of Alan de Nevill to the Convent of Kirkstead, together with Gilbert and Geoffrey de Nevill, probably sons or brothers of Alan. He was also a witness to a grant² of Henry I to Henry his Falconer, with Gilbert de Nevill.

Thomas, the father of Grace, was a witness to a grant³ of Thomas d'Arci to Kirkstead, which grant was also attested by Robert de Nevill and Ralph, the son of Gilbert.

A Richard⁴ de Nevill held two carucates of land in Seothern of Grace, and she of the King.

An action had been brought by William de Hardreshull, a nephew of Thomas de Saleby, against his uncle and Agnes his wife, on a charge of falsely passing off Grace as their daughter. This action failed, but on the death of Thomas, William claimed his estates as his next heir, on the same grounds.

Grace was now the wife of Adam de Nevill, who gave the king twenty marks that one of his servants might be allowed to be with those of the king for the safe keeping of the crops and other effects which he had on the land, which was in the possession of Thomas, the son of William de Saleby, that no mischief or injury might occur, and that William de Hardreshull should not be allowed seisin of that land except by judgment of the King's court. A day having been appointed,⁵ John de Manaton, Hamon de Feston, and Walter de Creppinges, were sent to Adam de Nevill to learn whom he would appoint his attorneys against William de Hardreshull for the judgment of the Grand Assize. He said Hugh de Neville or Thomas his brother, or William, the son of Geoffrey.

These representatives of Adam, evidently near kinsmen, do not seem to fit into the pedigree of the Essex Nevills given in the January number of The Genealogist. Adam, too, died this same year, 1199, while his elder brother, according to the pedigree, lived till 1235. It is probably true, however, that he died young, for his wife survived him sixty years.

Grace was given in marriage by King John to Normanus de Ceritate the very year her first husband died, but he also enjoyed only a few years of married life. She was too considerable an heiress to be allowed to remain single long, so we find that in 1205 the King again disposed of her, for 300 marks, to Brian de Insula, one of his followers, and a man of considerable note. Brian died in 1234, and from henceforth Grace was allowed to enjoy her inheritance in peace. On her death, without issue, in 1259, William de Hardreshull, grandson of the William who had disputed her right, succeeded to her property. His son, John de Hardreshull, married Joan, daughter of Sir Philip Nevill, of Scotton, co. Lincoln.

John Nevill (father of the 1st Lord Nevill de Essex) died before 5 July 1282 (date of his Inq. p.m.). His widow, Margaret, held lands in Essex 1303 [Feudal Aids], she was living certainly 30 Aug. 1324 and apparently 10 Feb. 1337/8 [Pat. Roll], she was apparently dead in 1346 [Feudal Aids].

Hugh, 1st Lord Nevill, was aged 4 at his father's death, he had seizin 10 May 1298. He married Ida Fitzwalter before 4 July 1310 [Pat. Roll]. He died in 1335 before 13 July. His widow Ida held lands in Essex in 1346 [Feudal Aids].

John, 2nd Lord Nevill de Essex, had livery of his lands 13 July 1335. He married Alice, who was living as his widow 11 Jan. 1392/3.

Hugh Nevill (I assume him to be Hugh, younger brother of the 2nd Lord) and Lucy his wife were living April and September 1344 [Papal Letters].

The following facts (drawn from either Close or Pat. Rolls I should guess, for I am sorry to say I have not got my authority) relate doubtless to relatives, whom Mr. Nevill may be able to identify:—

John Nevill, of Kings Walden, and Dionysia, his wife, were living 28 March 1310. She was living and he was dead on 8 December 1313.

LEE OF LAWSHALL (ante pp. 137-143).—The Rev. Sydenham H. A. Hervey has very kindly sent me the following names from the list of boys who entered the Grammar School of Bury St. Edmunds from 1550 to 1900:—

1656. Fitz Lee { both described as filius Domini Johannis
 „ Johannes Lee } Lee equitis aurati Buriensis.

Possibly Fitz Lee is a mistake for Fitz William. Sir John Lee was one of the Governors of the School from 1644 till he resigned in 1665. During a great part of the time he was evidently living in Bury, and his signature frequently comes into the Minute Books. The John Lee, second of the two boys, must have died before 1671, and is probably the John Lee who was admitted to Christ's College, Cambridge, in March 1654, aged 17, though as he is in the Bury School List for 1656 he could not have gone up till a year or two after he was admitted. He is described in the College Admission Book as "son of John Lee, born at Milton, Northants," and as having been at Bury School.

John Wearg was also a Governor of Bury School from 1729 to 1753. His successor was appointed in January 1754, he being dead. He was apparently living at Bury all the time, his name occurring regularly in the Minute Books.

There was a Nathaniel, son of Nathaniel Acton, admitted to Bury School in April 1741, possibly the husband of Caroline Wearg.

PYKE FAMILY OF GREENWICH.—Since the Editor kindly inserted in The Genealogist for January, 1907 (ante pp. 199-200) my query on the Parry and Halley families, some additional evidence has come to hand. Dr. Edmond Halley's own cousin, Francis Halley, of London, gent., married a daughter of Richard Pyke and Eleanor Pyke, his wife, who are mentioned in Francis Halley's will (P.C.C., Register Marlboro, fo. 126; will dated 28 June, 1698, proved by Edmond Halley and Richard Pyke, 8 Sept., 1722). The testator mentions also his brothers-in-law, Thomas Pyke, William Pyke and Edward Day. Now comes the discovery of the will of William Pyke, of Greenwich, poulterer, dated 11 Sept., 1727; proved 10 Oct., 1727 (P.C.C., Register Farrant, folio 240). He bequeaths unto "nephew Edward Day a silver tankard with my coat of arms engraved on it," and he mentions his father Richard Pyke. An English correspondent, commenting on this will, remarks that: "If it is a mere coincidence that the Pykes are found at Greenwich, the irony of circumstance could not much further go." Can any reader say if the Greenwich Rate Books for about the year 1727 are in existence?

WELDON FAMILY.—I shall be much obliged for any information concerning Thomas (?) Weldon of Weldon in Staffordshire (possibly Northamptonshire or Northumberland), whose four sons—Walter, M.P. for Athy 1613, married Jane, daughter of John Ryder, Bishop of Killaloe; William, married (?) Jane, daughter of John Bolton, of Great Fenton, Staffordshire; Robert, married in 1616 at St. Mary le Strand, London, Katherine Bambridge, Bainbridge or Bambrick of Apeley (?), Cumberland; and Thomas, married Anne, daughter of . . . Blood of Dunbryn, co. Meath. They settled in Ireland towards the end of the sixteenth century.
